REAL PEACE WORK BEGINS

ASK UNIVERSAL TRAINING TO BE G. O. P. CREED

Hays Urged to Back Move in National Committee.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Asserting that universal training for preparedness affords the only fair means of filling the ranks of the American army of occupation in Europe after the proclamation of peace the National Association for Universal Military Training, of which Gen. S. B. M. Young is president, has asked the Republican party to take up the fight for establishment of the principle.

In a letter sent yesterday to Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican national committee, in Chicago, Secretary Sheets of the organization says:

"If the Republican national committee would make a declaration for this principle now, as was done by the Saratoga convention last summer, and as was done by the League of Republican Clubs of New York State last November, it would have a tremendous effect upon the effort now in progress to establish a sound military policy for the United States.

Crystallizing in G. O. P.

"The Hamilton club of Chicago has indorsed universal military training, and I sincerely trust you will take immediate action on this request. To date, the Republican party, as a party and through its individual members, has taken the leadership for military preparedness and prosecution of the war to the ultimate victorious demand for an unconditional surrender. While this association has been and is nonpartisan, it is impossible to blink the fact that this question is rapidly crystallizing around Republican leadership in and out of congress.

"We believe it is impossible to secure the necessary man power for an army of occupation in Europe without the adoption of universal military training, provided we take it for granted the administration does not intend to break its contract with the men now in the service until it can leisurely prepare for a new draft or some other scheme whereby these men may at some future day be relieved.

Forestalling Excuses.

"A draft within the ranks of the men already in the service, a new draft of men outside of the service, or universal military training—these are the only solutions we can see.

"Since the administration has persistently refused to make any preparation or plan for a force which we all knew some time ago would be needed, its excuse will be that a new draft army or a citizen army, through a system of universal military training, cannot possibly be realized in time, and for that reason the men who are already trained and in Europe will have to be used or else we would be unable to carry out our full duty under the terms of the treaty of peace—which is unthinkable.

"We are just as wretchedly unprepared in trained man power today as we were at the beginning of the war, unless the government intends to repudiate its pledge to discharge all men taken through the draft, and those who volunteered.

Let Congress Hear.

"They are war worn and entitled to be returned to their homes. Are we to use them over and over and return them finally to civil life with antagonism for the army, or are we going to see to it that new men are trained in time to relieve them, and thus return them to their homes with a feeling of pride in the service and staunch advocates of universal military training? It is for congress to answer, but congress must hear from the 'folks back home' before it will act.

"If universal military training is immediately adopted and the first class for training called at once, it will be possible to sufficiently train this class to replace the men now in Europe before the statutory limitation as to the employment of men now in the army becomes effective. There is not time enough to train this new class thoroughly, but they can be sufficiently trained to function for garrison duty, and can complete their training during the performance of such duty."

HITCHCOCK, "LONG DAZED", HOME

MILES OF SONG TO WELCOME BLACKHAWKS

School Choruses Will Lead the Crowds in Overseas Tunes.

The first of the Blackhawks—Chicago's own—are coming home today. They are going to swing up Michigan avenue and around through the loop, with their own band, and listen to an elevated train once more.

Over in France there was a lot of yearning just to hear the roar of the elevated trains in old Chicago town. They had a song about the loop and used to talk of how mighty good the noise would sound.

They are going to hear some other noises today—are the men of the Three Hundred and Thirty-third field artillery, and the One Hundred and Sixty-first brigade headquarters organization. They are going to hear the acclaim of the home folks in cheers and song.

Sing Overseas Songs.

The finishing touches were put on the home welcoming program last night. Just how many of the two and one-half million people of Chicago will be over on the lake front to welcome home the overseas boys is conjecture, but as many as will be there will try to sing the songs the Yanks used to sing in the camps in France.

At least twenty separate units from the public schools will be stationed along the boulevard to lead the community singing. This will be the first organized welcome to the returning A. E. F. forces in Chicago and the idea of making it a singing welcome is to be given the first tryout.

Don't Forget to Cheer.

The school units will be stationed at the street intersections. Around these the populace are expected to rally for the outburst of song, and unless all guesses go wrong the boys are going to understand that Chicago is mighty proud of them and mighty glad to get them home.

There was fear on the part of some of the managers of the demonstration that the people might not warm up sufficiently. They sent this suggestion to the newspapers last night:

"Appeal to spectators to cheer. Make a noise so the troops will know you are glad to see them."

The parade itself will be confined strictly to the soldiers in the returning organizations. There will be no silk hats in the parade. They will all be up in a reviewing stand at the Art institute.

First Train at 7 o'Clock.

The first section of the trains will arrive at the La Salle street station at 6 o'clock this morning, an hour ahead of the regular schedule, and for the following two hours the trains will arrive every few minutes. Because of

HURT BY AUTO NOV. 21, WAKES JAN. 9 IN SOUTH

Nation-Wide Search Ends in a New Mystery.

Milan M. Hitchcock, chief figure in the Hines-Speedway hospital case, returned to his home in Berwyn yesterday morning, thereby adding a fresh mystery to the fifty-four days' wonder of his disappearance.

His story is that from the afternoon of Nov. 21 last, when—he says—he was struck by an automobile at Twenty-second street and Prairie avenue, until Jan. 8, when he "woke up" on board a railroad train near Covington, Tenn., he has no recollection of what happened to him or where he was. These forty-eight days in his life, he says, are an absolute blank.

New Points Presented.

In a detailed story of his wanderings given to reporters last night, these new angles to the case were presented:

Who was the mysterious "Mr Dayton" who took Hitchcock on an automobile trip up the north shore Nov. 21, the afternoon before the automobile accident?

Who furnished Hitchcock with a new suit case, new clothes, and took away all marks of identification from his clothes and pockets?

According to Hitchcock his accident and subsequent mental blankness, or aphasia, was only an unfortunate coincidence in connection with the Speedway park tangle. He does not connect Edward Hines or the Speedway park interests in any way with his disappearance.

Suspects Kidnaping.

He says he is inclined to think that after the automobile accident he was kidnaped and kept in Chicago or some other city by the persons that ran him down. The motive, he thinks, might have been to avoid a damage suit—not to keep him hidden until the government had decided whether to purchase the Speedway hospital.

As for Capt. W. B. Ashby, a former Berwynite who got him into the Speedway mixup by telegraphing Hitchcock on Sept. 2 last for a valuation on adjacent lands, Hitchcock says he did not know what prompted Ashby to send that telegram. Ashby said last week that he had not seen Hitchcock since last May. Hitchcock said last night that he saw Ashby in the latter part of September in Berwyn. This conflict and the part the army man played deepen the mystery, which is being worked on by army intelligence officers.

Hitchcock, who is 63 years old, looked much the same as usual to his family and friends when he walked into the town yesterday with his brother, Abner, who had gone to Covington to get him.

He was very tired, he said, and had a constant headache. He bore no marks of any automobile accident. He said he expected to take up his business again in a day or two and hoped the sensation he had caused would quiet down and that he might be left in peace.

THE INTERVIEWS "STAGED"

Brother Abner staged the interview and all the greetings with neighbors. Several called during the afternoon. Abner Hitchcock informed the police and the newspaper men that his brother would tell his story at 8 o'clock. And he stuck to the hour rigidly.

At 7:45 o'clock, when the reporters were ushered into the house, Milan was sitting in the front room, his head resting wearily on his hand.

"This is Milan Hitchcock," said his brother. It seemed as if a ghost had materialized.

CHICAGO COMMAND IS OFFERED TO GEN. LEONARD WOOD

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, now commanding at Camp Funston, Kansas, has been selected as commander of the central department of the army, with headquarters at Chicago. The orders will not be issued until he has decided whether he desires the appointment. He succeeds Maj. Gen. Thomas H. Barry, who goes to Governor's island.

Wood Silent on Post.

Boston, Mass., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood, who addressed a Roosevelt memorial in North church today, said tonight he did not care to discuss the announcement of his shift to Chicago, which was made tonight.

HUNDREDS SLAIN DURING RIOTING IN BUENOS AIRES

Buenos Aires, Jan. 12.—The commanders of the government troops officially report 250 dead and 700 wounded as a result of the strike riots in this city.

The ranking naval officer, discussing this report, said:

"If you double it, you will be nearer the real casualties."

Early this morning rioters set fire to the central market, in which several million pounds of wool were stored. This afternoon a mob set fire to a large print paper warehouse.

Two hundred agitators thus far have been arrested. None of them has been placed in jail, but all of them have been interned aboard warships or in the military barracks. They include a well known agitator who had been riding wildly through the city on horseback, agitating open rebellion.

Uruguay Nips a Plot.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Jan. 12.—The police have uncovered a plot on the part of Russians to instigate a Bolshevik movement here and in Buenos Aires.

GREGORY QUITS CABINET POST; PAY TOO SMALL

Senator Lewis Among Those Considered for Attorney General.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Thomas Watt Gregory, attorney general of the United States since 1914, has resigned because of "pecuniary responsibilities" and will return to the practice of law. President Wilson has agreed to his retirement next March 4.

Mr. Gregory's letter of resignation, dated Jan. 9, and the president's reply, cabled from Paris the next day, were made public tonight at the White House. The attorney general's letter disclosed that he had long considered retiring from office and had discussed the matter with the president before Mr. Wilson went abroad.

Senator Lewis Mentioned.

Mr. Gregory's successor has not yet been appointed and there has been no official intimation as to who he will be.

In speculation today the names of Frank L. Polk, counselor of the state department and acting secretary while Mr. Lansing is in Europe, and Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois were mentioned.

Letter of Resignation.

Mr. Gregory's letter of resignation reads:

"Dear Mr. President: In accordance with the purpose expressed in our conversation just before you went abroad I tender my resignation as attorney general.

"Pecuniary responsibilities of a substantial nature rest upon me and my private affairs have long demanded attention. During the continuance of actual warfare I did not feel at liberty to weigh these personal considerations in the balance against the public duties with which I was charged."

The president's reply said:

"My Dear Mr. Attorney General: It is with profound reluctance and regret that I accept your resignation. I do so only because you have convinced me that it is necessary in your own interest for you to retire. There has been no one with whom I have been associated in Washington whom I have learned more to trust nor to whose counsels I have attached more value and importance."

Follows McAdoo Lead.

Mr. Gregory is the second cabinet officer to resign recently on account of personal financial considerations, William G. McAdoo having retired last month as secretary of the treasury because he could not support his family on the cabinet members' salary of $12,000 a year.

Mr. Gregory, whose home is in Texas, has made no definite plans for the future and has not yet determined where he will practice law.

LATE BULLETINS

BASIL, Jan. 12.—Field Marshal von Mackensen of the German army has been interned at Temesvar, Hungary, according to Budapest dispatches.

LONDON, Saturday, Jan. 11.—In raids on the United Kingdom by the Germans during the war, 5,511 persons were killed or injured, of whom 4,750 were civilians.

MADRID, Jan. 12.—Archduke Leopold Salvator and his wife, who was formerly Princess Blanche of Castile, have arrived here incognito. The archduke was formerly generalissimo of the artillery branch of the Austrian army.

LONDON, Jan. 12, via Montreal.—The marriage of Princess Patricia of Connaught to Commander Alexander Ramsay of the Royal navy will take place in Westminster Abbey Feb. 27.

Paderewski Wounded by Shot of Reds

(By the Associated Press.)

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish leader, has been slightly wounded by an assassin, who entered his room in his hotel at Warsaw and fired one shot at him, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen, reporting advices from Vienna.

Several Bolsheviki implicated in the plot to kill him have been arrested.

GAINING IN FAVOR.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Messages received today by the Polish bureau here from the Polish national committee at Paris said that Ignace Jan Paderewski was increasingly confident that a new Polish coalition ministry would be formed and the government placed on a stable basis.

Officials of the bureau feel that the attack on Mr. Paderewski by the Bolsheviki will strengthen his influence among the people of Poland and result in redoubled efforts to rid the country of Bolsheviism.

According to the message from the Polish committee at Paris, Mr. Paderewski's personal relations with Gen. Pilsudski, head of the present Polish government, are on a satisfactory basis. Mr. Paderewski made it clear to the military dictator that his opposition was based solely on the all-socialistic character of the cabinet Gen. Pilsudski had organized.

"Under the program which Mr. Paderewski has suggested," said a statement by the Polish committee, "the ministry will be built with four representatives from Prussian Poland, four from Austrian Poland, and eight from Russian Poland, the Socialists in Russian Poland to have four seats and the other parties to have four."

OPPOSED BY GERMANS.

Mr. Paderewski has been in Warsaw for several days conferring with Polish political leaders in an attempt to form a government representative of all parties. In Danzig, on his way to Warsaw, the Germans attempted to prevent him from going to Posen.

After he arrived at Posen and while he was asleep in a hotel a crowd of Germans fired on a parade of children who were marching in honor of Paderewski. Two of the children were killed and several bullets struck the window of the room occupied by Mr. Paderewski.

Ignace Jan Paderewski sailed from New York to go to the aid of the free Poland movement Nov. 23, visiting London, Paris and Rome before proceeding to Warsaw, where he immediately became the chief of the temporary Polish government and began the formation of a cabinet.

It was planned by the provisional government to proclaim a Polish republic, with Paderewski its first president.

Worked for Nation Long.

It was when Paderewski first saw his beloved Poland ravaged first by the armies of Russia and Germany that he determined to devote himself to the work of succoring her as much as one man can. He took part in organizing the Polish legions in this country and was instrumental in raising funds to send them abroad. He traveled from one coast to the other addressing meetings of his countrymen urging them and others to rally to the cause.

He canceled all his concert tours that had been arranged for and booked a series of his own, the receipts of which he gave entirely to the Polish funds, even paying hall rent out of his own pocket. The cancellation of these tours, it is said, meant the loss of at least $250,000 a year to Paderewski, and he shut them all off for four years.

He contributed over half a million dollars of his private fortune. It is said that all that he had accumulated in a lifetime was entirely spent for the cause.

Maude Adams, Actress, Ill from Nervous Breakdown

Boston, Mass., Jan. 12.—Miss Maude Adams, the actress, is ill at the home of Miss Phyllis Robbins at 44 Commonwealth avenue, where she is under the care of a specialist for nervous breakdown. Assurance is given tonight that her condition is not considered serious. She is resting comfortably and improvement is expected.

ALLIED CHIEFS' FIRST COUNCIL OUTLINES PLAN

(By the Associated Press.)

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The supreme council of the peace congress, consisting of President Wilson and the premiers and foreign ministers of the four great powers, Great Britain, France, the United States, and Italy, met this afternoon at the French foreign office for the first formal exchange of views and to make arrangements for the procedure of the conference tomorrow, at which the full delegations will be present.

Today's meeting was chiefly interesting in its personal aspects—the bringing together for the first time of the world's best known statesmen, who are the guiding figures of the congress.

Great Crowds Assemble.

The day was dark and raw, and the statesmen arrived at the meeting place in heavy wraps. The usual Sunday calm across the Seine was interrupted by the great crowds which lined the Quai d'Orsay, anxious to pay tribute to the notable figures concerned in the world's most dramatic function. Batteries of photographers and of moving picture experts were drawn up flanking the entrances of the foreign ministry. Lines of soldiers and other guards preserved order.

Marshal Foch was the first of the high plenipotentiaries to arrive. He came at 2 o'clock and waited in the vestibule. The generalissimo was dressed in a heavy field coat. He wore boots with spurs. On his uniform he displayed the insignia of his rank.

Soon after Foch came Robert Lansing, the American secretary of state, accompanied by his military aid, who was followed by Mr. Frazier, counselor of the American embassy.

Arrival of Mr. Wilson.

At just 2:45 p. m. President Wilson's limousine swung up to the entrance. The president was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and was greeted with "Vive Wilson!" With the president and his wife was Rear Admiral Grayson, the president's physician.

As he alighted President Wilson lifted his hat to Mrs. Wilson, who drove away with Admiral Grayson. President Wilson wore a dark suit and overcoat and a silk hat and carried a large leather portfolio.

As Mr. Wilson entered the vestibule of the foreign office Stephen Pichon, the French foreign minister, stepped forward to greet him and escorted him to his private office, where the conference was held.

David Lloyd George Last.

M. Clemenceau, the French prime minister, followed. He was alone and bore a serious mien. M. Clemenceau was dressed in a business suit and wore a derby hat. Signor Orlando, the Italian premier, came soon afterward, accompanied by Signor Sonnino, foreign minister.

The last to arrive was David Lloyd George, the British prime minister, and Arthur J. Balfour, the British foreign secretary, who motored up together.

The conference opened promptly at 3 o'clock. The meeting was an extended one. It was mainly for the purpose of settling new terms for prolonging the armistice, which expires Jan. 17, and for determining the number and composition of the delegations of the various countries for the sessions of the peace congress which is about to open.

As a result of today's council it is expected that formal notices will be issued convoking the conference, assigning delegations for each country, and the fixing of the hours of meeting.

Discuss Armistice.

The official statement issued at the closing of the meeting follows:

"There was first a meeting of the supreme war council, which discussed questions necessary to be settled in connection with the extension of the armistice, which expires on Jan. 17.

This discussion absorbed considerably more than half the time of the meeting.

"After the supreme war council had closed its session a smaller group, representing France, the United States, Great Britain, and Italy, discussed the method of procedure of the council by which preliminary matters must be carried on."

UNITE ON RUSSIAN ISSUE

LONDON, Jan. 12. — The British government, the Sunday Express understands, has proposed that all the different parties in Russia, including the Bolsheviki, should present their programs to the peace congress in order to ascertain if it is possible to come to any understanding with any responsible authority in Russia. The paper adds:

"The French government is not hostile to this suggestion. There is no difference of opinion between the British and the French governments and there has been no idea on the part of the British government to invite delegates from Russia to attend the peace conference."

Says All Are United.

PARIS, Jan. 12. — [Havas.] — If France took the initiative in refusing to deal with the Russian Bolshevik government, declares the Excelsior, the London and Washington governments made it known that they "agreed absolutely with the French viewpoint."

Received in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Great Britain's proposal that the allies and the United States enter into negotiations with all Russian factions, referred to at Paris yesterday by Foreign Minister Pichon with an emphatic statement that France would not deal in any way with "the criminal régime of the Bolsheviki," was transmitted to the state department here on Jan. 3 by the British embassy. It was not sent to the American peace delegation because state department officials assumed it would be delivered directly at Paris, but since it now appears this was not done it will be forwarded at once.

No one in Washington is prepared to state what may be the attitude of President Wilson and the American delegation toward the British suggestion. It is recalled everywhere, however, that the United States virtually has declared the Bolsheviki outlaws by calling upon the civilized world to join in condemning the reign of terror in Russia.

TELLS RUSSIA'S HOPES.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—Prince Georges Lvoff, former premier, has been named as chairman of the Russian committee, composed of ambassadors and other prominent Russians, which is meeting in Paris to arrange for the presentation of the Russian claims to the peace conference. As yet the committee has not been advised what representation it will be granted at the conference, but it is hopeful that the Russian people's interests will be fully considered.

In a statement which it has issued the committee says that the selection of Prince Lvoff indicates clearly the policy of the committee, and adds:

"The new conditions inaugurated in Russia by the revolution of 1917 have for their firm foundation complete recognition of the principle of national sovereignty manifested by political institutions to which the people will give willing support; by equality before the law of all citizens without distinction of class, nationality or religion; by respect for the rights of nationalities; by the solution of the agrarian question as a pledge for social peace in Russia."

FRANCE EXEMPTS U. S. SOLDIERS OF WAR TAXES

PARIS, Saturday, Jan. 11.—The French government, through its commission for Franco-American affairs, announced tonight that officers and men of the American expeditionary forces would be exempted from customs duties and registry, liquor, wine, and luxury taxes. For the officers the exemption amounts to 243 francs a month for a period of four months.

In the same period exemption for the men is 54 francs a month. At the conclusion of the period an officer may be exempted for a total of 972 francs and an enlisted man for 216 francs.

Maj. Gen. Harbord, head of the service supply, in acknowledging the French government's act for the American forces, said: "I am sure that the 2,000,000 men in the American expeditionary forces will properly regard this action as another manifestation of our mutual good will and esteem."

Maj. Higginson, Aged 84, Operated On at Boston

Boston, Mass., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Maj. Henry L. Higginson, leading Boston banker and organizer of the Boston Symphony orchestra, underwent an operation of seribus nature at the Massachusetts general hospital yesterday.

It was announced by the hospital officials tonight that he "was doing splendidly," and that because of his excellent physical condition, was expected to recover. His condition is admittedly serious, however.

REDS IN BERLIN LOSE 1,300 IN THEIR REVOLT

New Fighting Is Begun at Many Points in Capital.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—Fighting has been resumed in Berlin, according to advices received here tonight from Copenhagen. The Spartacans are said to be still holding a portion of the Tageblatt building.

The Spartacan losses since the outbreak of the revolution are about 1,300 persons killed.

All earlier reports from Berlin, including dispatches coming direct from that city, indicate that the government is now definitely in the ascendant. The troops, who, after a brave show at the outset, repeatedly have shown themselves accessible to Spartacan persuasions, have now apparently arrayed themselves definitely and decisively on the side of the government.

The situation in Halle, one of the most important railway junctions in northern Germany, was reported on Friday as critical. Machine guns were mounted on several buildings and street fighting was expected.

Republic in Bremen.

BASLE, Jan. 12.—A Socialist republic has been proclaimed at Bremen, according to a dispatch from Munich.

The communists in Bremen have taken the places of the majority Socialists on the soldiers' and workmen's council and have sent a message to the Ebert government demanding that they resign.

They are also reported to have sent a telegram to the Russian Bolsheviki expressing the hope that the revolutions in Russia and Germany would be victorious.

Numerous persons were killed or wounded in Ratisbon, Bavaria, during fighting Friday afternoon.

Red Outbreak in Dresden.

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 12.—The latest scene of Bolshevist disorders is Dresden. Yesterday the leaders of the movement there issued a proclamation in response to which huge crowds of unemployed and strikers assembled.

Forming a procession they went to the Circus Sarrasani, where arrangements had been made for a meeting of the soldiers' council.

The Bolshevists obtained possession of the building and held a meeting of their own, after which the rioters went to the town hall, where they overpowered the guard and got away with a large quantity of arms and ammunition.

Arrest Rebel Leaders.

BERLIN, Saturday, Jan. 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Georg Ledebour and Ernest Meyer, independent Socialists, have been arrested by officers and soldiers. The charge against them has not been made public. Ledebour has been one of the most active leaders against the Ebert government.

The Socialist Vorwaerts, which is being printed in another plant than its own, says it learns that Dr. Karl Liebknecht, the Spartacan leader, has sent his family to Switzerland. It argues sarcastically that the communist leader, while expounding the "advantages and blessings of a Bolshevik era" for the Germans, demonstrates the belief that his own family is better off in a country where order is maintained by a "bourgeoise and capitalistic government."

Execute Spandau Leader.

The city hall at Spandau, which was vacated Monday, was the scene this morning of heavy fighting between government troops and the Spartacans. The building was attacked with light artillery and machine gun fire at 7 o'clock and then stormed. The Spartacans offered stubborn resistance, but after a heavy hand grenade bombardment they were overwhelmed and their leaders captured.

Herr Pieser, who was the ringleader of the Liebknecht forces, was summarily executed. Numerous other Spartacans were thrown into the cellar of the jail.

Spandau is the site of the great army artillery depots, and its inhabitants are considered the most turbulent and radical workmen living in any of the Berlin suburbs.

Liebknecht in Hiding.

BERLIN, Jan. 10 (8 p. m.)—[By the Associated Press.]—Members of the Ebert-Schiedemann government tonight reiterated their determination to put down the revolution in a manner that would prevent further insurgency on the part of the cohorts of Haase, Ledebour, and Liebknecht.

It was stated also that the government would insist on the complete disarmament of all political factions not identified with the government. The attempts of the Spartacans to reach a compromise are regarded with suspicion by the government.

Dr. Liebknecht and Rosa Luxembourg, the Spartacan leaders, have hid themselves from the public view in the last two days, in order, apparently, to give the "campaign for agreement" the appearance of being conducted over their heads.

Make Dernburg a Hostage?

A rumor that the Spartacans planned a raid on the fashionable residence suburb of Grunewald threw the inhabitants there into a frenzy of excitement. Government troops were mobilized immediately and prepared to meet the invaders.

A report was circulated that the rebels proposed to occupy private homes, among them that of Dr. Dernburg, former colonial secretary, who, it was rumored, was to be carried off as a hostage.

Government troops searched a number of houses in Grunewald and discovered a large supply of Bolshevik propaganda and hand grenades.

Bavaria Asks Peace.

MUNICH, Jan. 12.—Premier Eisner of Bavaria has telegraphed to the Berlin government an appeal that the warfare there be brought to an end. The telegram says:

"With growing horror we follow the murderous civil war. It must end unless all Germany is slowly to perish. Berlin's example everywhere is having a demoralizing effect and is producing an epidemic of insanity. The only means of salvation appears to be a government sustained by the confidence of the people, comprising all Socialist parties and resolved to bring democracy and socialism to victory.

"Everywhere in South Germany the anger against Berlin is growing. At the same time sinister persons here are calling also for fratracidal warfare."

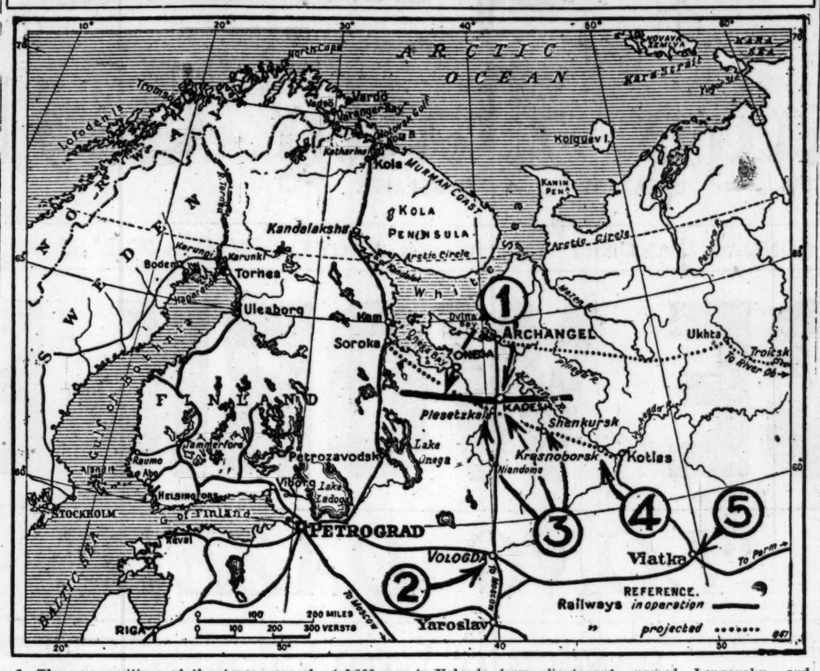

Hindenburg Raises Army.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

COBLENZ, Jan. 12.—Gen. Hindenburg, as commander in chief of the German army, is trying to build a relatively small but dependable force. It is believed that this force is intended for potential use to maintain order within Germany.

Gen. von Hindenburg's confidential order to the army commanders orders one division from each army corps set aside and maintained after demobilization.

YANKS AND ALLIES FACE BIG ODDS IN RUSSIA

1—The new positions of the Americans on the Onega sector, in northern Russia, has again been subjected to a heavy machine gun fire by the Bolsheviki.

2—The general headquarters of the Bolshevik forces opposing the Americans and allies is in the city of Vologda. Gen. Gittis, an old Russian army officer, is in command. There are about 5,000 men in Vologda, forming a reserve corps, under the command of "Col." Loewe, an Austrian adventurer.

3—The group of Bolsheviki who are actively opposing the Americans have their headquarters at Plesetskaya and are spread out toward Shenkursk. This army is commanded by a former lieutenant, named Lengovsky, and numbers 6,500 men and some guns.

4—Another group of 6,300 men is at Krasnoborsk, under the command of former Lieut. Gekkar.

5—A fourth group is in training at Vyatka. It numbers about 8,000 men, and is intended to keep the Czechs in the Urals at a distance.

STOP U. S. SHOTS WHICH IMPERIL PRINCE OF WALES

COBLENZ, Jan. 12.—The Prince of Wales this morning completed a two days' visit to the American bridgehead. Last night he was the guest of the staff of the Third army at a dinner and dance at the Officers' club.

The prince's party yesterday was on the way to visit the American Fourth army corps headquarters at Coblenz when the forward car was stopped at a little hamlet by an excited German, who said that the place was being shot up.

It was found that an American machine gun company with a range beyond a big hill was firing high and the bullets were coming into the village there which the prince's party was about to pass.

Capt. Louis Graves, American army press section, went ahead and had the shooting stopped when the prince proceeded on his way.

WILSON PEACE AIMS INDORSED BY LABOR PARTY

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—A platform calling for national, social, industrial, and political reform was adopted today at the second day's convention of the American labor party of New York. The peace aims of President Wilson were indorsed.

The platform demanded self-determination for Ireland, protested against interference in the internal affairs of Russia or any other nation, urged the withdrawal of allied troops from Russia, and declared for a "league of workers" to supplement the league of nations, and whose purpose it would be to "destroy autocratic and economic imperialism throughout the world."

Unequivocal opposition to universal military training in time of peace and acquiescence in it only in time of war when approved by a referendum vote were stated in the plank on military training.

The establishment of an international labor standard was urged to the end that an era of world-wide disarmament might be brought about. "Open diplomacy, no more kings and no more militarism" was the way this part of the platform read.

TERRIFIC FIGHT FOR VORWAERTS; REDS DEFEATED

Hundreds Are Killed as Cannon Knock Building Down.

BY JOSEPH HERRINGS.
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—Via Copenhagen. —[By Wireless.]—A whole week after the Spartacans took possession of the Vorwaerts building, it was recaptured by the government troops this morning after a desperate battle. At the same time the truce agreed on with the Spartacans occupying the other newspaper buildings ceased, the government troops renewing the attack which still progresses.

On Wilhelmstrasse close to Belle Alliance platz is the large printing works of Beauxenstein, where several daily and weekly papers are published. This building was seized early in the week by the Spartacides and tenaciously defended by them for several days and nights. It was surrendered this morning after having been under the fire of seven centimeter guns for several hours.

The building took fire and was partly burned. A number of Spartacides are said to have perished in the flames.

The Fight for Vorwaerts.

Meanwhile artillery also has been placed in position on the roof of the patent office, a large palace facing the canal running near to Linden, where Vorwaerts occupies the premises in number three. Guns were also fired from Belle Alliance platz, southwest of Linden.

This bombardment lasted two hours, the Spartacides replying with heavy machine guns.

About 10 o'clock a white flag was hoisted on Vorwaerts, whereupon there was parleying between the contesting parties regarding the capitulation. The Spartacides proposed to surrender on condition they were permitted to march away unmolested. This was refused.

Whole Wall Blown Out.

A few minutes afterwards the battle was renewed vigorously with mine throwers posted on Belle Aliance platz. Their aiming was god. There were a few tremendous detonations breaking all the windows in the neighborhood. An enormous cloud of dust arose on Linden strasse, and after it settled it appeared nearly the whole front had fallen to the sidewalk.

There was a tremendous gap through which the havoc worked by the bombardment in the interior became plainly visible. The falling wall had buried some of the Spartacides machine guns and crews. Soon afterwards the Spartacide fire ceased entirely and a white flag on a long pole was extended from the ruins.

While the bombardment was in progress government chasseurs had managed to come close to the Vorwaerts building and succeeded in breaking open the side door. They entered one of the large courtyards, where a desperate man-to-man fight took place, and grenades were employed with murderous results.

Russians Among Captives.

Hand grenades were also thrown from the roofs of neighboring houses which the chasseurs used, and fierce fighting continued some time, the combatants in the parts of the large building being unaware that the main body of Spartacides had already offered to surrender.

The first prisoners led from the building were four civilians, Russians, it is said, and among them the notorious Muscovite emissary Radeck. It is rumored 300 Spartacides were killed and wounded. The number of prisoners was about 500. Some 1,200 rifles, over 100 machine guns and large stores of ammunition were captured.

There is a rumor that Liebknecht also was among the men taken prisoner, but it canot be confirmed.

PROCLAIM REPUBLIC IN LUXEMBURG AS DUCHESS WITHDRAWS

PARIS, Jan. 12.—[By the Associated Press.]—A republic has been proclaimed in Luxemburg. Grand Duchess Marie-Adelaide has withdrawn to her château near the capital.

Says Friday Revolt Succeeded.

METZ, Saturday, Jan. 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Luxemburg was proclaimed a republic on Friday, when the Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide retired from the capital, taking up quarters in a chateau nearby.

The chamber held an excited meeting, the Clericals quitting the house in a body.

Agitated for Some Time.

For some time there has been agitation in Luxemburg of a republican tendency. A dispatch from Metz on Jan. 10 said a large crowd had paraded in front of the palace in Luxemburg, requesting the abdication of the grand duchess and the proclamation of a republic. The dispatch added that a committee on public safety had been appointed.

Previously advices were to the effect that the grand duchess, Marie Adelaide, had decided to leave Luxemburg owing to the unfavorable political situation.

The grand duchy of Luxemburg is bordered on the north and northeast by Rhenish Prussia, on the south by Alsace Lorraine, and on the west by the Belgian province of Luxemburg.

The grand duchy is presided over by the Grand Duchess Marie Adelaide, who was born in 1894. By the treaty of London of 1867 Luxemburg was declared neutral territory and its integrity and independence were guaranteed. At the outbreak of the present war, however, the Germans passed through Luxemburg in their invasion of Belgium, notwithstanding the protests of the grand duchess.

Luxemburg has an area of 998 square miles and a population of nearly 300,000.

BLACKHAWKS A HAPPY GANG AS THEY RACE HOME

BY J. L. JENKINS.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—

"O, the cannoneers have shaggy ears;
Come on, you big Dutch bounders.
Bring on yer jam, they give a damn,
Those hardy Yankee rounders."

The peaceful purlieus of Fort Wayne echoed to the private and particular challenge of Blackhawk gunners shortly after 10 o'clock tonight, when the first section of the Three Hundred and Thirty-third artillery troop trains roared into the west yards of the Nickel Plate railroad line and halted for a new cargo of ice and water.

An avalanche of khaki flooded the windows and platforms before the "limber song" had died away, and the artillerymen let loose with the real old time army version, which is not exactly printable.

Plenty of Time for Sleep.

"Tired? Sleepy?" demanded a big supply sergeant, in answer to a civilian's query. "Look at the years we've got to sleep in. We're bound for Chicago now with wide awake orders."

Hilarity was short-lived, however, and long before the icing was completed every man was back in his bunk or "sitting in" at the inevitable card game.

Col. Philip R. Ward, Blackhawk artillery commander in chief through the long training days, and now in harness again as leader of his own regiment and other units of the returning brigade, was found comfortably located in his berth. He sprang up with a warm welcome when Frederick W. Cornish, 220 Linden avenue, Oak Park, boarded the train with the official communications sent out by the Chicago homecoming committee.

Glad to Come Home.

"Chicago is staying up to greet you, colonel," Mr. Cornish declared as he outlined the day of pleasure in store for the Blackhawks.

"Chicago can't be any happier to see us than we are to greet Chicago," the colonel replied. "The boys have already heard something of the splendid reception prepared for them, but they have never imagined it could be as extensive as this. It is the finest thing we have met in all of our travels."

Artillerymen Had Good Luck.

"The regiment and brigade has certainly been favored of fortune," Col. Ward said, "except for the fact that we just missed action when we were stopped from our march to the firing line by a signed armistice.

"We lost but ten men in the two attacks of influenza epidemic we passed through. We did not lose a single man on shipboard, and have come home the healthiest Americans in a day's journey."

Lieut. Heber H. Smith, former Chicago newspaper man and now radio officer for the regiment, and Maj. Charles G. Cushing, who used to be a bond salesman for the A. B. Leach company, were routed out of their berths.

"O, it's been a fine war," Lieut. Smith declared. "We didn't even make the acquaintance of the famous cootie, but you never saw a more eager bunch than these same Chicago fighting men who were ready to go behind the guns in the last big drive."

Tell 'Em We're Coming.

"Who's from Chicago?" was asked of the jumble of khaki and kit bags in the tourist sleepers ahead. Tousled heads emerged from the curtains like so many cannonballs and the roll call went down the line as the train pulled out.

"Sergt. Maj. Hauser," yelled head No. 1, "please announce our coming."

Then came the others.

Sergt. Willing, Sergt. Kelly, Corporal Lower, Private Lower (sharing the same bunk), Corporal Collins, Corporal R. M. Read, Corporal Shutz, Private Keller, Private Hazen, Sergt. Dwenn, Sergt. Stevens, Sergt. Hill, Sergt. Bodett, Corporal Miller—then, in the distance—Privates Huston, Barratt, Kirk, Bennett.

The first train carried, in addition to Col. Ward and his staff, the headquarters detachment of the One Hundred and Sixty-first artillery brigade, the regimental supply company and members of the medical detachment. It should reach Chicago about 6 a. m. tomorrow morning.

The last section of the movement followed its two forerunners closely and two powerful engines were hooked on here to make sure that every Blackhawk will reached Chicago before 8 a. m.

PROGRAM OF GREAT WELCOME CITY WILL GIVE BLACKHAWKS

7 a. m. to 9 a. m.—Arrive La Salle street station; meet reception committee; proceed to Coliseum.

11 a. m.—Formation at Coliseum for parade. Line of march: North on Wabash avenue to Fourteenth street, east to Michigan avenue, north to Randolph street, west to State street, south to Jackson boulevard, west to La Salle street, north to Randolph street.

12:30 p. m.—Parade disbands. Committees from the clubs will escort the units to the places of entertainment as follows:

Battery A—Union League club, 69 West Jackson boulevard.
Batteries C and D—The Chicago Association of Commerce, Hotel La Salle.
Batteries E and F—Rotary club, Hotel Sherman.

1 p. m.—Luncheon at the clubs. Packs stored there.

2 p. m.—Headquarters company and headquarters detachment, proceed to Palace theater, 127 North Clark. All other units proceed to Garrick theater, 64 West Randolph street.

4:30 p. m.—Units return to clubs for supper.

5:30 p. m.—Supper.

6:30 p. m.—Units proceed to Coliseum.

7:30 p. m.—Public reception and dance at Coliseum.

10:30 p. m.—Conclusion of reception and dance.

11 p. m.—Units proceed to Union depot. Trains departing in four sections, leaving at 12, 12:15, 12:30, and 12:45 a. m.

MILES OF SONG WILL WELCOME THE BLACKHAWKS

Choruses of School Children Will Lead Tunes.

the confusion and crowding that will result from handling this number of troops, it is suggested that the populace remain away from the depot.

The boys will be under strict military discipline and there can be no rushing into outstretched arms, no hugging of mother and the other one at this hour.

That will come later in the day, principally at the Coliseum in the evening, where the "long, long trail" begins to wind out into the promised land. Then the doughboys and the officers can fold them to their heart's content and dance until train time. For they have to go away again at midnight, on to Camp Grant, where they have to go through all the regulations necessary to slide out of the honored uniform and get back into civilian's duds.

Coffee and Doughnuts.

The parade will form at the Coliseum at 11 a. m. and then the populace can cut loose and make all the noise it wants.

When the boys reach the Coliseum in the morning, too, they will find a little band there that they have come to love very much. It will be a group of Salvation Army folk, and they will have hot coffee and doughnuts to supplement the army breakfast, served on the train. The Red Cross also will be there to help make the boys' welcome as pleasant as possible.

Go to Clubs and Theaters.

Immediately after the parade the troops will break up into smaller units and be taken to the clubs and hotels downtown for luncheon. The sanitary detachment will go to the City club, Battery A to the Union League, Battery B to the Illinois Athletic club, Batteries C and D to the Hotel La Salle, as guests of the Association of Commerce, Batteries E and F to the Hotel Sherman, as guests of the Rotary club, and the headquarters detachment of the One Hundred and Sixty-first to the Chicago Athletic club.

From 2 to 4 o'clock the troops will be entertained in two theater parties. The headquarters company and detachment of the One Hundred and Sixty-first will go to the Palace theater and all other units will hike for the Garrick.

After the theater the troops will proceed back to the respective clubs for dinner and then all will go to the Coliseum, where the real home-coming welcome will be staged.

"WELCOME HYMNAL"

Clip Out These Songs. You Know or You'll Catch the Tunes. Sing Today for the Blackhawks.

NINE songs have been selected for the singing by Chicagoans along Michigan boulevard when the Blackhawks come home from France today. They are "Home, Sweet Home," "When Johnny Comes Marching Home," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "The Long, Long Trail," "Smiles," "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag," "Good-Morning, Mr. Zip, Zip, Zip," "K-K-K-Katy," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

The committee on music asked THE TRIBUNE to print some of the songs, so citizens could cut them out and use them as a "welcome hymnal" during the celebration on the boulevard. Everybody knows the melodies.

The words of a few of the more popular songs in the camps in France which will be sung today are:

LONG, LONG TRAIL.

There's a long, long trail a-winding
Into the land of my dreams.
Where the nightingales are singing
And the white moon beams;
There's a long, long night of waiting
Until my dreams all come true.
Till the day when I'll be going down
That long, long trail with you.

PACK UP YOUR TROUBLES IN YOUR OLD KIT BAG.

While you've a lucifer to light your fag,
Smile, boys—that's the style.
What's the use of worrying?
It never was worth while, so
And smile, smile, smile!

SMILES.

There are smiles that make us happy,
There are smiles that make us blue,
There are smiles that steal away the tear drops
As the sunbeams steal away the dew.
There are smiles that have a tender meaning,
That the eyes of love alone may see.
And the smiles that fill my life with sunshine
Are the smiles that you give to me.

KEEP THE HOME FIRES BURNING.

Keep the home fires burning,
While your hearts are yearning.
Though your lads are far away
They dream of home.
There's a silver lining,
Through the dark cloud shining;
Turn the dark cloud inside out

NAVY DIRIGIBLE ENDS FIRST LAP OF 1,500 MILES

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 12.—The navy's largest dirigible, the C-1, which left Rockaway Beach, N. Y., this morning on a flight of 1,500 miles to Key West, Fla., completed the first lap of the voyage this afternoon, landing safely at the Hampton Road naval base. Capt. V. C. Parker, in command of the airship, said the trip was without incident except that he and the six men of the crew, most of them officers, suffered some from the cold.

Capt. Parker said the dirigible would resume its journey tomorrow morning if weather permitted and should reach Brunswick, Ga., before night.

Circles Over White House.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—The navy dirigible C-1, en route from Rockaway Beach, N. Y., for Key West, Fla., passed over Washington early this afternoon, circling over the White House and navy department.

Norway Protests Sending Back Its Slackers in U. S.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Norway has lodged with the state department a protest against enactment of the Jones bill for the deportation of Norwegian declarants who withdraw their applications for citizenship in order to avoid being drafted into the American army.

BOLSHEVIKI AT SEATTLE CLASH WITH POLICE

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 12.—Shouting sedition from the rostrum at an open air meeting this afternoon, Bolshevik sympathizers numbering nearly 2,000 defied the police and attacked a police captain after the meeting had been closed by the police.

A riot followed in which a force of 100 policemen, aided by military police and other soldiers, was required to restore order and disperse the crowds. Thirteen men were arrested after the police had used their clubs on the crowd.

Speakers at the meeting urged a general strike to tie up all industries engaged in the manufacture of supplies for the American army and its allies in Siberia. Cheers for the red flag were repeatedly given and I. W. W. hymns sung.

Ambassador Francis May Soon Be Able to Return

LONDON, Jan. 12.—David R. Francis, the American ambassador to Russia, who recently underwent an operation, is progressing favorably toward recovery. His condition is said to be so satisfactory today that he will be able to leave shortly for the United States.

CHIEF OF DRAFT CALLS MIDWEST SOLDIERS BEST

Gen. Crowder Here as the Guest of Boards Tells of His Work.

A total of 24,234,210 men, or 47 per cent of the entire male population of the nation, registered for military service; 2,800,000 had been inducted into the army and 2,000,000 more were available for immediate call, while out of the entire quota of men who were called through the draft system less than 1,200 refused to fight for their country.

These figures were revealed for the first time yesterday by Maj. Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, provost marshal of the army and "father of the draft," the man who devised the selective service system, who organized nearly 3,000,000 soldiers of the national army, and sent hundreds of thousands overseas to fight.

Will Speak Tonight.

The general arrived in Chicago late yesterday afternoon from Washington upon the invitation of the Selective Draft Association of Illinois. Today he will participate in the reception to the Blackhawks and tonight at a dinner of the draft association, which includes members of draft boards all over the state, he will tell how he came to hit upon the draft system as the proper one to take care of the needs of the army from a standpoint of man power.

The distinguished officer was met at the union station as he stepped from a Pennsylvania limited by Seymour Morris, Herbert J. Friedman, and Maj. Edgar G. Tolman. He had wired ahead that he did not desire other than a quiet reception, and his request was heeded. He was accompanied to Chicago by Col. John H. Wigmire, former dean of the law school of Northwestern university.

Praise for Midwest.

The general was in a happy mood, and at a request of a reporter for THE TRIBUNE posed for a picture, and a little later plunged into history of the selective draft system.

He unhesitatingly said that the middle west sent the very best of the nation's men to the front.

"The country bordering the Mississippi and the Missouri," he said, "furnished the men above the national average." He drew the demarkation line of the middle west toward the south at Arkansas. From that state northward the men from the Mississippi valley were the very finest specimens of manhood, physically, he said.

Success Almost Perfect.

"The draft machinery was never at any time handicapped in its gigantic task," the general said. "Its success was almost perfect."

A total of about 3,000,000 men inducted into the service, he said, represented 70 per cent of qualifications. In other words, 30 per cent of those registered and examined failed to qualify, but many of these were accepted under deferred classifications and limited service.

He pointed out that this record was higher than that of England or France.

Immigration at Low Ebb; 178,362 in 18 Months

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Immigration almost ceased during the war. Statistics announced today by the bureau of immigration showed that from April 1, 1917, to Sept. 30, 1918, a total of 178,362 immigrants arrived in the United States and that 123,676 departed.

A "Closed Season" on Spectacles

Prince August of Saxony, in 1572, wanted a pair of spectacles; so a servant rode off to Leipsic for them. But there were none to be had at Leipsic; or at Augsburg.

Two years later the servant rode off once more, to Venice, which was famous for its spectacles.

When he got there he was told that if he would wait six months he could have a pair—for $250; but they weren't grinding any at that time of year. It was the "closed season" on spectacles.

Now, you can call up an Almer Coe Eyeglass Store—or walk to one in five minutes from anywhere downtown — and have a pair of Almer Coe spectacles the same day—or the next—for a trifling fraction of what Prince August paid.

THIRD ARTICLE.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 9, via Paris, Jan. 12.—Alonzo E. Taylor, member of the American food administration, who, with the members of his mission, reached Budapest this morning, spent a busy day discussing Hungarian food, fuel, and transportation problems with representative producers, importers, and exporters. The mission's guiding rule here, as in the other lands of the formal dual monarchy, is coöperating with each faction for the common good of all.

This afternoon, members of the mission, including Hugh Gibson, Col. William B. Causey, and Capt. Thomas Gengory, besides the British, French, and Italian delegates, were received by Count Michael Karolyi, who welcomed the visitors, saying that Hungary was ready to suffer her share of hardships for mistakes committed in the past, but the country trusted that the burden put upon its shoulders would not exceed its powers of endurance.

Charges Allied Deception.

He said "that while Hungary had endeavored to stick to the letter of the armistice agreement, this was not the case on the side of the entente. Had he known this would be so he would not have signed the pact. Hungary is now a country free of the great faults of the past with regard to its political system, social development, and the freedom of the various nationalities."

Following the prime minister's speech, the members of the mission spent two hours examining the country's needs with the cabinet ministers who had gathered for this purpose at a special meeting at the premier's palace.

Bohemia Is Without Coal.

When seen immediately after the meeting Mr. Taylor declined to give a hint as to his impressions, but I know from a good source that the leaders of the mission are gradually shedding their preconceived ideas about these countries as the tour continues.

Among the important facts brought to light is that there is almost no coal in Bohemia, although the Austrians and Hungarians insist on every occasion that the stocks in that country are so great that there is danger of spontaneous combustion on a large scale.

According to one member of the mission, the real cause of the lack of coal in Hungary and Austria is to be found in the Bolshevik agitation in the Silesian mine districts, some of which are reported to be occupied by Polish troops, and a special delegate has been dispatched by the mission to those parts to make a thorough inquiry.

Nation Is Bankrupt.

The financial position of the countries of the former monarchy, principally Austria, is found by the mission to be deplorable, the gold reserve behind the uncounted millions of paper money amounting to a little over one-half of one per cent, and it is no uncommon thing to hear expert financiers talk of the possible bankruptcy of the Austro-Hungarian bank, which would be equivalent to the financial breakdown of the whole state and would bring calamity to millions, poor and rich alike.

Tomorrow the mission will return to Vienna, whence it will go to Trieste, Fiume, Agram, Belgrade, and Warsaw.

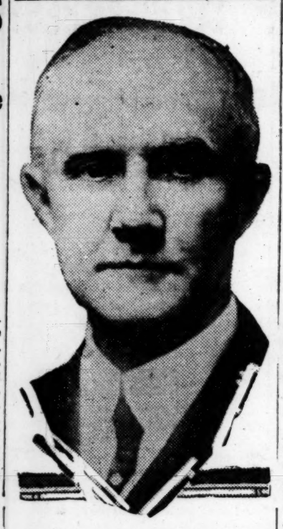

May Make Karolyi President.

The mission arrived in time to witness at close hand the government crisis which is expected to end tomorrow, when the national council is to assemble for the purpose of receiving the resignations of the bourgeois members of the present cabinet and for establishing what is now practically certain to be a purely socialist radical ministry with Sigismund Kufie, the present minister of public welfare, as prime minister.

It was explained that at the last moment the exclusively bourgeois cabinet was unable to assure order and security, and, moreover, the coalition government became impossible at the moment when the workers' council demanded admission to the ministries of war and the interior for the Social Democrats.

It is broadly hinted that Count Michael Karolyi is to be proclaimed president of the Hungarian republic by the national council, which provisionally is regarded as the source of ruling power.

EXPECT TO NAME $250,000 BOND ROBBER TODAY

Investigators Intimate End of Mystery Is Near.

BY RALPH ELLIS.

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Identity of the man who stole the $250,000 worth of Liberty bonds consigned to the Studebaker corporation by the First and Old National bank of Detroit will be disclosed tomorrow if elaborate plans of the various theft investigation agencies work out according to schedule.

The expected climax to the quarter million dollar steal is to occur at the new inquisition to be held during the day in the office of President A. R. Erskine.

Officials of the company, the postal authorities, and representatives of the American Foreign and Marine Insurance company, all busy with the final details of the stage setting for tomorrow's event, declined to discuss new developments.

Employé Blamed.

It was learned, however, that the individual under suspicion is an employé of the Studebaker company, holding a responsible position, and was in possession of the following facts concerning the shipment of the securities from the Detroit bank:

That the registered mail bond package would arrive in South Bend on Jan. 4.

That twenty-five $10,000 bonds had never been registered, and consequently were negotiable.

That the package would be delivered at the Studebaker plant about the time the employés would leave the administration building on the short week end day.

That suspicion of the theft, when discovered, would obviously point to another employé of the company.

"Is the man under suspicion, the individual seen by Postman Harvey Larkin when he delivered the package of bonds to 15 year old Eddie Snyder at the plant?" a man prominently identified with the investigation was asked.

"That's a question I cannot answer," he replied. "I'll only say this, that we have run across several clews that looked good for a few hours and days and then had to be abandoned. We have a new trail that promises success. If it proves to be the right one the end of this case is in sight."

Treasurer's Orders.

It now develops that after the bank at Detroit had been instructed to forward the bonds to the Studebaker corporation, N. R. Feltes, treasurer of the corporation, ordered that the bank be notified to consign the securities to him personally instead of to the company. It was the treasurer also who, on the day of the arrival of the bonds, gave instructions that the local postoffice be advised not to deliver the bonds on Saturday, but to hold them at the postoffice until Monday.

It is admitted that neither order was carried out in time to change the regular forwarding routine through the mails.

According to the best information obtainable the order to change the name of the consignee was given to W. P. Shillington, assistant treasurer. Mr. Shillington last night was not at his residence, it was said, when a reporter called. Later he was asked over the telephone about sending Mr. Feltes' instructions to the Detroit bank.

"I can't discuss the case," he said, shortly, and hung up his telephone receiver.

President Erskine also refused to see or talk to newspaper men.

Wagner's Connection.

Fred Wagner, the $75 a month clerk, on whom President Erskine made his Friday midnight call, is the man who notified the postoffice not to deliver the bond package. He claims he telephoned the office as soon as he got instructions second hand from Mr. Feltes. It has been established that the Wagner call reached the postoffice between 12:45 and 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon after the bonds had been delivered to the plant offices, according to the postoffice people. Wagner later telephoned the postoffice a second time and made inquiry about the Detroit package. He visited the postoffice during the afternoon and again Monday morning, and asked if a registered package from the Detroit bank was at the postoffice.

Wagner's confusing stories when he was submitted to severe cross examination at the hands of attorneys and investigators are explained, the probers say, by the fact that he is a nervous man 50 years old, and is a very slow thinker.

BY THE SAME HAND?

Photographic Copies of Disputed Signature Which May Be Vital in $250,000 Bond Loss.

INVESTIGATORS working on the mysterious disappearance of $250,000 worth of Liberty bonds consigned to the Studebaker company at South Bend, Ind., are returning again and again to the examination of signatures on the postoffice receipts signed by Eddie Snyder, an office boy, at the time of the alleged delivery of the registered package of bonds.

Above is shown a photograph of the signature on the receipt for the bonds which the postoffice officials insist is that of the boy. This is the signature which the boy at first refused to admit was his, and which the company officials claim is a forgery.

An identified signature of the office boy, photographed from one of the four other receipts signed at the same time the bonds are alleged to have been delivered, is shown here. This signature, the boy admits, is his. Upon similarities and dissimilarities in these two signatures much may hang.

Both signatures are in possession of the Pinkertons.

TAHITI ISLAND, 'FLU' STRICKEN, GETS NO HELP

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Threatened with extinction by influenza, the population of the Island of Tahiti, a French possession in the Society islands group in the Pacific, has awaited in vain word of the sending of relief in response to repeated and urgent wireless appeals sent since early in December.

In the last few days news dispatches have announced that the scourge has run its course, but nevertheless belated plans for aid are going forward while an answer to an official query is awaited.

When the first cablegrams asking aid came, the American Red Cross, besieged with appeals from nearly every quarter of the globe, decided that nothing could be done for the distant islanders. They hoped the epidemic would wear itself out in a few weeks, or long before a relief ship could make the voyage. More appeals came and now the Red Cross, the state department and the French embassy are seriously considering plans for getting supplies, medicines and doctors to the stricken people. Replies were anxiously awaited today to wireless messages sent to the island asking for a report on present conditions.

More than one-seventh of Tahiti's population of about 12,000 inhabitants was dead a month ago.

KANSAS AGAIN BEGS FOR FARMER TROOPS' RETURN

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 12.—Gov. Arthur Capper of Kansas again has called the attention of the war department to what he terms the increasing impatience and bitterness among the people of that state because of delay in discharging farmer soldiers.

In a telegram to Secretary Baker the governor says:

"I am loath to trespass further on your attention or good nature, or to urge again the state's great need for the immediate release of Kansas men from the military service, but my public duty compels it.

"During the recent bitter weather Kansas women had to feed the live stock on many farms and ranges. Now with the season of spring farmwork upon us, the need of these men at home has become, if possible, still more urgent.

"I am daily and hourly besieged to bring about the return of these men by those who cannot understand why there should be any further hesitation on the part of the war department toward granting what seems to them so reasonable a request."

LIEUT. BROTHERTON DIES IN ACTION.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Lieut. W. E. Brotherton, aviator, credited with the destruction of seven enemy planes, was killed in action Oct. 10, according to word received at the University of Illinois today. Brotherton's home was in Guthrie, Ill.

Why?
The O-G 15th Annual Winter Sale

¶ The primary purpose of the O-G Annual Winter Sale (now in progress) is to introduce advance spring styles to the O-G patrons. Its mission is also to promote business generally—to increase the O-G following through the appeal of unusual value-giving.

¶ It may be stated here that the merit of O-G shoes invariably holds the O-G patrons. Consequently, those attracted by sale prices buy again in season and at normal prices. Thus is the O-G acquaintance widened materially.

¶ O-G sales are never "clearance sales!" It is impossible for the O-G stock to reach a condition that necessitates a clearance, because O'CONNOR & GOLDBERG are style leaders, not style followers, and as the O-G models are always forerunners of what's to be vogue, they never accumulate—the O-G volume of sales will not permit it.

¶ Therefore, this O-G Annual Winter Sale has rare significance, because it presents logical reasons for value-giving — value-giving that people are quick to recognize and eager to benefit from.

ITCHCOCK, "HIT BY AUTO," LONG IN DAZE, HOME

"Wakes" in South, Adding New Mystery to Old.

said Milan, after his brother had left the room. "Tragedy for my wife and comedy that I was drawn into such an affair."

At 8 o'clock Abner, a white haired man with bushy eyebrows and a stern look in his eyes, a man of wealth in his home town of Mitchell, S. D., where he served as mayor, gave the word for the drama to open.

"I want to say a word myself first," Abner said. "There has been a good deal of talk in the town about the family having knowledge of where Milan has been. I want Mrs. Hitchcock to tell her story first."

He stepped to a rear room and returned with Mrs. Hitchcock, a small, refined, elderly woman in black, who had her knitting in her hands.

Wife Makes Statement.

"I wish to make a definite statement," she said, somewhat in the manner of a witness on the stand. "No information has come to the family in any form or manner until this telegram arrived." She showed the reporters a telegram which was as follows:

"Covington, Tenn., Jan. 9.—Mrs. M. M. Hitchcock, Berwyn, Ill., via Chicago. Are you all right? Found the time. Was struck by auto. Well now. Milan."

"He went from home Nov. 20 in the morning," she said. "That afternoon he called up and said he might be late, that he was going out with a man to look for property near Zion City. I asked if he would not be home for dinner, and he said no, and that he might not be home that night.

"I understood that he was going out with Mr. Hunter, although he did not use that name. He said something about going with the man who had been in Berwyn the day before. I assumed this was Hunter. It seems now that it was another man. I had no word from him that minute until this message."

Brother Takes up Story.

"I received the telegram from the Postal company the morning of the 10th, Friday. By noon I was on a train for Covington. I found my brother there at the Hotel Lindo. I have been working since Nov. 20 trying to get some trace of him. During that time we have used every method to discover him. I initiated nearly everything. We had four or five fraternal journals carry the notice, such as the Mystic Circle, the Masonic Journal, and the Royal Legion.

"The police at our instance put his picture and description in the city bulletins, and special circulars were printed and sent all over the United States and Canada. I had no knowledge of his whereabouts until I received the telegram. The family is grateful to the friends who have helped and ready to overlook the unkind suspicions which have come from the uncharitable. Upon receipt of the telegram I wired him as follows:

"'Clare well, but has been under great anxiety and strain. Absence wide notoriety. Have no public statement till see me. I take first train.'

MILAN HITCHCOCK'S STORY

With this preliminary Milan Hitchcock was allowed to go ahead with his own story.

"Where shall I begin?" he asked.

"Take up your relations with John R. Hunter, the private detective who was hired by the Hines people to trail you after you had sent your valuation of lands to Capt. Ashby," suggested a reporter.

"Yes, I am willing to tell everything. My only connection with the Speedway case was in answering that telegram from Capt. Ashby. I have known him since he was a boy. He simply asked me the value of property near the Speedway. I wired to the man he mentioned in his telegram that the value was from $400 to $600.

"I did not know anything about the Speedway. I did not know what Ashby wanted the information for. I thought it had something to do with a subdivision and spent several days in working up things with the idea of making an honest dollar out of it. But when I heard it was a hospital proposition I quit work, knowing I could not make anything out of that.

Detective at Work.

"A few days after Mr. Hunter appeared in Berwyn. He came out and made inquiries about me among real estate men and merchants. I did not see him at first but learned that he was there. The third day he came out and asked for me, but did not find me. That day he called me up and asked me to come to his office in the morning. I went there at 9 o'clock and spent a few minutes with him. He spoke of acreage property out that way and asked me if I thought I was competent to judge property. I told him yes, that I had been there many years and that I thought I was a good judge of lands. He spoke of an eastern syndicate that might hire me at $25 a day to appraise property.

"The morning of Nov. 20 I got a letter from Hunter asking me to estimate the value of land in a five acre tract between the Speedway and the city. I was afraid of this. There was no head on the letter and it was a post-office box reply. I thought there was some kind of graft in it and did not answer it.

"Dayton" Appears.

"On the 19th of November a young fellow had come out to Berwyn to see me about a subdivision. I think he said his name was Dayton. He was well dressed and wore a large diamond ring. He had a reddish mustache and had dark hair. He was talking about buying property near the Illinois Central tracks on Oak Park avenue. He suggested I might get the sales end of it.

"I was interested and when he asked me to come to the city the next day to meet him I consented. That was the morning of the 20th. I met him at the Hotel La Salle at 11 o'clock. He said he had decided not to take the Berwyn property, but he wanted me to look at some north shore property. I said I did not know anything about property on the north shore, but he insisted that I go up there with him anyway. I told him I would go and made a date for 2:30 o'clock that afternoon.

Trip to North Shore.

"It was then I called my wife and told her about going to Zion City. We got an automobile and started north. We did not go to Zion City, but stopped this side of Lake Forest. We looked at some property and I told the young man that it was no good for subdivision, but it might do for farm land.

"We returned to the city about 5:30 or 6 o'clock. I left him at Jackson and Clark, I think.

"I was chilly and hungry and decided not to go home that night. I had supper and stayed at the Fort Dearborn hotel that night.

"I left there the next morning at 9 o'clock, did several errands around town. I went to the Postal building and to A. J. White & Co. on the Board of Trade, where I drew $187. I had in all about $225 in my pocket that morning.

THE LOST IS FOUND

Berwyn Resident's Disappearance "Explained" by Auto Accident.

Milan M. Hitchcock

THE ACCIDENT; THE DAZE

"After lunch I started out to see William Dix of the Thomas Charles company on Calumet avenue. They deal in school supplies and I had a business matter with them. It was around 2 o'clock. I took the Cottage Grove avenue car and went down to Twenty-second or Twenty-third streets. Crossing Prairie I had just reached the curb when I was struck by a big touring car. I remember that it was a big car, but that is all I remember. I jumped and it threw me head down into the curb. I struck the side of my head on the curb.

"They stopped and picked me up. What they did with me I do not know. I knew nothing from that time until after dark in a railway coach. I looked around in amazement, wondering what I was doing there. The coach was well filled. While I was puzzling the thing out a man sitting next to me said:

"'This is your station.'

"The train was slowing down and I got up to go, acting mechanically.

"He stopped me and said:

"'This is your overcoat.'

"I started again and he said:

"'This is your grip.'

Finds Self in South.

"I finally got off the coach and looked around. The station was down south somewhere. It was far from town and there were few people around. It was about 7 or 8 o'clock in the evening.

"I do not recall anything of the man who spoke to me in the train. I found myself in a strange place with a grip I had never seen before.

"I waited around until a train came in from the south and a number of persons got off. I followed them to the hotel.

"I registered all right, but happened to look at the top of the book and saw that it was Jan. 9.

"I thought this was a funny old hotel with its dates mixed up and looked around for a paper. It was the paper of the day before and said Jan. 8. Then I spoke to the proprietor and asked him the date. He told me it was Jan. 9.

First Thought of Wife.

"I did not fully realize what had happened. I thought first that I had missed Thanksgiving at home. I thought of my wife and how she must be worrying. Then I went to the telegraph station and sent her a wire.

"That phrase in the message, 'Have found the time,' was suggested by an old saying of ours in the house. There is a poem by Pal Lawrence Dunbar about the turkey that was happy because he didn't know what time it was. We used to say that at home a good deal. So I thought she would understand when I told her I had found the time. I did not realize at all the seriousness of the situation.

"When my brother telegraphed me that he was coming I did not know why he should come for me. I slept all right that night and would have started home in the morning only I found I could not make any better time than on the night train and waited for a message.

Constant Headache.

"I found that I felt pretty rotten physically, but did not seem to have any bruises. My head ached all the time. There was no evidence I had been injured. I tried to figure out what had happened to me and could not remember anything except being picked up after the accident. I would like to find the man who picked me up and find that he was worth half a million. Then I might get enough money to make another trip down to that town—what is it—Covington.

"I found that my hair had not been cut and I had several days' growth of beard. I looked in my pockets and found everything missing except a key ring with a new key on it, and a lodge medal with the name of Berwyn on it.

"I did not recognize my grip. I had on a shirt I had never seen before. My key ring was the same. My card case was empty. I opened the suitcase with the key in my pocket and found in it an envelope containing $50. I recognized this as some of my money.

Papers Missing.

"There were two pairs of cotton pajamas and one of my own shirts which had been laundered. My identification card was gone and Masonic receipts. All my letters were gone and some club papers. There was nothing left to show who I was. I found on my own shirt the laundry mark of J. W. D.

"I have no conjecture, unless the person who picked me up hid me somewhere to avoid a damage suit. I do not appreciate yet what has happened. I have been married thirty-eight years and have never gone away for more than a day before without telling my wife. That is the sad feature of it. I seem to be well enough to go about my business and expect to do so. I shall consult my physician, Dr. McNeill, tomorrow."

A BATCH OF COMMENT

Other figures in the case were frankly puzzled by Hitchcock's tale.

Detective John R. Hunter, when told of Hitchcock's story of his wanderings, characterized it as unbelievable.

"I do not believe it," he said. "I think it is nothing more than fiction, just as were the insinuations cast upon me by the members of his family during his absence."

William T. Dix, 5010 Dorchester avenue, who is mentioned by Hitchcock, said:

"I have known Milan Hitchcock for more than two years. I sold him the house he lives in in Berwyn on a contract basis. About the time of his disappearance, or the day previous to it, he telephoned me that he was coming to my office, at 2249 Calumet avenue, but was not sure he could get there before closing time. We close at 5 p. m. He failed to come. I expected him the following day, as he stated he would come if he failed that day. This visit, he informed me, was to close up the deal. He had been paying monthly installments. There was and is a balance due of a trifle over $1,000, and he assured me he was coming to complete the payment." He said he told Abner Hitchcock of the transaction. It never occurred to him, he said, to tell the officials. Abner kept the Dix story secret.

Official Is Silent.

Francis D. Hanna, agent central department military intelligence, in charge of graft and fraud section United States army, said:

"Milan M. Hitchcock told me his story in detail tonight, but I am not prepared to make any comment."

Edward Hines at his home in Evanston last night could not be reached. A woman answering the telephone and introducing herself as Mrs. Hines' secretary, said:

"Mr. Hines is suffering from a severe cold. He retired quite early. I know he is not sufficiently interested in this matter to be disturbed."

A. P. L. Agent Cautious.

Jery E. Winholtz of Berwyn, an active member of the A. P. L., and one of the first to begin an investigation into Hitchcock's disappearance, last night said:

"I do not care to make any comment on the matter until I can get more information."

Release Five Suffragists Arrested at 'Watch Fires'

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Five suffragists were today released from the District jail, where they had been imprisoned for burning copies of the president's European speeches on democracy in front of the White House.

DISTRESS CALLS ARE FREQUENT FROM STEAMERS

Halifax, N. S., Jan. 12.—Wireless stations along the Nova Scotia coast were kept busy today and tonight recording messages from steamers in distress. The most serious case appeared to be that of the American steamer Castalia, to whose help several steamers rushed yesterday upon receipt of word that it was in danger of sinking.

The Norwegian steamer Bergensfjord and the British steamer War Fijian were standing by tonight waiting for better weather before attempting to take off its crew.

A message from the American steamer Tuckahoe today said that it was leaking badly, but hoped to be able to reach Halifax without assistance. Tonight it was reported to be 160 miles from here and a tug was sent to it.

Late tonight wireless call for help came from the Italian steamer Ansaldo, about 120 miles southeast of Sable island. Its helm was disabled.

$3,000,000 THEFT IN WAR CHARITY

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—A report of District Attorney Swann's investigation of war charities was made public today, with recommendations for federal supervision and control of all patriotic societies and organizations engaged in national and international relief work, and for a government investigation of the work of war relief charities abroad to which American money was donated.

The investigation, he announced, was the means of recovering $250,000 for reputable charity.

The district attorney asserts that deliberate theft robbed the war relief chests of more than $3,000,000 in the twelve months prior to the starting of his investigation, and says the wastage in other ways amounted to 65 per cent of the moneys collected.

FREED PRISONER TELLS CRUELTIES IMPOSED BY HUN

Released Chicago Boy Doesn't Favor Kindness to Germans.

BY C. V. JULIAN.

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—"Now that we have whipped the Germans, we ought to be real magnanimous. Just look how they are torn by the revolution, and they say that they haven't enough to eat. Gee, I feel sory for them. We ought to be real kind to them—like —— we ought!"

Seaman John Voght, who once lived on North avenue, Chicago, but whose home is now at 3042 North Rampart street, New Orleans, voiced that sentiment, and he ought to know. He was a prisoner of the Germans from July 7 until Dec. 7. The date is significant. At that time the German people and army were still confident that they would smash the allies and the United States.

"I hear there are some nice folks back here at home who can't find it in their hearts to hate any one, even the Germans," Seaman Voght said. He arrived here today on the cruiser Seattle, now in service as a transport. "Those people ought to have gone through what I did and to have seen what I saw. They'd think a whole lot different.

Don't Understand Brutality.

"The trouble with these people who can't hate the Germans, is that they don't know what brutality means. They never saw men deliberately starve other men or make them live in filthy, fever ridden, vermin ridden camps without letting them take baths for three months. They never saw a man beaten, really beaten. They may have seen some bird get his head punched, but they never saw a half starved, sick man beaten till he was half dead.

"I never was beaten, for, thank God, I wasn't British. Last summer the Germans hated the Americans, but they hated the British worse. Sick and starved as I was, there were times when I could have cried for pity at the fiendish brutality of the Germans toward the British prisoners. The life of American prisoners was a hell, but the life of the British prisoners was ten times worse.

"After the Germans got it through their heads that they were whipped they tried to be real nice.

Seaman Voght was on an American scout patrol boat which went to the rescue of a fallen British seaplane off Ostend. They went in too close and were shelled by the German shore batteries. One shell hit and wrecked the boat, but injured none of the seven thereon.

Go to Swampy "Hell Hole."

"We were taken to a 'punishment camp' at Dendemonde, Belgium. I don't know what we had done to be sent to a punishment camp, but that's where we went. It was a hell hole, located in low, swampy ground, where it was always wet and nasty. We had only one blanket apiece.

"Every day they gave us one slice of black bread and some soup made out of cow beets and carrots, but no meat. The bread had sawdust in it; I've bitten into chunks of it. Every once in a while some one of the guards would throw a handful of mud or other filth into our soup, just for the fun of it. They're nice, civilized people, the Germans!

"One of my buddies from Cleveland, sick from starvation and fever, had only one blanket and was having chills. I stole some wood and built a little fire to keep him warm. A big German sergeant major grabbed me and was going to threw me into the dungeon.

"We were there for three months and a half and then they marched us to Camp Rastatt. I was ill from starvation and exposure and in one town I fell down across the curb, too sick to get up.

Women Spat on Him.

"They were very sympathetic. German women spit on me and the guards cursed me and made me get up. A man who is too sick to walk, can walk when a bayonet is behind him.

"By the time we reached Camp Rastatt in October the Germans knew they were whipped. We were treated all right at Camp Rastatt."

Chicagoans Aboard Seattle.

Lieut. L. C. Bentz, 4415 West End avenue.

Capt. Edwin C. Mayer.

Lieut. Albert Robinson of Oak Park.

Private Bryan D. Ball of Byron Center, Mich.

Newport News, Va., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Twice reported dead, Lieut. Ralph Chapman of Chicago today denied the report. In fact, he was about the liveliest thing at a regular Chicago reunion, held in Camp Stuart debarkation hospital, this city. Chapman formerly was connected with the Fort Dearborn bank of Chicago. The refreshments were eggnog, with the real nogg left in.

Those at the reunion were Lieut. Joseph Katz, formerly employed by Swift & Co.; Capt. James O. Murdock, formerly of Bullard & Netherington; Lieut. Walker, Batavia; Lieut. James F. Fitzgerald, 5032 West Thirty-fourth street; Lieut. Sanford Claggett, 6314 Greenwood avenue; Red Cross Nurses Clara R. Wegge, 2859 Burlington street; Marie Anderson, Antioch, and Lillian Anderson, Kenosha, Wis.

The officers were all in bed with the exception of Claggett. The nurses dropped in during the afternoon to tell them good-by. They left this afternoon for Chicago.

Six Months in Bed.

Lieut. Chapman was riddled with machine gun bullets while near Soissons. He has spent six months in bed and tried to walk today for the first time.

"I was just getting ready to get into action," he said, "when someone gave me a copy of THE TRIBUNE. My picture, wreathed in a heavy black border, stared out. I read all the nice things about myself (I'm not saying whether I deserved them or not), and thought at the time that the obituary might turn out to be true before I reached home.

"When they got me at Soissons I thought of that crepe draped picture the first thing. I guess I must have been hit pretty hard, for the doctors and nurses didn't seem to have much hopes for my recovery.

"Soon as the doc here lets me get about they are going to send me to the Walter Reed hospital, Washington. And from there I hope to get back to Chicago."

Murdock has Many Wounds.

Capt. Murdock, University of Chicago, 1916, nursing two badly lacerated ankles in a cot across the room from Chapman here, averred that the latter was not wounded at all, but fell in a shell hole and injured himself. Chapman came back with the charge that Murdock was bitten by a mule and fell under a wagon train, which ran over his ankles.

Capt. Murdock was with the Fourth division. A high explosive shell dropped almost on him and he was so full of pieces of shell that he himself picked some of them out with a penknife before the doctors got to him. The shell exploded so close that his body was covered with powder burns.

"See this," the captain asked. He held up a jagged piece of steel, weighing more than half a pound. "This got me in both ankles. I have not been able to walk yet, but the doctors say I will come around all right in time. Tell you something of my experiences over there? Well, I can tell you in a few words. It was h——l from the time I hit France till I got back here."

The "Hot Foot Man."

Lieut. Walker of Batavia, known among other Chicago men in the hospital as the "hot foot man," came in a short time later. Walker was hit in the leg and has a nerve trouble that makes his foot burn practically all the time.

Lieut. Katz, propelling himself along in a wheel chair, rolled in and joined in the conversation. He was reported mortally wounded some time ago, but hopes to get back to his home in a short time.

Lieut. Claggett was at one time with the famous "millionaire" contingent. He was shunted about France in one of the famous French "parlor cars" for eight days after the armistice was signed. His opinion of the French transportation system is none too high.

"Conditions now are much better," he said. "The Americans have taken over the railway systems and things are humming."

The Eggnog Is Served.

The nurse announced that eggnog was about to be served. A captain from Kentucky, minus one leg, proposed a toast to: "The nurses, without whom the war could not have been won."

The Red Cross nurses said good-by. They had looked after several of the officers in France and came over on the same transport with them. Miss Wegge was teased about the Frenchman who threatened to swim the Atlantic for her.

$50,000,000 FOR JUGO-SLAVS IN HUNGRY EUROPE

Drive for Fund Planned at National Meeting Here.

Sixty representatives of Jugo-Slav societies from all parts of the United States met yesterday at the La Salle to devise plans for raising $50,000,000 for starving and homeless Jugo-Slavs.

A committee of nine was appointed which in a few days will arrange definitely for the drive. It will urge upon all Jugo-Slav societies the necessity for taking part in the campaign.

Neighborhood organizations will be formed to collect clothing to be sent to Europe. The Serbian ambassador to the United States has been asked to facilitate the chartering of vessels in New York.

The meeting was presided over by the Rev. Francis Jager, who as a major in the Red Cross was in charge of relief work in Serbia during the war. James Keeley, former Chicago publisher, who recently returned from Europe, addressed the meeting.

The name chosen for the organization is "The Jugo-Slav Relief committee." It will ask the Red Cross to supervise its work.

TURK SLAIN; HUNT ANOTHER TURK

Radadon Deiner, 4308 South Ashland avenue, a Turk, was shot and killed early yesterday morning in an alleyway in the rear of his home.

According to the New City police witnesses said Deiner was shot by another Turk, named Joffer Mehmet, 4414 South Wabash avenue. A search was begun for Mehmet.

Both men had but recently come to Chicago from Erie, Pa. The police believe that the shooting was the result of a quarrel over a woman, said to have lived in Erie.

POLITICS LEADS ITS FLOCKS INTO NEW PASTURAGE

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

It is time for the Chicago resident to get his eye on the forest preserves —the undeveloped country parks of Chicago.

They are growing into a large institution and the commissioners in charge are wrangling about it.

Take first the first half of the last sentence, that the full significance of the last half may be more readily appreciated. The size, as well as the growth and cost of these preserves, is shown by the real estate purchased and contracted for during the three years of operation as follows:

Year.	Acreage.	Cost.
1917	8,417	3,335,540
1918	2,960	1,169,718
Total	12,353	$4,645,664

To visualize that acreage compare it with the combined area of the eight largest parks in Chicago as follows:

Park.	Acres.
Lincoln	517.59
Jackson	542.89
Washington	371.00
Marquette	322.68
Grant	205.14
Humboldt	205.86
Garfield	187.53
Douglas	181.99

Cover Great Area.

These preserves cover an area nearly three times that of all the parks, boulevards, playgrounds, bathing beaches, squares, triangles, and other publicly owned recreation spots within the corporate limits of Chicago. They are more than twice as large at the First, Third, Fourth, Seventeenth, and Nineteenth wards put together. They cover nearly four times as much ground as the Twenty-fifth ward.

All of these preserves are owned by the public and are to be operated for the benefit of the public. The property owners are taxed for their maintenance and operation. The tax rate in 1915 was 1 cent; 1916 and 1917, 2 cents, and the current rate, on which taxes will be collected shortly, is 6 cents. These increases further indicate the development of the preserve system, and the growing financial investment of the public.

Still another view—the pay roll—conveys a definite idea of the increasing importance of the preserves. This pay roll is also the subject causing friction among the commissioners.

A Political Asset.

It has arrived at the point where its possession is looked upon by the more practical politicians as a political asset. The jobs are not under civil service. Their occupants can be changed as often as desired and without the trouble of a civil service hearing.

The pay roll last year, compared with the two previous years, is as follows:

Clerical	$ 3,583	$ 3,328	$ 2,595
Treasury	2,499	2,499	2,040
Law	13,781	12,724	10,087
Realty	14,350	40,736	6,124
Forestry	10,396	5,531	2,134
Controller	2,303	990	.....
Engineering	44,936	.....	.....
Labor	.....	8,260	.....
Totals	$91,851	$74,072	$22,983

More property is to be purchased this year, and twice as many persons are expected to visit the preserves as last year. So, it is anticipated that the pay roll will go up.

Reinberg Runs Pay Roll.

Up to date the president of the board, Peter Reinberg, has the power, under the rules, to do the hiring and discharging. The law provides that this power shall be exercised by the board, and a majority of the board, at its last meeting, presented and adopted a new set of rules. The president gave notice that he would veto the action. That veto was filed Jan. 10 and will be read to the board at its next session.

The reason for changing the rules was "a matter of principle," according to several of the commissioners. Those who voted for them are Burg, Busse, Carolan, Fitzgerald, Goodnow, Maclean, McKinlay, Miller, Pierson, and Wheallan. To an outsider it appears that the Republicans and Sullivan Democrats got together. The three who opposed the new rules are Budinger, who is credited to the First ward; Nowak, and Ryan, usually classed as Harrison Democrats, as also is President Reinberg.

The new rules provide that a majority of the board shall do he hiring, but that the firing shall be done by the president, subject to a review by a majority of the board. Reinberg has asked that the review be by two-thirds of the board's membership, but that concession has been denied him to date.

Expect Bigger Outlay.

Only Dame Rumor will tell what the majority intend to do under the new rules. One report is that the pay roll is to be increased from $91,000 to $138,000, but it is almost certain to be increased anyway.

Rumor says that eight district superintendents are to be created, seven or eight policemen added, and the number of caretakers increased from twenty-one to thirty-eight. Gossips tell who is scheduled for the existing jobs and some of that talk is as follows: Peter Ellert, clerk of the board, is to be succeeded by William Gormley of the Fifth ward. The job of controller, now held by Roy J. Barnett, is to be given Joseph Gill of the Twenty-third ward. Ross Hall is to take the place of Adolph D. Weiner, attorney. Edward Keeley, real estate man of the sanitary district, is to be taken care of, and a Bohemian —yet to be selected—is to be a valuator majority of the board.

Some of the rumors are evidently incorrect. For illustration, the man most frequently mentioned for surveyor is William Feeney, who before he went west for his health, said that he did not want the place.

SIR CHARLES WYNDHAM.

CHAS. WYNDHAM, KNIGHTED ACTOR, DIES IN LONDON

Leading Theatrical Figure Passes Away at Age of 82.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Sir Charles Wyndham, the actor, died in this city this morning. He was 82 years of age, had been a member of the theatrical profession for more than fifty years, and was continuously before the public in his professional capacity in that time, excepting a year or so during the civil war, when he served as an army surgeon in the command of Gen. Banks.

Sir Charles, on March 21, 1916, was married to Miss Mary Moore, who for thirty years had been the leading woman of his company.

BEFORE PUBLIC 50 YEARS.

Sir Charles Wyndham, through his visits to America, covering a period of fifty years, was almost as well known to the theater goers in this country as he was in his native England. He was a favorite of the English stage and had met with some success on the European continent. He had appeared many times in Chicago in various theatrical productions.

Born in Liverpool in 1837, Wyndham was the son of a prominent physician. His parents intended him for the church, and there was great consternation in the family when he displayed a liking for the life of an actor. To appease his father he agreed to study medicine, and about coincident with the time of receiving his degree he married Emma Silberaad, the granddaughter of a German baron.

First Toured America in 1869.

Wyndham's first successful appeal as an actor in the United States was made in 1869, when he toured the country. Thereafter he took part, mostly in London, in making important stage history. He managed and played in the Criterion theater for a generation.

Wyndham made occasional visits to the United States until 1889, when he came for a tour which proved to be his last visit for twenty years or so. When he came back about ten years ago it was in plays which were either unsuited to his advanced years or had lost their interest for the general public.

He was the London producer of many notable successes, including "Cyrano de Bergerac," in which he played the title rôle. He is best remembered in this country as David Garrick and, by the older theatergoers, for his acting in a farce, "Fourteen Days," which was afterward rewritten and acted by William Collier as "The Man from Mexico." Wyndham received knighthood in 1902 from King Edward VII. He is believed to have been immensely wealthy.

6 MAKE DARING ESCAPE FROM FORT SHERIDAN

Sliding from the roof of the prison house to the grounds outside the walls on a rope made of bed sheets, six prisoners escaped at Fort Sheridan last night. Two of them are said to be desperate characters.

Robert E. Osborne, alias Fay Van Avery, who was sentenced to the prison from Milwaukee on Dec. 12, figured in an attempt at a jail delivery there on Nov. 9.

Others who escaped and their descriptions are:

Wellington Prohl, 22, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighs 150; sentenced from Chicago for desertion.

Edward Hinckel, 27, 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighs about 145; sentenced from Camp Logan, Tex., for desertion.

Tracy Orr, 26, 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighs about 165; sentenced from Chicago, for desertion.

Fires Four Shots at Self and Gets Only One Wound

Despondent over the receipt of a letter informing him that his wife and three children are ill with influenza, Peter D. Jozick, 2645 South Tenth street, Philadelphia, attempted to commit suicide yesterday in Jackson park, near Jeffery avenue, by shooting himself. He fired four shots, only one taking effect. He was removed to St. Bernard's hospital.

JOHN MASON DIES AFTER 40 YEARS GIVEN TO STAGE

End Comes in Eastern Sanitarium; Illness of Five Days.

Stamford, Conn., Jan. 12.—John Mason, one of the best known actors on the American stage, died in a sanitarium here today. The cause of death was given as Bright's disease, with complications.

Mr. Mason came here five days ago from Providence, R. I., where he had suffered a breakdown while giving the premiere of a new melodrama, "The Woman in Room 13."

WELL KNOWN IN CHICAGO.

"Jack" Mason was well known in Chicago "on and off," and was a person of interest to a wider circle, perhaps, than that made up of playgoers. He was a grandson of Dr. Lowell Mason, the hymn writer, and was close kin to the Mason of world-wide repute in the manufacture of pianos and organs. As an actor, Mason knew at least two periods—one which carried him, as a good looking "juvenile" [he was generally referred to as "Handsome Jack" in those days], through a long line of light rôles in comedy, farce, and melodrama, with an incidental experience in the Gilbert-Sullivan operas. This period ran out about the time he married the late Marion Manola, a singer, with whom he undertook to star.

After a brief eclipse Mason resumed his career as a first class player in 1898 with Viola Allen in "The Christian," and from then till the day of his death was in demand for important engagements. He was leading man with Annie Russell, Mrs. Fiske, and other stars, and was himself the star of some successful plays, including "The Witching Hour," "As a Man Thinks," and "Common Clay," in which, little more than two years ago, he was seen for the last time in Chicago.

Following divorce from Marion Manola, he became the husband of Katherine Gray, and, in time, was divorced from her, also.

PHONE LEADS TO SLAIN MAN'S BODY

A phone call over Main 13, the general police alarm, informed the East Chicago avenue station at midnight that the body of a man lying in Locust street, near Milton avenue.

Residents of the neighborhood declared they had heard no shot. The police believe the killing took place elsewhere and that the body was taken to Milton avenue to give it the appearance of a Black Hand murder.

THE TRIBUNE'S PLATFORM FOR CHICAGO

1—South shore—south park plan.

2—Modernize Chicago water department.

3—Extend the Chicago plan—completion of the Twelfth street project and Michigan avenue link—development of Ogden avenue extension, etc.

4—Complete railroad terminals under way and develop other new terminals.

5—Build boulevards along the drainage canals and connect them with the park system.

6—Lessen the Smoke Horror.

THE SMOKE HORROR.

Chicago has reached a sublimity of high and offensive smells, of rancid and putrescent odors, of violent and pungent humors that assail the nostrils with stinging and irresistible malevolence. We have become the dowdy, flyblown, reeky slut of the municipalities.

We choke and cough and sneeze and sputter in the streets, groping our way through soot and smut and pawing the air for a chance to breathe. We stumble around in this sump of pollution, inhaling the grime and cinders and clinkers of a thousand acrid chimney pots, filling our systems with filthy and pestilent vapors.

LOCAL RECONSTRUCTION.

Some weeks ago the Chicago plan commission issued a comprehensive program for local reconstruction. It is the fate of such programs that they soon become hazy in the public mind, especially if they involve a long list of projects. For that reason it may be worth while to summarize again what the commission called its "reconstruction platform."

The vigorous prosecution of work already started in widening Twelfth street.

The construction of the new outer boulevard circuit on the north side via Thorndale avenue, etc., to Twenty-second street, and eventually farther south.

The settlement of the railway terminal problem, including the controversy between the city and the Illinois Central railroad, and the straightening of the river.

An immediate effort to carry out the south shore plan, which already has been recommended by the Chicago plan commission and ratified by the south park commissioners.

The extension of Ogden avenue from Union park to Lincoln park—a project which is now before the board of local improvements.

The construction of an upper level in South Water street to connect with the upper level in North Michigan avenue. The commission estimates that this improvement would save more than $5,000,000 each year.

The building of a new postoffice on the west side in the neighborhood of the proposed Union station.

The settlement of the traction problem with the idea of giving Chicago the kind of service it ought to have.

Other projects mentioned by the commission include Chicago's bridge problem, a new city charter, and good roads for the state.

While the list seems extensive there is no reason why a rich and prosperous community such as Chicago should not be able to bring all these projects to the point of realization. Some of them may require a certain degree of consideration, and it is quite possible that the plans may have to be changed in a good many instances; but in this city our difficulty has consisted chiefly in wasting too much time in discussion and debate. We have made few mistakes through precipitate action.

THE Y. M. C. A. IN FRANCE.

The work of the Y. M. C. A. in France seems rather to have been obscured and even vilified by reason of unfortunate mistakes than for anything else. We may assume that such men as Mr. Perkins were anxious to avoid all cause for criticism; they were anxious not to serve any selfish purpose, but to make the Y. M. C. A. function as it was expected to, and, we may add, as the soldiers had a right to expect.

An initial cause of difficulty was the request of the army department that the Y. M. C. A. take over certain activities which rightly belong to the army commissary. The Y. M. C. A. was asked to sell cigarets; it was asked to provide cocoa and chocolate. Now, this organization did not have the initial facilities for this kind of work; it did not have the men who were qualified to undertake the business. There was, moreover, the further difficulty of paying the cost of transportation both across the Atlantic and to the interior of France; and it is not astonishing that the United States commissary was able to sell various supplies at a cheaper rate than the Y. M. C. A.

We may understand that the United States soldiers, learning that the people back home had contributed large sums for the work of the Y. M. C. A., might easily come to the conclusion that they were being victimized. Their attitude was perhaps intensified by their reaction to the mental and moral attitude of many of the Y. M. C. A. secretaries. In saying this it is not necessary to include the men who proved definitely unfit or incapable; we may be certain they were weeded out as soon as possible, considering the rapid expansion which the organization had to undergo. The reference is rather to a certain quality of mind, a certain evangelistic method, which, however commendable, was not altogether acceptable to the men who were fighting the Germans.

Where the Y. M. C. A. was asked to furnish only entertainment—as was the case in most of the cantonments in this country—it achieved a very great degree of success. The organization never asked to take over the commissary, and it should be obvious that such enterprises ought to be carried on by the quartermaster's department of the army rather than by outside agencies.

In spite of various criticisms no fair minded person will deny that the work of the Y. M. C. A. has been in the highest degree beneficial. The organization has suffered from certain mistakes, partly of its own making and partly unavoidable, but it deserves the thanks of all right thinking Americans. If some money was wasted we must charge the cost up to our lack of preparation for the great emergency.

THE BRITISH NAVY.

Henry M. Hyde finds that the British and the French do not intend to abrogate any of their proved principles of self-defense and security. They will join a league of nations—but. The British will keep their fleet. The French will be assured in their own strength of the sufficiency of their frontier fortresses.

Out of what do these determinations come? Out of centuries of experience. The young, idealistic nation of America, the republic of the United States, annoyed by Mexico but unpressed by any powerful enemies, undevastated for a hundred years except by its inner convulsions, may enter a peace conference with childlike faith, but no experienced European nation will do so, and it is time that the American people opened their eyes to realities.

It does us no good to look at the little bird with an ecstatic expression and thus have an amiable photographer take our picture. We have proposed idealistic things. We have believed in idealistic things. We have projected our idealistic diplomacy into the complex of Europe, but it will not penetrate the realism of Europe, and we would do well to get onto ourselves, cease kidding ourselves, and begin to deal with realities.

We are perfectly safe and may be perfectly peaceful in a world of reality if we will accept it as such a world and cease to believe in fairies where there are no fairies.

Great Britain will not surrender supremacy of the seas. It is lunatic to think she will. It is lunatic to suggest that she do so. It would be lunatic of her government to do it.

Secretary Daniels when he told congress that the United States was prepared, unless Great Britain subscribed in full to the league of nations and to disarmament, to build a navy which would be incomparably greater than Great Britain's was blowing a tin whistle against all the winds of history.

He made American policy foolish. He made the British think we were crazy. He said, to make the matter worse, that he spoke with the authority of President Wilson, and that he announced a government policy. The British regarded the utterance with amazement, incredulity, dislike, and impatience.

That statement of Daniels was a toy pistol presented at the head of the British nation. The British found it an implied threat and found the threat futile. Has Mr. Daniels ever heard of that distinguished sailor and profound philosopher produced by the institution of which he is at present the head? Did he ever hear of Mahan? Did he ever read Mahan? If he has heard of him and if he has read him he must know that when a nation threatens British security by building against its navy it is offered two choices—to stop building or to fight.

Several years before the war Germany was given that alternative and Germany elected to continue building. The German navy is now in British ports. Spain, France, Holland, and Germany have run against this inevitable necessity of the British empire, and they are not on the sea as military factors today.

When a greater navy than the British navy exists Great Britain and the British empire exist by sufferance and no nation will exist by sufferance if it can exist otherwise.

Why can we not deal with realities instead of with illusions? We do not need the greatest navy in the world. Great Britain does. Why even threaten, in a foolish threat, the essential of British security when it is not an essential of American security? Our security is to be found in the second navy, indisputably the second navy, and in a citizen army under universal service. Canada is the British hostage to us, if we have this army under universal service.

THE ROOSEVELT MONUMENT.

The Daily News says that a memorial ought to be erected here to Theodore Roosevelt, but says that it ought not to be a monument and that it ought not to be in the forest preserve. It ought to be something useful and it should not be in the forest preserve because that preserve is too far from the accustomed gathering places.

We suggest to the Daily News that the projection and maintenance of a great idea is useful; the symbolizing of such an idea in a suitable monument is useful. The News seems to have a coal shovel idea of usefulness. It is not required that a thing enter into the ordinary, habitual uses of mankind to be useful. If this were so the greatest emotional impulses of humanity, the impulses which direct, govern, and color their lives, would be useless.

Lincoln's statue at the entrance to Lincoln park is not a soup kitchen or a water tower or a municipal cold storage plant. It is not a place of assemblage. It is merely an emotional suggestion which arrests the thought of every American citizen who passes it, which fixes anew in his mind the idea of a great American, which helps to keep alive in the minds of Americans the ideas for which Lincoln stood.

To contend against this we might just as well assert that the best art is found in a whitewashed fence or on the kitchen walls.

If the forest preserve is to be a thing remote from life hereabouts then we are wasting time and money on the forest preserve. We are not interested in parking these expanses of forest and meadow, valley and hill, merely to know that they exist. We are interested in doing so because we know that they will enter the lives of people here intimately and not remotely.

If the forest preserve is not the place for the monument to an outdoor American then the forest preserve has no excuse for being.

Editorial of the Day

[Christian Science Monitor.]

For forty years, more or less, Chicago has been protesting against the smoke nuisance for which the engines of the Illinois Central railroad have been responsible. The matter has, at times, taken on the form of a civic agitation and a political issue. The railroad company has made many promises from time to time and has gone to the length of adopting devices for the abatement of the nuisance. But no satisfactory results have been reached. Now, however, a real solution is in sight. The company proposes to do the only thing which any railroad company can do toward satisfying the public in this particular. That is to say, it is going to electrify all of its lines within the city limits. And Chicago feels much inclined to hold another great peace celebration.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

(Horace's Odes, I., 25.)

No more the pleasant serenade
On tinkling harp strings softly played
Salutes thine ear;
No versifier nowadays
Doth sing for thee his plaintive lays,
If truth be told;
Thy power in love's delightful chains
To bind impressionable swains
Hath fled, I fear;
In turn each graceless, faithless churl
Hath hunted up some other girl—
Thou hast grown old.
When thou hast many triumphs known,
To be severely let alone,
With none to cheer,
Is hard, but just. Thou in the past
Wert cruel, and art left at last
Out in the cold.
Ah! well mayst thou, when thou dost see
The fairer maids preferred to thee,
Shed bitter tear!
When flowers wither and decay
We seek for fresh, and throw away

CALCITROSUS.

IF Mr. Hines is to operate the railroads for five more winters we wish he would borrow, or copy, for use on the Chicago & Northwestern, a few locomotives of the kind used in Dakota and points west, where they expect cold weather in winter and govern themselves accordingly.

THE new Germany, predicted Von Hertling, will comprise six or seven states. The next thing decided ought to be whether it shall be written "the United States of Germany is" or "the United States of Germany are."

GIDAP!

Sir: Riotous news from Berlin says the Spartacans still hold the royal stables. Are they trying, in their Teutonic way, to give Berlin a stable form of government? I fear they are playing a dog in the manger game and wear a Bolshevik livery.

ENNISCORTHY.

CLEMENCEAU and Lloyd George having come to an agreement about the freedom of the seas, all that remains to be discussed is the freedom of the land.

THE BERLIN FOURTH ESTATE.

By JOSH SLINGER.

(Berlin Tageblatt-Line o' Type Cable.)

Berlin, Jan. 12.—Following your instructions, I arranged for an exchange service with the Tageblatt, which at that hour was controlled by the so-called government. I picked a desk in the editorial rooms and began a leading article, but I had scarcely reached the second paragraph when a mess of Spartacans breezed in and began to shoot up the place. Approaching the leader I said, "I hope my writing does not disturb you." "Not at all," he replied good naturedly; "but I must ask you to move your desk, as we are going to place a machine gun there. By the way, what are you writing?" "I am denouncing the Spartacans," I said; "but by rearranging the words I can just as well roast the Ebert crowd. I am an experienced newspaper man, you know."

He thought well of the change, and I resumed writing. When half way through my article the government troops effected an entrance by way of the pressroom, and threw the Spartacans out of the windows. This necessitated another revision of my article, but I had no sooner got it to my liking than the Spartacans swarmed in again, and discretion became once more the better part of leader writing.

This time I completed my article, and handed it to the Spartacan leader for his O. K. "Too mild," was his criticism. I rewrote the stuff, but it failed to satisfy the censor, and I had about decided to wait for another change of management when I happened to remember that I had in my pocket a copy of the New York Nation. I clipped and pasted one of its pro-bolsh editorials and submitted it as the best I could do. "That's the stuff," said Spartacus; so I hung the copy on the hook and reached for my hat. A machine gun bullet zipped through it as I left the office.

YOU can get an idea of the way they live in New York from this "lost and found" ad in the New York Times:

"Lost—At Biltmore hotel or in taxi to Childs, Columbus circle, brown flexible seal wallet, gold corners, moire lining," etc.

Four Lines.

Sir: In Orange, N. J., the ladies have organized an Orange Aid society. What do you make of this?

M. F.

WHEN Tyndall, or Huxley, observed that perhaps the keenest pleasure left to men past middle life was the jamming of common sense down the throats of fools, he deluded himself, we fear. It can't be done. The difficulty is the same as in the case of jamming food down the throats of the Russians—lack of transportation.

ART, if we may essay a half-definition, is the knack of not slopping over. And Josef Hofmann is a supreme artist. As for the quality of the sounds he evokes, we cannot find the adjective to describe it. Silvery, is the nearest we can get to it.

He Ran Out of Ears.

[From the Mt. Carroll, Ill., Mirror.]

WHILE the judge is passing on the offerings in the Singel-Button wheeze the students in the School for Colconducting might try their skill in headline writing on the following:

"Married, at the home of Mrs. Frederick M. Shadd, Miss Ethel Shadd of Pasadena and Mr. Arthur P. Roe of Phoenix, Ariz."

"'WE hear of Bernard Shaw, the great British writer,' said Peel."

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit, or the subject is not suitable, letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped, addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

CURES FOR BED WETTING.

THE mother whose one child is a bed wetter has a problem on her hands, but what about the matron of an institution which houses a thousand children of whom over a hundred wet the bed? In 1917 the Russell Sage Foundation set out to interest physicians as well as mothers in the subject of enuresis.

They sent a questionnaire to 300 institutions. The number of questions and maybe the nature of the questions were too formidable and only 100 replied. In these institutions there were about 20,000 children, and of these 9 per cent were bed wetters, while the feeble minded, the epileptic, and the children with bad sex habits had a disproportionate number of bed wetters in their members. The habit was encountered in many bright children.

About the first conclusion the investigators came to was that medicines for bed wetting accomplished nothing. Many different drugs were in use in the different institutions. The reports were uniformly to the effect that the drugs used were without effect. Another conclusion appearing near the top of the list was, "Circumcision and other surgical operations should be sparingly resorted to, and only when proper diagnosis has shown them to be necessary."

Then follows a positive suggestion in contrast to the array of negative ones: "Careful regulation of the diet and the limitation of the use of fluids the latter part of each day are excellent aids in overcoming the habit."

Corporal punishment and all other forms of punishment were found to be useless with practical unanimity according to the reports. On the other hand, the use of a system of rewards for keeping dry was generally found to be of considerable service. "The wise use of rewards and deprivations is a proper form of will stimulus and motivation," and special results may be expected in many cases from proper instruction, stimulation of the will, and the use of strong motivation. The use of knotted towels worn around the abdomen and other mechanical devices to prevent sleeping on the back was reported to be of service in some institutions but not in others.

"The use of appliances to prevent sleeping on the back, of beds elevated at the foot, of cold baths, and similar devices should be directed always by some one skilled and responsible."

"The use of night nurses and intelligent watchmen to study the night habits of enuresis cases, waken the children, and get them up at suitable hours is essential for all sorts of cases."

Among some of the suggestions are these:

Same food as others, but last three hours before bedtime water is allowed only sparingly.

We restrict the use of wet foods and water at and after the evening meal.

No milk for supper and no water after 4 p. m. except in warm weather.

We allow no candy or other sweets and very little water after 5 p. m.

Children allowed to drink freely in the early part of the day, but no milk or water at supper or after.

Dr. Knight reports excellent results from breaking the rhythm. In other words, they determine by observation the hours at which the child is due to wet the bed and awaken him before that time arrives.

A brief period of control was successful in 85 per cent of the cases on which the method was employed.

A strong mental stimulus to overcome the habit was generally reported as being an excellent method of cure.

ELUSIVE SYMPTOMS.

M. S. writes: "As I have been a sufferer from gallstones and gall bladder trouble for years, I have just been advised to use sodium hyposulphite each morning until cured. Now I wish to ask what this is; also what effect does it have? The person in question claims to have been completely cured from same after being in serious condition. Would you advise its use?"

REPLY.

Sodium hyposulphite is a salt somewhat similar to epsom salts in action, though it tastes worse than that unpleasant salt. It is a saline purge. Solium hyposulphite, magnesium sulphate, and sodium phosphate are used for gall bladder disease. Perhaps they do some good. The symptoms of gall stones are so liable to subside spontaneously that most any old remedy is liable to get a reputation as a cure for gall stones.

LIGHT LUNCH.

Inquirer writes: "Kindly say through your valuable column if it is injurious to a person only to eat for lunch four figs, seven dates, five walnuts, and one apple. Or, would you advise adding some other kind of food? And if so, what kind would you advise? Also, if the person would be better without the apple."

REPLY.

THYROID.

R. M. L. writes: "I am writing to ask whether it is safe to use Marinola tablets to reduce weight. I have seen these advertised in the "L" trains and am wondering whether these are not something different from the ordinary anti-fat cures, most of which, I have heard, are harmful. I will look for your answer each day in the paper."

REPLY.

I do not advise you to use any thyroid preparation for obesity. Marinola contains thyroid.

The FRIEND of the SOLDIER

The Friend of the Soldier will coöperate with the war risk insurance bureau of the treasury department, 1307 Stock Exchange building, Chicago, and with the committee of the Chicago Bar association on legal assistance to soldiers and sailors, 105 West Monroe street.

Address inquiries to Friend of the Soldier, "Chicago Tribune." Answers to as many as possible will be published in this department. To insure a personal reply an addressed and stamped envelope should be inclosed.

No attention will be paid to anonymous letters.

CHICAGO BOYS ALLEGE FAVORITISM.

The following has been received from Camp Jackson, S. C., soldiers who style themselves "Chicago boys of the 156th depot brigade":

"According to demobilization plans we were supposed to have been mustered out before replacement units and combat units, but for some reason or other we are still held here, drilling thirty-four hours a week, while other units are drilling about three hours a day and having a good time.

"We are told that we are to take care of the venereals here in camp, which of course is not fair to us. We boys have lived a clean life while in the army, and now when the time comes for us to be mustered out we are held here to take care of the men who have not lived a clean life and have contracted some sickness. I am sure that the people of Chicago do not think this is doing us justice and we appeal to them for their cooperation to investigate this matter and find out for what reasons we are being held.

"When the time came for the company to be reduced to sixty men, the men with dependents were not given preference, but the best men of the company were held and the others released, and also in this respect a great deal of partiality was shown. We would appreciate very much to have you publish this for information to the public."

LOCATING AN INDIVIDUAL.

Chicago, Jan. 2.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I wonder if you could help us in locating our boy in the service. He was in the Fifty-fourth regiment of coast artillery with the American E. F. He enlisted in Hammond, Ind., and we have not heard from him since last August.

LUCILLE B.

We could not locate this soldier for you ourselves; it will be necessary for you to refer the case to the adjutant general, United States army, Washington, D. C. As that department is overloaded with inquiries just now, a reply to a letter would be greatly delayed; we advise that you send a wire.

NO LATER INFORMATION.

Streator, Ill.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I am very anxious to know when the Sixty-eighth coast artillery corps will return. They left Fort Terry last August. In a recent issue of THE TRIBUNE this regiment was included in a list published. Have they been detailed for some special work or will they be back soon?

MRS. G. L.

As this unit was named for an early return it is scarcely probable that they would be detailed for some special duties which would keep them in France. No date has been set for their embarkation, but when this is decided upon the war department will make announcement through the newspapers.

MANY QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

H. Hunt—The Eighty-ninth division is now occupying the districts of Prum, Bitburg, Trier, and Saarburg.

Mrs. Laudman—You probably refer to the divisions listed a few days ago, to return—the Thirtieth, Thirty-seventh, and the Ninety-first. No divisions in the army of occupation have been designated for an early return. Neither of those mentioned above are in the army of occupation.

J. McD.—The largest United States naval base is at Hampton Roads.

Leah M.—The air service men are rapidly being sent home. We do not have any information about the dates for the demobilization of forces which are still in United States camps. If you can conscientiously claim that you need your husband's support, we advise that you go to a notary public and swear to a statement to this effect, and send this to your husband's commanding officer.

Francis K.—Men in special and limited service were permitted to work in munitions plants. Men in this class were not physically fit for military duty.

H. Keith—The One Hundred and Sixty-first infantry is with the Forty-first division; they are not in the army of occupation; have not been named yet for a return.

Mrs. E. D. L.—We have no information about the return of the Three Hundred and Thirty-seventh F. A. On Dec. 12 they were at Toul, France.

Mrs. J. Murphy—The Three Hundred and Thirty-third machine gun battalion is still a part of the Eighty-sixth division; the Tenth field artillery is in the Third division in the army of occupation; the One Hundred and First F. A. is in the Twenty-sixth division in the army of occupation.

Glen F. T.—The Fifth Trench Mortar battery is in the Fifth division. They will not be home for some time as this division is part of the army of occupation.

Emma Healy—It is not called the national army any more; all come under the heading of the United States army.

Guy B.—If you have not yet received your son's Liberty bonds which he bought in camp write to the deposits and allotments branch, central disbursing division, office of the quartermaster general, Washington, D. C.

M. Graesek—The Sixty-fourth infantry is in the army of occupation with the Seventh division; the Seventh division and the Thirty-third were added to the army of occupation at a later date than the other divisions.

Lieut. B. F.—Theoretically, the uniform is saluted, not the man.

B. B. Q.—On Nov. 11 the Eightieth division was at Sommauthe and St. Dizier. They are not in the army of occupation.

I. C. T.—The Fifth division is in command of Maj. Gen. Hanson E. Ely. It is not known how soon this division will return, as it is in the army of occupation.

V. E. Jackson—The One Hundred and Fifteenth trench mortar battery is with the Fortieth division. No mention has been made of their return, but they are not in the army of occupation.

Private McKay—It has not been decided yet if the men are to be permitted to keep their uniforms or not. This question is being considered now.

Anna C.—The Pocahontas is a ship, not the name of a division.

Mrs. Hall—The commander of the Seventy-seventh regiment of artillery is Col. Archibald F. Commiskey.

"And so you got sick leave?"
"Well, lady, I took it without asking—about half-way across the channel."

PAYING TAXES.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—It is my understanding that there was recently passed a law by which taxpayers might pay a portion of the entire assessment in the spring and the balance in the fall. Is this correct?

E. H.

There has not been any new law passed in the state of Illinois such as you seem to have in mind, and the requirements of the present law affecting tax collections make it necessary for the taxpayer in Cook county to pay his taxes on or before May 1 of each year, and thereafter a penalty of 1 per cent per month accrues until the taxes are paid. If the taxes are not paid on or about Aug. 1 the county treasurer is compelled to sell all delinquent property for nonpayment of general taxes and special assessments.

JACOB LINDHEIMER,
Assistant County Treasurer.

KEATING AVENUE LIGHTS.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The street lamps on Keating avenue between Sixty-first and Sixty-third streets are very seldom burning, especially on very dark or stormy nights, when they are needed most.

This is an unpaved street and a stranger would not be able to find his way. Cannot something be done about this?

C. W. T.

This matter has been referred to the contractor who has the operation of these lamps in hand and we are advised that it has been almost impossible to secure sufficient help of the kind required to trim and light these lamps.

We are now informed, however, that the district has been divided and that two men have been assigned to do the work which was previously handled by one. This we are hoping will result in an improved condition.

WM. G. KEITH,
Commissioner of Gas and Electricity.

MUST SECURE LICENSE TO HUNT.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am a member of a shooting club in Wisconsin. The club owns and pays taxes to the state on four miles of shore line of their property, which the members use for duck shooting. Has the state a legal right to charge me for a nonresident license while shooting on the club property?

Have outsiders a right without permission to shoot from their boats on the club property when trespass notices are posted?

G. B.

Any nonresident must secure a nonresident hunting license in order to hunt game in Wisconsin, whether he be a nonresident taxpayer of this state or whether he hunts on his own premises upon which he pays taxes in this state.

No person has a right to shoot game from a boat in open water. Any person having a hunting license has a right to shoot from a boat inside of a natural growth of vegetation extending over the water surface and of such height as to offer partial or whole concealment for the hunter. The water is public property and is not under control of private owners.

STATE CONSERVATION COMMISSION,
W. E. BARBER,
Commissioner.

SPECIAL POLICE.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Has a special policeman in uniform, appointed by the chief of police, employed and paid by a private corporation, any duty or authority to act as police outside of the premises of his employers?

Is he entitled to ride free on the street cars?

J. M.

Special policemen employed by private corporations are sworn in as special policemen by the city of Chicago and have only police powers on the premises for which they are sworn in. Section 1921 of the Chicago code of 1911 gives the general superintendent of police the power to swear in special patrolmen to do special duty at any fixed space within the city. A special policeman is not entitled to ride free on the street cars.

JNO. J. GARRITY,
General Superintendent of Police.

DOWER RIGHTS.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. If a man dies without leaving a will, what are his widow's rights in his real estate?

2. In personal property? The real estate is in Chicago, also the personal property. There are no children.

3. What are a widow's dower rights in Illinois? The real estate is in his name.

4. Would husband's relatives coma in for a share on this real estate?

M. E. M.

1. One-half with a life interest in one-third of the remaining one-half.

2. All.

3. One-third of the lands of which her husband was seized during the marriage, a life interest.

4. Yes.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

DEPENDS ON WIFE'S INTEREST IN POLICY.

Chicago, Jan. 9.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there any law in the state of Illinois which makes a person wait two years before remarrying after a divorce?

2. Can a divorced wife pay for his insurance policy, which is a twenty year endowment policy which he always paid himself before, and collect the insurance when it becomes due?

H. E. B.

1. Yes, as to a party guilty of adultery.

2. Probably. Depends on the wording of the policy and on whether she had an insurable interest when it was taken out. Ex may have power to change the beneficiary.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WAS THERE PROMISE OF MARRIAGE?

Chicago, Jan. 9.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A girl kept company for four years with a man and during that time he would not permit her to go with any other man. Now he does not want to marry her. Can she sue him for breach of promise?

B. W.

Depends on whether there was a promise of marriage.

THE RAILROAD PROBLEM.

Albuquerque, N. M., Jan. 8.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—You say editorially: "But no discussion, however extensive, should be permitted to obscure the chief railroad need—not ownership or control, but the need for adequate and reasonable service."

This is much to the point. Service must not be lost sight of in the efforts to solve the difficult railroad situation now before the country. Railroads have only service to sell and the prosperity of the railroads themselves as well as industry and business in the territory the railroads serve depends on adequate and efficient service.

In all these years of agitation and resulting restrictive federal and state legislation and regulations, the country has gone blind to the fact that service is the real function of railroads. Passenger and freight rates have been depressed regardless of consequences to the transportation business. Railroads have been otherwise hampered until investors shunned railroad securities.

It is not necessary here to stress the importance of railroads in their relation to the wonderful development of inland America. There were men with broad visions who saw the possibilities of the inaccessible wilderness. They planned and built railroads that opened the vast interior. They had also to become colonizers and country builders to create tonnage for their railway lines through settlement and development.

An enormous network of steel spread over the country in the course of years. Abuses developed. Self-appointed regulators, often without any knowledge of railroading, proceeded to correct these abuses. Many a regulation was ill advised, and as a result the railroads were unable to raise money to expand their lines as the country advanced. Crippled as they were a year ago they were sent to the government hospital. The question is today, shall the patient be discharged at once or in twenty-one months or five years or remain a government ward.

Service being the first consideration, the public is vitally concerned in the solution of the railroad situation, and that without delay. THE TRIBUNE is doing the country a great service in its fair and broad discussion of this and other problems. The railroad problem is especially important, as it touches every industry and business.

A. M. HOVE.

THE SMOKE HORROR.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I hope that the general public feel as grateful to you as do I for your recent editorials in your most commendable and necessary warfare against the present intolerable smoke nuisance.

And in passing I wish to say that while I am in nowise interested in any Illinois coal mine, yet I especially appreciate what you say concerning our patronizing the product of Illinois mines when, as you correctly affirm, this coal can, with proper furnace appliances, be "burned without smoke." Chicago has already sent far too many millions away to fatten eastern coffers, for insurance, coal, and various manufactures.

You are probably correct in your surmise that consumers "perhaps neglected to purchase the necessary appliances" for the use of Illinois coal, which is, of course, no excuse; but you are absolutely right when you declare "there is no reason why we should not adapt our furnaces now to use Illinois coal," as has been abundantly demonstrated in both public and private buildings where scientifically constructed devices have been installed.

I most earnestly hope that you will continue your fight against this smoke curse and meet with the same success which crowned your persistent and forceful editorial efforts for wartime preparedness, to which this nation owes so much today.

THE ROOSEVELT FUNERAL.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Politicians and statesmen no longer tremble at the menacing possibilities of Theodore Roosevelt's popularity. Praise and eulogy are therefore forthcoming without stint. His funeral would have been made an occasion for military pomp and official ceremony.

One wonders whether the rebuke, implied by his request for a simple, private burial, has been felt by those who spurned and feared him in life.

IVAR LOHMAN.

DR. PUSEY BACKS PLAN FOR SHORT TERM NURSES

Miss Ahrens, However, Is Opposed to Cutting Down Course.

What shall be done to reduce the high cost of nursing the sick? How can the shortage in nurses that has cost many lives in the influenza epidemic be relieved? How can the services of a nurse be removed from among the luxuries available only to the rich and placed within the means of the great middle class?

Dr. John Dill Robertson, the health commissioner, in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE, said three years of training for nurses are unnecessary and result in a bar that keeps the guild of nurses to a small number, therefore high priced. He said six months' training is enough to turn out practical nurses—"1,000,000 housekeepers for the sick."

The question was put to two persons eminent in their profession yesterday. One was a distinguished physician, Dr. William Allen Pusey, president of the Chicago Medical society. The other was a graduate nurse, Miss Minnie Ahrens, director of the department of Red Cross Nursing Service of the Central Division and a director of the Illinois Association of Graduate Nurses.

Pusey Agrees with Robertson.

"I think Dr. Robertson is entirely right," said Dr. Pusey. "The nurse situation has become acute. It has been growing steadily more so since 1907, when the law passed providing for a three year training period.

"It is getting harder and harder to get nurses to attend to the needs of the sick. The war made the situation critical, and the influenza epidemic put the public right up against it.

"The result of the long training period is that few nurses are turned out, and these charge prices above the average means. As it is now, when the poor man gets sick, to call in a nurse is like sending for oxygen or calling in a high-priced specialist for a conference. It is the last resort and a sign the case is going to die.

"We need nurses for the great middle class. They are now used by the rich, often as companions of the very rich women. Nurses have become as much an evidence of wealth as jewelry and fine furs."

Favors Shorter Courses.

The reporter interrupted him.

"How can this condition be remedied?" he asked.

"Let down the bars. The three year training period frightens away many women who would otherwise become nurses. Many who start decide to quit because they have to put in three years without pay."

"What term of training do you think is necessary?"

"Well, let us continue to have our three year nurses. Let's call them supernurses or something like that. And then let's have nurses turned out in from six to twelve months to attend to the sick. If a woman can't learn to take care of the sick by that time she never will.

"Let me explain. The health of a patient is not in the hands of a nurse. She is there to do just what the physician tells her to and to care for the ordinary needs of the patient. She does not diagnose the disease. What we need is nurses to wait on the sick, not to treat them. We have physicians to do the treating, and there are plenty of them. They may be hired for little or nothing, if necessary, while the cost of a nurse is a set figure, and a high one."

Capable in Three Months.

"Would you want to be nursed by a woman with a year's training?" he was asked.

"I would rather have a good practical nurse with a year's training than a poor registered nurse with three years'. She cares for patients from the start while in training. In three months she is capable of handling them. The army made arrangements to turn out excellent nurses in a year. The Mayo clinic gives them a year of training. That's sufficient for me."

"Do you think the situation is acute enough to warrant action?"

"I think it acute enough that I will support any movement to give nurses a training of a year and allow them to practice in this state. I think we need a large supply of practical nurses available to the rank and file at reasonable rates. I think a change in the nursing law should be made to enlarge the guild of women who care for the sick."

"Lower the Requirements."

"Who would oppose such action?"

"The hospitals would, because they get women to work three years for nothing now. I suppose the nurses would be against it, because it would tend to increase their number and decrease their fees. In fact, nobody but the public would be benefited.

"In closing, let me say that we do not need two medically trained people on a case. Either lower the requirements on physicians and let the nurses do the diagnosing"—Dr. Pusey laughed—"or lower the requirements on nurses. Something should be done to help the public."

Miss Ahrens Disagrees.

"It's too short a period. Three years is the right time," she said. "Why give cheap nurses to the great middle class, the backbone of the community? The rich get good nurses. They can pay for them. The poor do also because of the community services.

"If any of my family was sick I would not want them treated by a six months' nurse. When the business man wants a clerk he wants one well trained, one with a high school education at least. I don't feel that a short trained nurse is capable of caring for sick people."

"Then you don't agree with Dr. Robertson?" she was asked.

"No, I don't. His statement that we were short of nurses in the war is not entirely borne out by the facts. When the armistice was signed there were more than 600 nurses in Illinois ready to go, but the government did not need them. There were 5,000 more in the nation than the military needed."

An Unparalleled Epidemic.

"But the public has felt the shortage, has it not?" was the next query.

"That is true. But we are in a period of epidemic that is unequaled in history. The war also used 20,000 nurses. We can prepare a body of these practical nurses to meet the epidemic, but what are we going to do with them in a period of peace, after the epidemic has passed over, when they are not needed?

"How about the doctors?" she continued. "You couldn't get a doctor during the height of the epidemic either. Why talk about the nurses? The situation with doctors has not been so bad, because one doctor could treat many patients.

"Dr. Robertson doesn't suggest changing the standard for doctors, though. When you prepare a nurse you prepare her to handle human life. She is with the patient more than the doctor."

"What is the shortest period of training necessary, in your opinion?"

"Well, if a woman had a college education, with the sciences, she should get credit for this. She should be able to make a good nurse in twenty-seven months, not less."

Soldier's Wife Is Strangely Absent After Attack in Auto

MRS. D. AVIDESIAN.

Late Friday night a messenger boy delivered a telegram for Mrs. Olive Avidesian at 1408 Washington boulevard, a rooming house. He said he wanted an answer. Mrs. Avidesian arose from bed, put on a kimono, a coat and her shoes, and went to the door. Half an hour later she returned, her kimono and night gown torn, her hair disheveled, and her face bruised.

Her husband, Daniel Avidesian, recently discharged from the army, was dressing to look for her when she returned. She told a weird story of a woman calling her to a taxicab, of a man dragging her into the cab and beating her as she fought to escape. She said she managed to get out at Fulton street and find her way home. Then she fainted.

She had no enemies, the woman told her husband. She could not imagine who her assailant might be. Saturday morning, when Avidesian was leaving for his work as a barber in Evanston, she asked him for money to buy a stove. Their furniture was in storage at the rooming house and they needed a stove for the flat they expected to take. He gave her $32, he told the police.

When Avidesian returned Saturday night his wife was gone. Mrs. May Hurley, housekeeper at the rooming house, said she departed about 10 o'clock in the morning, saying she was going to buy the stove. When she did not return yesterday the husband toured the streets all day in search of her and finally appealed to the Desplaines street police. He said she took only the clothes she wore.

Mrs. Avidesian is described as a brunette of medium height, 27 years old, and attractive. A 10 year old son, Lester Tuthill, was killed while on his way to school on May 23, 1917, and she brooded over his death for months. She referred to him in her reconciliation letter to Avidesian, and the police believe her mind may have been unbalanced by her sorrow.

'HER SOLDIER' WED ANOTHER; ASKS $20,000

Among other things, the late war brought something new in the way of a breach-of-promise suit. And if perchance the complaining girl should win, it looks bad for the soldiers and sailors who whiled away many weary moments writing sweet nothings to girls they never saw. Imagine this:

Miss Marian Gleason of Syracuse, N. Y., wants $20,000 from Edward J. Hants of Chicago, late of Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga. She admits in her declaration that she never saw Hants. Her bill of complaint alleges Hants promised to make her his bride, and she claims to have the letters. Hants married a Miss Rena Maynard of Atlanta last July.

It all started in the summer of 1917. Miss Lucile Meadows of Chicago was visiting in Syracuse and met Miss Gleason. The girls became chummy and corresponded after Miss Meadows returned here. In one of her letters Miss Meadows enclosed a note from Hants. The note requested that Miss Gleason write to him, as he expected to be drafted soon and would like to hear from "some nice girl who would cheer him up."

Miss Gleason was no letter slacker. Hants was discharged from service recently and now occupies a responsible position with a large manufacturing concern in Chicago, the bill states.

1,000 JEWISH RELIEF WORKERS RALLY FOR CAUSE

Nearly a thousand men and women captains of the Jewish war relief drive held a rally last night at the Standard club, 2400 Michigan avenue. They reported progress in the collection of the fund, but there still remains a considerable amount to be raised before the $250,000 promised by Julius Rosenwald, if four times that amount is raised from others, is available.

Mr. Rosenwald offered $1 for every $4 given by others, up to $1,000,000 after Jan. 1. Total subscriptions of $640,000 since Jan. 1, exclusive of Mr. Rosenwald's, have been reported. With Mr. Rosenwald's this makes $800,0000 raised, which, with $170,000 raised prior to Jan. 1, brings the total to $970,000. The drive will be continued another week.

As a diversion a playlet typical of poverty stricken home life in continental Europe, entitled "The Hope," was staged by the Players' club of the Hebrew institute.

ROW IN MORRISON LOBBY RESULTS IN TWO ARRESTS

Two discolored eyes and as many arrests were the results of a fracas at 4 o'clock yesterday morning in the Morrison hotel lobby in which three show girls, their escorts and a house detective figured.

A man who gave the name of Robert E. Paulding, 24, 1328 Rosemont avenue, a lawyer, and another who described himself as William J. Bryan of the same address, a student, but who is believed to be a retired army officer, were those taken into custody on charges of disorderly conduct by Detective Sergeants Zink and O'Hare.

Almquist said he ejected the group, which also included a man wearing the uniform of a navy lieutenant, from a room because the noise they made annoyed other guests. They were engaged in a card game, he said. When they reached the lobby downstairs, Almquist declares, Paulding and "Bryan" attacked him. They were locked up.

"DON'T WAIT FOR LOWER COSTS ON PUBLIC WORKS!"

Union League Club Will Ask State to Rush Road Jobs.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.

The war committee of the Union League club is preparing an appeal to the state legislature for immediate action to provide employment for war workers and returning soldiers. It will urge the rushing of road and other state construction and the adoption of a like policy by all cities, as well as other states and the nation.

The appeal asserts that only with an enormous amount of public work can the "grave unemployment problem" be avoided.

Do Not Await Lower Costs.

The committee, headed by F. B. Johnstone, is vigorous in its appeal. Part of it says:

"Only prompt action by government and municipal agencies, through the inauguration of public work on a large scale, can avail in meeting the impending critical situation, the consequent acute suffering, and the unrest that will follow in the wake of widespread idleness. Interrupted work should be resumed at once; deferred work should be begun, new work contemplated for a later date should be promptly planned and taken up now.

"The community should not postpone public work while awaiting lower costs. The cost of human discontent and resentment will overbalance a small percentage on monetary cost."

H. G. Moulton Prepares Program.

The committee's program rests upon a pamphlet written for it by Harold G. Moulton, member of the department of political economy at the University of Chicago, acting editor of the Journal of Political Economy and secretary of the Western Economic society. Therefore the booklet deserves weight and influence. Allen B. Pond, secretary of the war committee, writes that 100,000 of the pamphlets are to be issued.

Mr. Moulton takes up the different fields in which employment might be found. He says if the government appropriated $500,000,000 for reclamation work it would only "give employment at living wages to about 166,000 men for a year." Ten thousand men is the highest number ever employed in this work in one year, the pamphlet says, which doubts whether $500,000,000 could be spent intelligently in a year.

Urges Caution on River Work.

The professor does not take to work on flood control and irrigation, and he urges unusual caution in embarking upon river and canal development. He expects nothing from public utilities and holds out little hope of work from the railroads.

"If we are to provide buffer employment for returning soldiers, therefore, it must be on distinctly government projects," he says.

Eliminate all of the possible fields of employment, except railroads, and read Prof. Moulton's statement on that subject. It follows:

"The railroads appear at first blush to offer an excellent opportunity for a large employment of returning soldiers and war workers. There is no question of the need for thoroughgoing extension of existing railroad facilities; for the railroad net, owing to a combination of causes, was seriously behind the industrial needs of the country even before the war.

Sees Delay in Rail Work.

"The industrial progress of the country in the coming years now awaits upon railroad development. But, unfortunately, there is no assurance whatever that this much needed development will take place during the transition period. There is apparently not a large amount of postponed maintenance to be made good. And extensions can be made properly only with the consent of the shareholders.

"In view of the present high cost of railroad construction and the political uncertainty with reference to future ownership and control of the railway system, it is not at all improbable that railway development will be indefinitely postponed."

Expected to Spend $7,350,000.

Before the armistice was signed the union station roads offered to spend $1,400,000 on the station project this year. Since then they have agreed to spend $5,350,000; and $2,000,000 worth of other railroad improvements have been announced by the regional director.

At the end of 1917 the Illinois Central said that it had more than $1,000,000 worth of work on subway reconstructions. Ald. A. A. McCormick said yesterday that the subway work in the Sixth ward has been practically completed, and Drainage Trustee Nance said it is largely finished in the Seventh ward. This work appears to have gone on during a part of the war period.

It is not contended that this information is necessarily in conflict with the professor's views, but will his wording of his views interfere with securing such improvements and the accompanying employment they necessitate regardless of their size?

Gas Stove Eats Up All Oxygen; Man Overcome

Joseph Cusick, 2870 Throop street, a foreman employed by the Sterling Packing company, 2715 Archer avenue, was found overcome in the office of the packing company yesterday morning from carbon monoxide gas. Cusick was setting beside a gas stove used to heat the office. It is believed that all the oxygen in the room had been consumed, causing him to become overcome.

Compared with Apostles Daniel and Peter in Eulogies.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Theodore Roosevelt was repeatedly called the greatest American citizen since Lincoln in memorial services which were held yesterday in scores of Chicago churches.

He was eulogized for the sincerity of his character, the courage of his convictions, his 100 per cent plus patriotism, and the world-wide and age-long reach of his influence. His sudden taking off was mourned as a calamity in the present peace crisis.

"Roosevelt was our greatest American," said the Rev. C. K. Carpenter, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Oak Park, who spoke on the subject: "Our Teddy."

"He went further than the prophet Daniel, for while Daniel was thrust into the lions' den Roosevelt thrust himself in and, taking the fiercest lion by the beard, subdued him.

"There are, it is said, 208 bones in the human body, but Roosevelt had only one, a backbone."

Likened to Apostle Paul.

Dr. Johnston Myers in the Immanuel Baptist church likened the dead leader to the Apostle Paul in fearlessness and daring.

"Mr. Roosevelt was the foremost American of his time, just as Lincoln was of his time," said Bishop Samuel Fallows in St. Paul's Reformed Episcopal church. "He was the 100 per cent plus citizen."

"Roosevelt's immortality is assured," said the Rev. Benjamin E. Chapman, St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal church.

"He made the supreme sacrifice not only of his own time and strength but he gave his sons, and said when one of them fell fighting, 'I am glad he had a chance to show what stuff he was made of.'"

"Roosevelt was the gold star on the world's horizon," said the Rev. John Thompson, Normal Park Methodist Episcopal church.

Will Miss Leadership.

"The world is still at Armageddon. There is still much fighting to be done, and the voice of the brave leader will be sorely missed."

"In the death of Theodore Roosevelt the United States has lost its Caleb," said the Rev. John Gardner, New England Congregational church.

Capt. Charles E. Merriam spoke in the People's church in the Pantheon theater. He said:

"Mr. Roosevelt's usefulness must not be measured only by what he accomplished but by the impulse he gave others. He united in his career high ideals of public service with great capacity for practical achievement. His unconquerable spirit was never withered by cynicism or chilled by doubt or intoxicated by overoptimistic illusions."

Lauded by McCormick.

"No American, critic or supporter of Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "would have yielded him to any other country. We claimed him in life, and we now claim him as our own in death."

Judge Ben Lindsay spoke at a union meeting at the Baptist church, Berwyn, in which he related many incidents of his personal acquaintance with the dead statesman.

At Winnetka memorial services in the community house of the First Congregational church, Col. Roosevelt was eulogized by Maj. E. J. Vattman, Harold L. Ickes, and Merritt Starr.

David R. Forgan was one of the speakers at the Evanston memorial services. James A. Patten presided.

MRS. LEBAUDY TO CLAIM SHE KILLED IN SELF-DEFENSE

Westbury, L. I., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Marie Augustine Lebaudy, who shot and killed her husband, the eccentric Jacques Lebaudy, once "Emperor of Sahara," at their home, The Lodge, here last night, will attempt to justify herself on the ground that she acted in self-defense and in defense of her 13 year old daughter, Jacqueline.

Mrs. Lebaudy asserted that her husband had attacked her several times recently, on one occasion nearly strangling her to death, and at another time he stabbed at her with a knife.

Mrs. Lebaudy, who was in bed under guard today at the Lodge, spoke only with her lawyers, but it was said in her behalf that she had protected her life within the last few weeks only by an ingenious system of concealments and barricades within the Lodge, an enormous country house of about fifty rooms.

District Attorney Weeks questioned Mrs. Lebaudy briefly. According to him she said:

"Yes, I shot him. He was threatening my life for fifteen years and I couldn't stand it any longer."

District Attorney Weeks said that he had not decided what course to pursue, but if inquiry shows that the woman was forced to shoot in self-defense, it is possible no great effort will be made to bring her to trial.

Jacques Lebaudy had, in some of his past difficulties with Mrs. Lebaudy, denied that she was his legal wife.

The Truth About Russia

United States Senate

Guided By Reports of

Tribune Correspondent

FRAZIER HUNT'S mid-winter excursion north of the Arctic Circle is one of the big events of American journalism today. Hunt went to the Archangel front as a representative of The Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service to tell what the American doughboys are doing in that northern wilderness. He has told the story so vividly, so clearly, so unquestionably honestly that the United States Senate is in a turmoil over the conditions he is revealing.

His pictures of these small groups of American soldiers in their dreary, frozen, isolated posts, fighting and holding the Bolshevik troops by the light of the Aurora Borealis, are war stories that rank second to none.

FRAZIER HUNT

Born in Illinois, son of Jasper N. Hunt, author of many school text books; graduate of the University of Illinois; sugar cane planter in Mexico; owner and publisher of newspaper at Alexis, Illinois; star reporter in New York; creator of "Yaphank Bennie," whose adventures at Camp Upton first appeared in the New York Sun magazine and were later published in book form under the title "Blown In by the Draft." Went abroad for the Red Cross Magazine and became war correspondent of The Chicago Tribune, covering United States naval operations with extraordinary success. Now stationed in Russia for The Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.

The new Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service, under Floyd Gibbons, Director, has been in operation only a few weeks, but already Frederick A. Smith has flown to Berlin by airplane and Frazier Hunt has visited the Archangel battle front and told the United States Senate the truth about it.

REPUBLICANS SEE CERTAIN VICTORY FOR PRESIDENCY

G. O. P. Won Equivalent of 432 Electoral Votes Last Fall.

James R. Reynolds, secretary of the Republican national committee, held a conference with Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the national committee, and other Chicago party men yesterday. He left for Washington at night. Plans were laid before the spokesmen the latest statistics dealing with the Republican victory last fall. According to these figures, totaled from the official vote in all the congressional districts, the Republicans rolled up a plurality of 1,100,000 votes. The states carried by the Republicans have an electoral vote of 432, as against 189 electoral votes in the states carried by the Democrats.

"If we can hold these states in line next year," said Mr. Reynolds, "and it looks as if we would have little trouble doing that, the Republicans will come back into power with a record vote."

States That Went Republican.

The states carried by the Republicans, based on the congressional and presidential ticket vote, were:

New Hampshire,
New Jersey,
New Mexico,
New York,
North Dakota,
Ohio,
Oregon,
Pennsylvania,
Rhode Island,
South Dakota,
Vermont,
Washington,
West Virginia,
Wisconsin,
Wyoming.

While the Democratic candidate for governor was elected in New York by a Republican secretary of state was elected by 188,000, Mr. Reynolds pointed out.

Mention Longworth for Speaker.

As the last of the national party leaders were getting away yesterday it was disclosed that there had been considerable inside conferring as to the organization of the next house at Washington, and that there is a well defined feeling among the leaders that Congressman James R. Mann is not the strongest man they can elect Speaker in entering the national battle. There was some gossip of Congressman Nicholas Longworth, Col. Roosevelt's son-in-law, as the compromise candidate for speaker who could unite the factions.

SOCIALISTS TALK OF CONVICTIONS AT BIG MEETINGS

Berger and Associates Protest 'Persecution' in Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12.—Victor L. Berger, congressman-elect, and others who recently were convicted in federal court, Chicago, on charges of conspiracy and violation of the espionage law, addressed many thousands of persons gathered tonight at the Auditorium and other halls to express, as Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, chairman, put it, "indignation against the administration in setting aside the fundamental purposes of the constitution guaranteeing human rights."

Berger's address in the main was a tirade against what he termed "capitalism."

Attack Espionage Act.

Resolutions were read and approved expressing sympathy and branding "the so-called espionage act and the policy of persecution of our national administration as tyranny and despotism of the worst type ever known and attempted in any civilized country."

Other resolutions pledge "our money, time and, if necessary, our lives in their cause and our cause and the cause of human liberty," and "that this struggle will not end until the jail doors entombing them shall swing open and the cause of free speech and free press and of political and industrial freedom shall be won."

Comments on Verdict.

"The verdict of guilty against my comrades and myself for conspiracy to interfere with the armed forces of the United States could not have been returned in any other country of the civilized world today—with the possible exception of Japan."

"If any of us is put out of the way," he said in conclusion, "or falls in this great battle for human rights and political and industrial freedom, you must pick up the banner of socialism where we left it and carry it to victory."

He said he did not think congress would keep him out of his seat on account of his socialistic principles.

TELEGRAPHERS DENOUNCE U. S. ACTIONONWAGES

Increase by Burleson Protested as Too Small.

A vigorous protest against the wage increase for telegraph operators recently announced by Postmaster General Burleson was registered yesterday afternoon by the Chicago district council of the Commercial Telegraphers Union of America, at a meeting held at the Masonic Temple.

The protest recites that the increase is inadequate to meet the present cost of living; is not in keeping with President Wilson's proclamation establishing the National War Labor board; is unfair in that the wire administration fixed the profits of the stockholders of the companies before establishing a fair rate of pay; that it places the highly skilled commercial telegrapher upon a lower wage standard than the less skilled telegraphers in other branches of industry; demands a system of proper standardization of wages, lest the "meager increase already awarded" will be taken away from the operators; objects to the abolition of extra pay for overtime and Sunday work; the failure to make the award retroactive and to establish the eight hour day in all offices, and to the delay in the reinstatement of members of the union discharged by the companies for their union affiliations.

Protest to Wilson.

Copies of the protest were ordered sent to President Wilson, the National War Labor board, and the federal telegraph and telephone administration.

The meeting was attended by about 150 members of the union and was addressed by several speakers, including President S. J. Konenkamp. Following the meeting, Mr. Konenkamp gave out a statement in reply to that of Postmaster General Burleson, which charged that he and other union leaders are trying to foment a spirit of rebellion.

Konenkamp's Statement.

"The commercial telegraphers," said Mr. Konenkamp, "have an earnest desire to make government control a success because we believe in government ownership. We have grievances, however, that arise through our inability to get Mr. Burleson to keep his word as to reinstatement and wages. When Mr. Burleson took control of the wires he assured me he would reinstate the locked out workers.

"After fixing the profits of the telegraph companies he has now granted an increase in wages from 10 per cent down to nothing. This is the extent of our grievance and it has nothing to do with any other organization outside our own."

LABOR PARTY PICKS TICKET; FORMS "SOVIET"

JOHN KIKULSKI, Polish organizer of stockyards' workmen, for city clerk.

KNUTE G. TORKELSON, a carpenter, for city treasurer.

These are the candidates of the new Independent Labor party, named yesterday afternoon at a nominating convention at Hodcarriers' hall, 814 West Harrison street. About 400 delegates were present. All nominations were by acclamation, and were suggested by the executive committee of the party.

Organize a "Soviet."

Miss Agnes Nestor, chairman of a special committee named to draft resolutions concerning returning soldiers and sailors, presented a report which, after reciting that "our fighting men are determined that their fight for freedom and justice, for which they sacrificed, shall prevail at home," pledge "our help in securing for them more than mere jobs, more than temporary praise, but a vital share in the control, direction, and ownership in industry, business, and government."

The report also declared for "a special committee of soldiers, sailors, and workmen, to be selected by this convention, to deal with the problems of the returned soldiers and sailors and to promote their coöperation with the workers of Chicago for the advancement of political and industrial democracy at home."

The resolutions were adopted unanimously, after Miss Margaret Haley, in supporting them, said, "We haven't a soldiers' and wormen's council yet, but isn't that what this is?"

Rodriguez Quits Socialists.

In accepting the nomination for mayor Mr. Fitzpatrick declared no contributions to the party's campaign will be accepted from others than those affiliated with labor. He asserted that labor's opportunity in Chicago, "coming only once in a lifetime, is here and knocking at our doors." Kikulski also spoke briefly.

Former Ald. Rodriguez announced his renunciation of the Socialists for the new party, and predicted it would ultimately sweep the country.

BOAT WORKERS ON JOB TODAY; OWNERS BALK?

New York, Jan. 12.—With New York's harbor strike ended today by the decision of 16,000 members of the Marine Workers' affiliation to return to work pending arbitration by the national war labor board, Joseph Moran, president of the New York Towboat exchange, announced tonight that private boat owners would attend the hearing of the board here tomorrow and, under certain conditions, would "receive with the utmost respect any suggestion it may decide to offer."

The conditions named were that Basil M. Manly, joint chairman of the board, and six board members who recently issued a statement declaring that the boat owners had "violated previous awards" and had "contemptuously refused to comply with orders of the board," refrain from taking any part in the hearing.

"It is very plain," Mr. Moran said, "that these gentlemen by such utterances have disabled themselves from taking any part in the hearing by or deliberations of the board. The basis of every hearing is that the arbitrator shall approach the matter with an unbiased and open mind."

The four government departments—army, navy, railroad administration, and shipping board—have agreed to abide by rulings of the labor board.

Virtually a normal Sunday force manned the tugs, ferries, and lighters operating in the harbor today. Union leaders said the entire force of 16,000 men would be on the job tomorrow morning and would continue work pending the war labor board's decision on their demands for higher wages and an eight hour day.

BITTER CONTEST DUE IN HOUSE OVER DRY U. S.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The roll call in the house on the ratification of the federal prohibition amendment will be preceded by a bitter fight by the wets.

It is possible that a vote will not be reached Tuesday, although the drys expected a decision Tuesday afternoon.

Anti-saloon enthusiasts are advancing on Springfield. They have called a massmeeting at the First Methodist church Tuesday afternoon, expecting a celebration of victory.

Representative Lee O'Neil Browne, wet leader, will insist that the joint resolution must receive a two-thirds vote of the total membership of the house and not of those present and voting. The wets also will contend that the ratification, instead of a joint resolution, should have been presented as a bill and traveled through three readings in each house.

"Missing" Lieutenant Return to His Home

Lieut. M. E. Anderson, 1707 North Wells street, attached to the medical corps of the United States army and a former coroner of St. Louis, who was reported to the detective bureau as missing from his home yesterday, returned home later. Lieut. Anderson explained he had been away on business, and a note explaining this to his wife had not been delivered. Hence the alarm.

FINDS CAPITAL CITY NOT A LEGAL MUNICIPALITY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Stirred by the recent discovery that there is in existence no law creating the city of Washington, Senator Myers of Montana has introduced a resolution providing the United States legally with a capital. There is a law creating the District of Columbia.

The bill introduced by Senator Myers provides that the territory now included within the district shall be hereafter known as the city of Washington, the capital and permanent seat of government of the United States, the existing laws for the government of the District of Columbia to be continued in force.

"Those who are authority in law claim that there is no city of Washington," Senator Myers said in presenting his resolution, "that it has no existence whatever, that the supposed city of Washington is wholly a myth.

"From time immemorial, or at least from the time of the location of the permanent seat of government of the United States in the District of Columbia, all executive documents, all proclamations and messages of the president have had appended to them the words, 'Done at the City of Washington,' on a certain date. Until a few months ago, when some one in official life who claims to be authority on the subject informed President Wilson that there was no city of Washington, I understand, the practice prevailed. Since then the president has been appending to his official documents the words, 'Done in the District of Columbia,' on a certain date."

The Greatest Name in Goody-Land—

To personally report Reconstruction Opportunities

In France, Italy and Belgium

THE RE-ESTABLISHING of business on a peace basis in France, Italy and Belgium and the reconstruction of towns, factories, railroads and farming in the war areas give our manufacturers vast opportunities that need immediate attention. The AMERICAN EXPORTER will send two of its staff abroad to personally report these opportunities promptly and at first hand to advertisers in our French edition.

This Will Constitute a Reliable Reconstruction Trade Service

Conducted personally by the editor of the AMERICAN EXPORTER, who will sail in January for five months in those markets, and who has made many similar trips in the past for the AMERICAN EXPORTER.

Assisted by another official of the AMERICAN EXPORTER, who is now in France with the American Expeditionary Forces. His release from the Army has been granted, so that he will be free to co-operate with the editor.

The following cities will be visited, on which detailed reports will be furnished:

France: Paris, Lyons, Marseilles, Bordeaux, Lille. Strasbourg, Metz (Alsace-Lorraine).
Italy: Milan, Turin, Genoa, Naples, Rome, Bologna.
Belgium: Brussels, Antwerp, Ghent, Liege.

These AMERICAN EXPORTER reports to our advertisers will analyze trade conditions in each locality and give details concerning the leading business houses.

No markets are more important just now for American manufacturers, or offer greater possibilities, than France, Italy and Belgium.

During the period when those markets will be readjusting themselves to peace conditions, and will require to form many new connections with American manufacturers, our representatives on the ground will make it possible for you to be in touch with the trade reorganizations there and receive advices promptly by becoming a client of the AMERICAN EXPORTER. The special service you would be entitled to includes:

(a) Reports on trade conditions and opportunities for your lines.
(b) Lists of "who's who" among merchants and large buyers in your trade in each market.
(c) Investigations and recommendations as to your prospective agents.
(d) Suggestions as to methods and policies to be employed in pushing sales.
(e) Recommendations to local merchants of specific American goods.

The services rendered in the course of this tour are without charge to advertisers, and are in line with numerous previous tours made by members of the staff of this publication in the past 14 years.

Through these tours we are enabled not only to directly assist our advertisers, but our entire editorial and foreign trade service policies and methods are kept abreast of conditions.

Facts to be considered about the AMERICAN EXPORTER

1 The second largest journal in the world in number of advertisers. Over 1,000 continuous clients. In the past three months it has grown 50% in advertising and 22% in circulation.

2 Now in its 42nd year. The export advertising which is carried in its columns is thus not experimental. The AMERICAN EXPORTER has all the established position that is absolutely essential for the advertiser to accomplish the fullest results. This is an age of specialization. The export journal field is no exception in requiring specialization, and that is what we have done through over 41 years. We have gone through decades of apprenticeship in preparing for the greatest possible service at this time.

3 Published in separate English, French, Portuguese and Spanish editions, circulating in all the foreign markets among the leading business houses that buy American goods.

4 We offer our advertisers a service of translations of correspondence in any language, credit reports, selected names of leading business houses in any line and any market, weekly confidential bulletins of export opportunities, copy-writing and information on any specific export subject or problem, and reports from our representatives when making tours such as the one here advertised.

Let us send you detailed explanation of our complete service and sample copies.

"TRIBUNE" SILVER SKATES ENTRANT WINS FRANKLIN RACES

STEINMETZ' TWO VICTORIES HELP CLUB TAKE MEET

Table of Points

Franklin Skating and A. C.	33
Lightning A. C.	8
Corkery playground	5
Norwegian American A. A.	5
Sleipner A. C.	2
Northwest Sportsmen's club	1

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Winning two events, one of them the two mile handicap feature, William Steinmetz, one of the favorites for THE TRIBUNE Silver Skates Derby, to be held at Humboldt park Jan. 26, yesterday carried off the honors in the annual skating Derby of the Franklin Skating and Athletic club, held on the lagoon in Humboldt park.

Steinmetz's two victories helped put the Franklin club to the front rank in the point column with 33. Lightning A. C. was second with 8, while Corkery playground and Norwegian American A. A. tied for third place with 5 points each.

Good Races, Despite Slushy Ice.

Although the ice was too soft for fast skating, the events were keenly contested. The development of younger skaters and their improvement over the performances of last year plainly showed a new crop of champions will be born during the year. This improvement may be attributed in large measure to the tourneys promoted by THE TRIBUNE in the last few years.

Julian Steinmets, 17 years old, who competed in his first race two years ago in THE TRIBUNE playground tourney, yesterday won third place in the two mile handicap in an experienced field. He skated the entire distance with the leaders and was only beaten near the finish by his elder brother and Paul Quirk.

Another Playground Product.

Harry Kaskey, who won the novice race, is a product of Corkery playground and first jumped into the skating spotlight in THE TRIBUNE tourney two years ago. As a result of his victory Kaskey will now compete with class C skaters.

Playground boys won their share of prizes in the boys' events held in connection with the Derby. In the first boys' race for youngsters under 14 years Leon Emmert of Swift playground was nosed out for first place. He led the field until five yards from the line, when he faltered, and Raymond Johnson received the judges' decision.

Scratch Men Unplaced.

Roy McWhirter of the Illinois A. C., who recently was mustered out of service, and Charlie Fisher of Milwaukee, who were placed on scratch in the two mile handicap, found the going too hard and were unable to overtake the handicap skaters, some of whom had as much as 250 yards. Fisher saw it was hopeless and he dropped out, but McWhirter took advantage of the opportunity to skate through and help get into condition for future races.

William Steinmetz skated a perfect race. With fifty yards' allowance, he set right out to catch the limit contestants. Gradually overtaking the field, he nailed the leaders at the end of the first mile, then laid back of the group until the gun lap, when he again cut loose. He drew away from the field and won by fifteen yards. Paul Quirk won the decision for second place by a scant yard from Julian Steinmetz.

Team Race a Feature.

The two mile team race furnished more excitement for the 15,000 spectators than any event. Two skaters composed each team, and they were permitted to make exchanges at any time. The race narrowed down to a three cornered contest between Paul Quirk and Schultz of the Lightning A. C., Topper and Fisher of the Franklin and Samlow and Stowell of Northwest.

Samlow and partner led at the end of the first mile, with Quirk and partner second. Shortly after the start of the second mile, Schultz passed Stowell and from then on the Lightning team clung to its lead until Quirk crossed the line five yards in advance of Topper, who nosed out the Northwest team for second place.

Summary of Races.

Slams of Life

By J. P. McEVOY

THEODORE ROOSEVELT, AMERICAN.

Out of the dimness of the dawn
A cry has come that all is o'er.
"The Lion to his rest has gone,
His mighty heart will throb no more."
But we who knew that flaming soul
Know Death that flame can never dim
For, though his name be on the scroll
There is no death for men like him.

Death is for poorer, weaker clay
When all their little race is run—
Put a Star of Gold in the Flag today,
The Eagle's flown to meet the Sun.

It is understod President Wilson will speak English at the Peace Table and not American, as was feared at first.

"Have you dined yet?"

And the other Englishman replies: "No, not yet; have you?"

The American says: "Jeet?", and the reply is "Ju?"

A LAY ON LAYS.

The lay of the minstrel is sweet to recall
As he warbles a canto of cheer,
When he wallops his harp in the spring or the fall
It's a lyrical balm for the ear.

The lay of the poet has infinite charm
And a succulent sop for the soul
Whenever he waggles his wicked right arm
And scribbles a rime on his roll.

But it's little we care what they sing,
The Lay of the Hen is the thing!

Cochran Wins Balk Line Match from Young Jake

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—Walker Cochran of New York defeated Young Jake Schaefer, 4,200 to 3,855, in the 18.2 balk line billiard match, which was concluded here tonight. Cochran's high run was 188 and his grand average 31.81. Cochran has challenged Willie Hoppe.

WISCONSIN'S LAW FOR COMMISSION CONTROL KEEPS BOXING CLEAN

Walter H. Liginger, chairman of the Wisconsin boxing commission, has been prominent in amateur athletics for twenty-five years. He is a past president of the National and Central Amateur Athletic union.

BY WALTER H. LIGINGER.

[Chairman Wisconsin State Boxing Commission.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—All boxing exhibitions or contests in any form should be conducted under state regulation or not at all.

Not because boxing is bad—far be it from that—but on account of the unscrupulous promoter who commercializes the sport and only "boosts" boxing for what he can get out of it and for the box office receipts. As a result of this attitude, fake matches are set up, the public victimized and the sport itself demoralized and made disreputable.

This is the honest belief not only of the Wisconsin commission but also of every person in this state connected with the sport. The "square" promoter, such as we have in the sport in this state, benefits from the commission regulation.

Is Best of Sports.

Good, clean boxing, amateur or professional, under proper state supervision, is to my mind the king pin of all sports. Boxing can, however, easily be made bad and disreputable under wrong conditions or poor management.

The years in which boxing has been conducted in this state under state control has proved to all concerned the advantages of proper control. The sport has been so trimmed of its evil associations, the betting tendency, brutality, and commercialism, and has been so established as a clean, truly manly sport, that those who formerly were its bitter opponents have ceased from at least active opposition.

One thing alone, if no other, has brought this result. That is the freedom of the commission from outside pressure, and its ability to arbitrarily cut out any tendency to commercialism by the powers given the commission by the state laws.

Should Work in Illinois.

The question is asked whether Illinois should be given a commission regulating boxing. My answer is that if Illinois intends to legalize boxing, a law like that in force in Wisconsin, with a few changes, might answer all requirements of full control of the sport.

It will be noticed that I say "boxing." There is no prize fighting under the Wisconsin law. The contests are boxing contests, not prize fights.

Illinois can profit by following the Wisconsin statutes, if the governor is fortunate in selecting men to act on the commission who will have ability, stability and courage enough to enforce the law and regulations to the very last line, without fear or favor to any one.

Must Have Backbone.

If the commission lacks backbone in going through with a program of firm and fearless enforcement of the law, you might as well have no law for boxing at all, for the law would be repealed and irreparable damage done to the sport. The law should vest in the governor power to remove at his pleasure any member of the commission for the good of the service. This would make the board "sit up and take notice" that efficient and prompt action is necessary at any time the law is violated.

MASS BOXING CLASS AT CENTRAL Y. M. C. A.

MASS boxing, recently indorsed at a conference of Y. M. C. A. athletic directors, finds a place in the enlarged schedule of athletic activities adopted by the Central Y. M. C. A. to care for its largely increased membership and for soldiers and sailors returning from service. This new feature at Central "Y" is taught one night a week to the 6:15 class.

Cage ball, also popular in army camps, is enjoying a vogue which promises to earn a permanent place in the department activities. Basketball, volley ball, handball, and indoor ball are the other popular games of the competitive order.

The basket ball league of six teams, which plays Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights, will open its schedule tonight. Each player also will take part in athletic events to raise his team's total for the evening. The teams are:

Curtiss—Stock, captain; L. H. Hefner, N. Greenwald, J. C. Liss, Charles Wachter, and W. B. Moore.

Nieuport—Lapaglia, captain; A. S. Jones, A. Eckman, T. L. Ferrainn, T. G. Halligan, Charles Marcus, and L. A. Klier.

Martinside—Perry, captain; O. F. Scherer, G. J. Hichish, G. O. Nelson, D. C. Hammarberg, N. S. Ostropal, and A. Merkel.

Semi-Pros Take First Step for One Big Ruling Body

The first move toward organizing the semi-pros for next season took place yesterday, when twelve of the leading magnates, mostly from the Chicago league, gathered at Hotel Planters. The idea is to organize one big semi-pro circuit with some substantial baseball man at the head. The name of Charles W. Murphy was proposed. If he will accept, he can have the presidency. A committee appointed to wait on Mr. Murphy will report at the next meeting.

JIM VAUGHN LEADS NATIONAL HURLERS

Big Jim Vaughn of the champion Cubs was first pitcher in the National league in effectiveness last year, according to official figures just released. Not only did the Cubs have the leader but they had three of the first four men in the league, George Tyler landing second honors, while Phil Douglas was fourth, Cooper of Pittsburgh being third.

Vaughn allowed 1.74 runs per nine innings during the season, while Tyler allowed 2.01 and Douglas 2.12. In games won and lost, Vaughn was credited with winning 22 and charged with the loss of 10. Tyler's figures were 19 and 9, while Douglas, after a late start, won 10 and lost 9. Vaughn, with a total of 148, led the league in strikeouts.

Exhaust Echoes

by SHEPPARD BUTLER

THE annual meeting of the National Automobile Dealers' association has been set for Jan. 28 and 29 in Chicago, in the midst of the automobile show week activities. A huge gathering of dealers from every part of the country is expected. George M. Graham, chairman of the motor truck committee of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, and John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland company, are listed among the important speakers, and there are to be short talks on good roads, salesmanship, cost keeping, and the like. The big event of the gathering is to be a frolic, at which all hands will be guests of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, and any one who talks business will be fined.

* *

Every exhibition space in the Coliseum and annex is taken, and only two remain on the floor of the First Regiment armory for the Chicago show, which opens Jan. 25. Samuel A. Miles, manager of the exhibit, announced this and other things at a luncheon given Saturday for the sponsors of the affair. "Not a single manufacturer of importance who has taken part in earlier shows will be missing from this one," said Mr. Miles. "It will be in every way a national show, and, we think, in some ways the greatest of them all."

* *

Representatives of nearly thirty tire and rubber manufacturers of the central west will meet in Chicago today to perfect an organization formed recently and named the Midwest Rubber Manufacturers' association. John W. Maguire, general manager of the rubber department of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, is president of the body.

Alex Smith Makes Record at Bellair Golf Links

Belleair Heights, Fla., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—In an exhibition four ball match here today, Alex Smith, who is the professional here, with C. M. Daniels, famous swimmer, as golf partner, defeated I. S. Robeson, the North and South champion, and C. M. Ransom, champion of Buffalo, 5 and 3. Smith made 68 on each nine, which gave him 136, the lowest score made here this season. The other three totaled 84 each.

AT THE BILLIARD ROOMS.

To avoid conflict with the Cochran-Schaefer balkline match, which will start tonight at Mussey's Monroe street rooms, games in the Chicago league have been carded outside the loop. Tonight Thurnblad and Klatcher will meet at Schuenemann's and tomorrow Rogers will play Mannassau at Hub Hart's and Capron meets Lundgren at Monk & Reading's.

The proposed match between Augie Kieckhefer and Pierre Maupome for $2,500 appears to have been a "bloomer." A New Orleans man who appears to have been Maupome's self-constituted backer made the challenge immediately after the championship match at Guyon's academy. When Augie said he would play this backer demanded odds.

CHESS TOURNEY ANNOUNCED.

Chess players are invited to enter the victory tournament for the Charles A. Will trophy, to be held by the Correspondence Chess League of America. Entries should be sent to William P. Hickok, 39 Claremont place, Mount Vernon, N. Y.

JOB FOR C. ROWLAND? RUMORS LAND HIM AS PILOT IN TWO LEAGUES

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

Clarence Rowland, deposed manager of the White Sox, apparently has some baseball position in view. At least he stated yesterday that he intends to leave today for New York, to be present when the two major leagues and most of the minors gather there this week to reconstruct the national game. The former White Sox leader declined to give an indication of what his prospects are, but it was apparent he had several openings.

Berth at Indianapolis.

One rumor was that Rowland had a chance to go to Indianapolis as leader, the opening hinging upon the sale of that franchise. Jimmy McGill, owner, is scheduled to meet Russell Gardner, St. Louis millionaire, in Gotham and they are dickering for the St. Louis Nationals. If they get the big league club, McGill hopes to dispose of Indianapolis.

Another rumor with no definite information was that Rowland was being considered as manager for the Cincinnati Reds, and still other reports were that he might hook up as assistant manager and coach for the Cubs or some other major league club.

Chicago Party Departs.

PERSHING ASKS ALLIES TO BIG ATHLETIC MEET

American General Shows Interest in Games of 21 Nations.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The American expeditionary forces will finance and conduct an interallied championship athletic meet next May or June, which will surpass anything in the line of Olympic games which has been held in the past.

Associated with the American army will be the United States Army Welfare associations, with the Y. M. C. A. and Knights of Columbus playing large parts because of their staff of skilled athletic directors now on the ground. The meet will be held in the Colombes stadium, Paris.

Pershing Shows Interest.

Gen. John J. Pershing indicated his keen personal interest in the letters of invitation which he sent through their respective commanders in chief to twenty-one different allied countries. The games will be under direct charge of the American army as host.

In charge of the complicated questions of preparation for the mammoth meet will be a games committee, to be selected by the chief athletic officer, A. E. F. This committee, in addition to carrying out the tasks of organizing, financing, and operating athletic games on such a huge scale, will be the final authority on all matters pertaining to the games.

Two Delegates from Each Country.

Each allied country has been asked to name two delegates as members of an advisory council. The only cost to the allied armies will be that involved in training, transporting, equipping, and rationing their own athletes. The other armies have indicated they prefer to carry such expenses themselves. Symbolical individual prizes already have been provided for by the Americans and it is probable team trophies also will be given.

Gen. Pershing issued similar letters to the commanders of all the allied armies. In inviting France, he wrote to Marshal Foch in part:

"As commander in chief of the A. E. F., I have the honor to invite, through you, their commander in chief, the officers, and men of the armies of France to participate in the contests and to express the earnest hope that many of them may do so, that the ties of the much cherished spirit of comradeship which have sprung up from the gallant joint efforts of our forces on the battlefield may thus be even more closely cemented. Respectfully, JOHN J. PERSHING."

CAMP GRANT, 37; NAPERVILLE, 18.

Camp Grant basketball team defeated the Northwestern college five of Naperville Saturday night on the latter's floor, 37 to 18. The playing of Hemsath, Grant center, was the feature.

DON'T FUSS WITH MUSTARD PLASTERS!

Musterole Works Without the Blister—Easier, Quicker

There's no sense in mixing a mess of mustard, flour and water when you can easily relieve pain, soreness or stiffness with a little clean, white Musterole.

Musterole is made of pure oil of mustard and other helpful ingredients, combined in the form of the present white ointment. It takes the place of mustard plasters, and will not blister.

Musterole usually gives prompt relief from sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—What matters a blizzard of snow when it is accompanied by a blizzard of wool? That is the theory of the Paris designer who first launched the black satin or velvet wrap which is lined and trimmed with knitted white wool. The wool may be either hand or machine knitted, but the effect is just the same—the something new for which every restless mother's daughter of us is looking. We are illustrating here a black satin coat collared, cuffed, and lined throughout with the knitted white wool and fastened at the girdle with two knitted buttons.

PROLOGUE.

Jimmie Jones ..... Gordon Griffith
Little Mary O'Neill ..... Althea Worthley

By Mae Tinée.

Well, here's a treat for the youngsters!

"Now look here," Mr. Stone certainly said, "don't bother about giving me plot—give me action. These sitting down, moon howling, evening dress love contests aren't my style. If you don't believe Darwin was right, let me show you. Any stunts a monkey can do, I can beat him at."

It was probably then decided that a circus with its accouterments of tight ropes, horses, trapezes, etc., would be the best background to display the acrobatic prowess of Mr. Stone. So, "Under the Top" was written.

Behold then, Mr. Stone as Jimmie Jones. As a small boy he had been an ardent admirer of a circus man, Terry O'Neill, a proficient on the trapeze and tight rope. This performer had a small daughter who "capped" for her father's act, looking very fetching in her fluffy short skirts with her bobbed golden head. For her sake young Jimmie fought a rowdy who had annoyed her, winning as reward a smile and a picture of his god, Terry O'Neill.

Jimmie Jones grown up is a steeplejack and does wondrous stunts for the villagers. Then comes his chance to rescue a lady in distress who is none other than the daughter of the former circus man, now dead. She owns the circus and has fallen into the hands of thieves. Jimmie Jones does fast and effective work in rescuing her.

REAL LOVE STORIES

Do you know a real love story—one that stranger than fiction? It is the idea that wanted. No attention will be paid to terary style. "The Tribune" will pay $5 or every story published. No manuscripts turned. Address Doris Blake, "The Tribune," Chicago.

His Helpmeet.

I WAS 15 years old when my parents died and left me all alone to take care of myself in a small country town. The only thing left me from them was an old house. With the help of a friend I rented it to a reliable couple and went to New York, where I found work in a factory.

Evenings I went to business college, where I met a young man whom I learned to love and was quite sure he did in return. As soon as I graduated I secured a position in a concern downtown. My friend went to Europe to specialize himself for a better position in the business line.

I missed him much and wrote him often. One day I received a letter from him telling me that he would have to come back, as his money was not sufficient to keep him in school.

I liked him too well to let him come back without accomplishing something, so I took every cent I had saved from the bank and sent it to him. The last I heard from him was from Paris, telling me of his successful graduation and employment by a large concern there. I kept writing to him as often as I could, but I heard no more from him. Finally I decided to go to Paris myself to look for him, as I liked him too well to let him go out of my life.

I sold the house I had out in the country, took all the money I had left in the bank, and went to Paris. It took me a whole month to locate the concern he was employed by. There I was informed that he was discharged on account of intoxication. I felt terrible—the whole world seemed to come to an end; but my love for him was stronger and I made up my mind to search for him until I found him.

I had almost given up hope of finding him when one day I located him in a hospital. Thanks to the doctor and good care on my part, our patient recovered sooner than we expected. When he was strong enough to travel I got two tickets from the little money I had left and we came back to New York.

I went to work for my old boss and, with my influence secured a position for my friend, who promised never to drink again. A year later he was made a representative of the firm and transferred to Chicago, where we were married and are living happily. Z. C.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Had Ring Offered Her.

"Dear Miss Blake: How young can a boy and girl be married, with the consent of their parents? My sister, who is 14, has had a ring offered to her by one of her boy friends. She wishes to know if it is proper for her to take it. B. C."

In Illinois the marriage laws require that the girl be 18 and the man 21. It would be quite wrong, B. C., for your sister to accept the ring from one of her boy friends. She is just an infant, you know, and such ideas should be far from her young mind. I hope you discourage her having boy friends other than just the normal school boy and girl friendship, which does not include the acceptance of a ring by a girl.

Can't Support Rich Girl.

"Dear Miss Blake: I'm in luv. Will you please help me? The gal lives in the east and has a lot of money and I'm por and live in the west. She loves me because she said so—but can't support her. What should I do? "C. S."

If you can't support her, C. S., that is all there is to it. Love doesn't last long on a bean diet. But then there isn't any reason why you can't go ahead and make something of yourself and be able to support her. She may not require that you support her in the luxury in which father has raised her.

WEDDINGS

The wedding of Miss Minna Selena Trewartha, daughter of Mrs. Ida M. Bailey, and John Lewis Mitchell will take place Saturday at 3 o'clock at the Immanuel Baptist church, 2320 Michigan avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Mendelsohn of 4919 Vincennes avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Ruth, to Leo Wilson.

Bright Sayings of the Children

"The Tribune" will pay $1 in thrift stamps for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, "Tribune," Chicago.

I met a little girl out with her sled. She was so wrapped up that I scarcely recognized her.

"O, is that you, Betty?" I asked.

"Part's me," she answered, "but it's mostly clothes." S. J. C.

Robert came running into the house a bit out of breath, his hair disheveled, and his face scratched.

"Mamma, Willie's been fightin' me," he complained.

"Well," said his mother, "and what have you been doing?"

Drawing a deep breath and looking serious Robert answered: "I was a tryin' to keep him from fightin' me." E. R. C.

I had just hung a whole line full of tea towels out to bleach. Some boys were playing in the back yard and ran into the line, breaking it. Ardith came into the house excitedly and announced: "Mother, that whole flock of clothes is down in the mud." E. L. R.

A Friend in Need

Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friend in deed and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has outgrown its usefulness that will make not possible to acknowledge or return some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail, stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send parcels to "The Tribune," but write for the address of the applicant and send clothes.

Magazines and Clothing.

"I have a great many magazines to dispose of—all 1918 copies. I also have a good brown coat for a woman, last year's model; a boy's overcoat, size 18; a white sports coat for a woman, and various other pieces of clothing. "E. W."

Would Adopt a Child.

"We have a comfortable home and would like to adopt a child. Can you suggest a method of securing a pretty and bright little orphan of good parentage? Mrs. W. F."

Invalid Needs Coat.

"I visited the County hospital the other day, and a patient there asked me to try to get for her a large size coat. She is too poor to buy herself one, but if she had one, she would be able to get out for a little fresh air. "Mrs. M. C."

I am holding the address.

Oak Park NightSchool.

At a meeting in the Lowell school, Oak Park called by the Parents' association of the Whittier school, J. W. Ingalls, president of the Oak Park school board, announced that the board had decided to open the Oak Park and River Forest Township High school to night classes. Courses in commercial arithmetic, shorthand, typewriting, bookkeeping, citizenship, and English are to make up the curriculum.

Darrow Finds Proof of Life's Futility in the Death of Friend

Clarence Darrow said yesterday the death of Prof. George Burman Foster of the University of Chicago last Dec. 22 proved life is not worth living and there is no purpose in the universe.

Mr. Darrow spoke at a memorial service for Prof. Foster at the Garrick theater. On three prior occasions he and Prof. Foster had debated from the platform of the Garrick, and among the questions were the two referred to yesterday by Mr. Darrow, "Is life worth living?" and "Is there a purpose in the universe?" Mr. Darrow maintained in the debates the negative side. Prof. Foster the positive side.

"That a great brain like Prof. Foster's should be destroyed clearly proves life is not worth living and the universe is without a purpose," said Mr. Darrow.

"Prof. Foster was often described as a religious man. Whether he was religious or not depends on the definition of religion.

"If religion means faith in a creed, or a positive belief in a personal deity, or a fixed conviction of immortal life, he was not a religious man. If religion means love of one's fellow man, kindness, charity, and a broad humanitarianism, he was the most religious man I ever knew.

"No man stood higher in scholarship and no man knew more of philosophy. No one could be more helpful in solving all the problems of life which every one meets day by day. He always stood for freedom of belief, the rights of the individual to live his own life, free and unafraid.

"I have no creed or philosophy that can find consolation in a time like this. To me life is life and death is death.

"His going out has been expressed by Hausman on a similar occasion in his beautiful poem, "The Shropshire Lad." It reads:

"Now hollow fires burn out to black,
And lights are guttering low;
Square your shoulders, lift your pack,
And leave your friends and go.

"O, never fear, there's naught to dread;
In all the endless road you tread
There's nothing but the night."

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

MILDRED: I AM SORRY THAT I cannot recommend to you the use of a prepared dye. There are so few preparations that dye the hair without leaving an aftermath of hair troubles. Once dyed, the hair requires constant attention to keep it the same shade. But if you insist on having it done, don't attempt to dye it yourself. Have it done by an expert. And I would suggest henna as one of the least harmful of dyes. It is handled by experts in various shades, not confined to the unsightly bricky color one associates with it.

IRENE: INVARIABLY THE CAUSE of cold hands and cold feet is poor circulation. You will have to build up your system with fresh air and good food before you can expect a remedy. This is an excellent time of year to begin working, because the outdoors offers the most brisk kind of exercise and toning up of the system in walks and skating. Give yourself at the least one-half hour outdoors in the evening after work and every minute thereafter is just that much more golden for you. A girl who works in a poorly ventilated place has to make it a business in order to keep her health and strength to do a certain amount of exercising daily. Otherwise she will be a failure on her job and a failure in her health.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Apple Brown Bread.

Confectionery in the larger sense means almost anything made with sugar. Escoffier in his chapter on sweets says: "Pastry, confectionery, and ices are so closely allied to cookery and they are so surely its complements that it is impossible to omit them when dealing with entrements."

The best thing I have worked out as an "entremetteuse" this last year is candied apple, first prepared with corn sirup alone and later with sugar. Because I have found a secondary product, a jelly, I think this worth writing about again, especially as I have been invited to do so.

Stir over the fire one cup of sugar wet with one-fourth cup of water until the sugar is completely melted and until the sugar boils. Prepare and put into this two large apples pared, quartered, cored, and the quarters cut into three pieces each, or four if thick enough, and then each piece cut in half. Gently simmer this apple over the fire until it has become transparent even if it takes an hour. Drain off the sirup and pour it into a small jelly glass. It will, for most apples so cooked without the skin, be perfectly white and "powerful sweet," but it is serviceable. Dry the candied apple over the radiator or in a slow oven with the door open. If in a wire plate over the radiator put a baking tin under and tissue paper over, weighted at ends.

Two large apples will make about one cup of candied apple, enough to flavor two good sized loaves of delicious brown bread, baked, not steamed.

Take two cups of sour milk, one-half cup of molasses, and two level teaspoons of salt and beat them well with the egg beater. Sift one cup of yellow corn meal and one cup of rye flour together. Measure out one cup of Graham flour and stir it into the wet mixture, then add gradually the rye and corn meal, beating thoroughly. Add to the batter a cup of candied apple floured with a tablespoon of rye flour and finally two level teaspoons of soda mashed smooth with a knife and dissolved in the wet measuring cup with which the sour milk and molasses were measured. Stir until perfectly smooth, pour in middle of batter, spread over it, and beat well. Bake in two brown bread tins for one hour in a medium to hot oven.

Use tins just covered; not hermetically sealed. You will vote this delicious and as effective physiologically as any scratchy bran muffins.

I am not unmindful that "entremetteuse" means a go between. This bread is a go between, approximating a dessert, yet is a bread.

Have Color in Cheeks

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. All druggists. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

SOCIETY and Entertainments

Arts Club to Give Members' Exhibit of Paintings Today

The Arts club will be the scene of an interesting affair this afternoon from 4 until 6 o'clock, when there will be a members' exhibition of paintings. Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, president of the club, will be assisted in receiving by Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, Mrs. George Higginson Jr., and Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg. Tea will be served.

Mrs. John Jay Borland of 2616 Prairie avenue will entertain at luncheon tomorrow at the Casino for her niece, Mrs. Henry Bartow Farr. There will be thirty guests.

The second of a winter series of talks on current events by Mrs. E. S. Adams and Miss Julie R. Adams will be given this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. William W. Gurley, 1416 North State parkway.

British war orphans will benefit today from a tagging to be held for them by the Daughters of the British Empire. There are approximately half a million war orphans in England, many of them motherless as well as fatherless, and efforts are being made to bring into their lives a little of the sunshine which was blotted out by the war. Mrs. Charles E. Frankenthal is in charge of the taggers, and among the captains will be Mrs. George Cooke-Adams, Mrs. James Bryson, Mrs. Henry Sheperd, Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick, Mrs. Edmund C. Moore, and Mrs. W. O. Hilton.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Spoor and Mr. and Mrs. Thornhill Broome entertained a small party of friends at dinner Saturday evening at the Saddle and Cycle club.

Among those who had tables for dinner at the Casino Saturday night were Mrs. A. Rosecrans Baldwin, Mrs. Warren C. Fairbanks, Lieut. Albert J. Dewey Jr., and Col. Harvey Carbaugh.

Several society folk had luncheon at the Blackstone Saturday preceding the afternoon performance of "Monna Vanna" at the Auditorium. Some of those seen were Mrs. Charles H. Schweppe, Mrs. Allen B. Ripley, Mrs. John C. Black, Mrs. Lockwood Honoré, and Mrs. Tracy Turner. Others at the opera were Mrs. Arthur Ryerson, Mrs. [illegible] Clark Davis, Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Mrs. William R. Linn, Mrs. Howard Linn, Mrs. James Ward Thorne, Miss Caroline Kirkland, Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, Mrs. Keith Spalding, and Miss Louise Thorne.

Mrs. Frank Hamline Scott of 1214 Astor street, will return today from St. Louis, where she has been the guest of relatives for ten days.

Mrs. C. Morse Ely of 909 Lake Shore drive, and Mr. and Mrs. Jay Morse Ely of Lake Forest have gone to southern California to spend two months.

Mrs. Warren M. Salisbury of 1100 Lake Shore drive has returned from a fortnight's stay in New York. Her son, Kimball Salisbury, is expected to arrive within a week from overseas.

Mrs. Louise M. Stumer and children of 20 Scott street will depart Friday for Palm Beach to spend several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Spoor of 1526 North State parkway, will depart Feb. 1 for their annual winter sojourn in the south.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall were entertained at a dinner given last night by Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey and Mrs. Frelinghuysen and later attended the annual charity ball for the benefit of the children's hospital.

Receiving with Mme. Hauge, chairman of the ball committee, were Mrs. James W. Wadsworth Jr., wife of Senator Wadsworth of New York; Mrs. Joseph Leiter, Mrs. John R. Williams, Mrs. Mahlon Pitney, Mrs. John H. Merriam, Mrs. Walter Denegre, and Mrs. Horace Westcott.

Patronesses for the ball included Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, Mrs. Newton D. Baker, Mrs. Albert Sidney Burleson, Mrs. Thomas Watt Gregory, Mrs. David Franklin Houston, Mrs. Franklin K. Lane, Mrs. Oliver Wendell Holmes, Mrs. Louis D. Brandeis, Mrs. Marshall Field, Mrs. Robert McCormick, Mrs. M. A. Hanna, Countess Gizycka, Mrs. Frank L. Polk, Mrs. William Phillips, Mrs. Breckenridge Long, Mrs. Ira Copley, Mrs. F. A. Delano, Mrs. Richard Crane, Mme. Riano, wife of the Spanish ambassador; Mme. Bakhmeteff, wife of the former ambassador of Russia; Mrs. John Hays Hammond, Mrs. Frederick H. Gillett, Mrs. Edson Bradley, and Mrs. Hugh Wallace.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Richard Van Nest Gambrill, who have been passing some time with Mrs. Richard Gambrill, at 30 Park avenue, have returned to Washington, D. C.

Under the patronage of Mrs. Egerton L. Winthrop, Mrs. Albert Gleaves, Mrs. Francis C. Bishop, Mrs. M. Orme Wilson, Mrs. John E. Berwind, Mrs. Frederick C. Penfield, and Mrs. Adolph Ladenburg, the third of a series of dances for the officers of the United States navy and the Mineola aviation field was given last evening at the Vanderbilt hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harriman, after spending some time in this city as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt at 660 Fifth avenue, have returned to their villa in Newport.

Out of the Movies and Into Randolph Street Come the Comic Drews

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

A package of some estimable brand of gum and a ticket to Woods' theater should prove the twin keys to Elysium for a host of our fellow citizens in the days that are at hand. I do not know how many faithful admirers Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Drew have enrolled in their train since they began making comedies for the movies, but it's a sizeable aggregation. And now here are the film players in person, simply awaiting their coming.

You remember, of course, how Alice went through the looking glass, to find the chessmen walking about, two and two, and the tiger lily revealing the paradoxical fact that the flowers can talk when there's anybody worth talking to. Well, this business of peering behind the screen is something like that—quite an amiable bit of an adventure, since, after all, the film favorites mostly are wise enough in their generation not to let us hear their voices too often.

The transition from screen to stage is not always a happy one, but the Drews seem to weather it well, perhaps because they make of it virtually no transition at all. Here you find them, as you found them in the films, expertly delineating the comic tragedies of married life in the suburbs, flicking in here and there a furtive touch of pathos and laying over the rest the stroke of caricature just broadly enough to elicit the ready "laff" in satisfying volume.

They are still the Henry Trindles, Henry in this case all bound up in a brand new wife, a brand new renaissance villa, with a mortgage, and a brand new job as dummy official for the downtown firm in whose cashier's cage he is a fixture. His "promotion" has brought no raise in salary, but Polly Trindle thinks it has, and she gurgles her delight as she sets out to spend it.

Lovesick Henry hasn't the heart to tell, and there lies tragedy. Arrangements for a scandalously expensive party at the villa go blithely forward as Henry plunges deeper into trouble at the office. Of course, he blunders ridiculously into the solution of his troubles, but if you know the Drew plays you know the droll anguish that pursues him through the three acts to tranquillity.

Mr. Drew is an adept farceur and a good actor [they don't always go together], and, as always, is the life of the party.

Of Mrs. Drew, who, unlike her husband, is not a familiar figure in what stage patter calls the "legitimate," you will want to know that she is pretty and appealing in a wholesome sort of way and, as to voice, somewhat inclined to baby talk—a reminiscence perhaps of the days when she did little girl parts on the lyceum circuit. She is an admirable foil for her sapient husband and does not, one suspects, aspire to be notably more than that.

There's a populous company of players, most of whom know their business and some of whom would be worth identifying if time permitted. And last night there was a speech by Mr. Drew, in which he spoke sonorously of the "silent drama"; paid graceful tribute to his wife's important part in the cleanly screen plays, which, he said, have dubbed them Mr. and Mrs. Sapolio of the movies, and ventured a thrifty bid for continued patronage in the realms covered by the movie directory.

Peace That Passeth Understanding in North Shore Church

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

The ecclesiastical pot is still boiling at the North Shore Congregational church, Sheridan road and Wilson avenue. Evidence of it, however, did not appear on the surface yesterday morning.

The stranger coming in at the beginning of the service was greeted cordially by James Garner, head usher and opponent of the pastor. Pewholders smiled and nodded to each other. The minister, the Rev. Paul Allen, preached a "gospel" sermon about being ambassadors for Christ. Nothing was said about trouble in the prayer or the sermon. The pastor prayed for peace, but it was the peace to be settled in Paris. The announcement was made that the treasurer would be waiting to tend to the needs of subscribers. If the stranger hurried out after the benediction he went away unaware that only three nights before a meeting lasting until 2:30 a. m. had been held in an attempt to oust the pastor.

Revival meetings for February, led by Dr. Philpott of Canada, were announced in the church bulletin. Before Feb. 28 another battle royal is expected, when the attempt will be made to engage the pastor for another year.

WEEK-END MUSIC

BY FREDERICK DONAGHEY.

Yesterday was, in actions and reactions, the most musical of Chicago's Sundays in a long, long time: nothing not good was for sale; and the sales were consonant with values. There was Josef Hofmann, cynical with regard for us, and reasonably of the belief that we cared not for him: he came back because he was asked from this end, and not because he wished to; and he faced in Orchestra hall the largest gathering in his Chicago adventures. A big, real, live audience was his, and an honest one. I know; for when he played as an extra, at the end of his bill, Rachmaninoff's familiar prelude, he was urged to do it again. He did; and it was great playing.

The professional crowd was not there, owing to the sale of seats for cash; so, nobody sneered at the prelude, or said that it was a cheap and mean thing, like Chopin's funeral-march, because it had a tune in it. It's a great and a fresh experience to sit in with a pay-as-you-enter crowd at a pianist's recital!

Hofmann, who belongs in any authentic list of the first five, was a wonderful pianist in all I heard, including Liszt's twelfth rhapsody.

Another great pianist, Guiomar Novaes, also drew: she was in Kimball hall, where seats are fewer; and most of them were occupied. Mr. Neumann was at pains to explain that she might not be at her best: her mother's death was an incident of recent days; and she needed no excuses—at least, she needed none in a group by Chopin or a nocturne by Fauré. Lay, literate persons who may be trusted told me that, by not hearing her in César Franck's well-known prelude, choral and fugue, I lost heavily; and I believed them. Carreño's cloak belongs to this dazzling Brazilienne.

And the Playhouse, too, was full, although the Flonzaley Quartet was there—full on an audience which displayed all the outward and visible signs of that inward grace born of a brave call at the box-office. Miss Kinsolving's shift to Sunday, undertaken in palsied apprehension and with a measure of shame, seems to be paying out; for the crowd at the first concert, last month, also was a shock. A quartet by Beethoven, first in the Flonzaley's bill, was my share; and they were, in their way with it, still the best chamber-music four I have ever known.

If John O'Sullivan had started his season with so good an exhibition of singing and acting as he made in Saturday's repetition of "Monna Vanna," he would have found the going smoother. He fairly and finely took Muratore's place in a rôle peculiarly the latter's—not at all because he was its first singer, but because it asked for and got from him the attributes that make him distinctive. O'Sullivan took a definite success from the big crowd which went to the matinée because of Mary Garden; and she was never better in "Monna Vanna" than for this performance. The tribute to the Irishman—that's what he insists he is—is hers as well as mine.

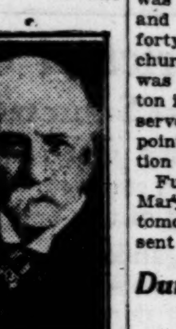

Dora Gibson sang Aida in the night's half-price, and did it well, with a display of sound routine and an engaging skill in caulking the crevices when the tessitura was exacting. She seemed stagewise in all the conditions; and she made a success with the day's second large attendance.

Tonight, for the first time this season, "Rigoletto," with Stracciari, Miss Macbeth, Ciccolini, and Mr. Polacco.

OBITUARY.

W. J. ONAHAN, 62 YEARS RESIDENT OF CHICAGO, DIES

William J. Onahan, a resident of Chicago for sixty-two years and one of the best known Catholic laymen in America, died yesterday at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Daniel V. Gallery, 1254 Macalister place. He was 83 years old.

WILLIAM J. ONAHAN

Mr. Onahan was born in County Carlow, Ireland, in 1836. In early childhood he was taken with his family to Liverpool, where he lived until he came to New York in 1854. In 1856 he moved to Chicago. He first worked as clerk in the Rock Island shops, at Taylor and Wells streets, but soon entered the commission business. In 1863 he was appointed a member of the school board by the common council, as was the method then, and in 1869 he was elected city clerk for two years. In 1879 he was appointed city collector by the elder Carter Harrison, holding the office for several terms, and afterward was controller under Mayors Cregier and Roche. In the '80s he was a member and president of the public library. In 1898 he became president of the Home Savings bank, remaining in that position until 1905.

In conjunction with a number of archbishops and bishops, he formed the Irish Catholic Colonization society, which placed Irish emigrants on farms in Nebraska and Minnesota. Pope Leo XIII. recognized his services by conferring on him the dignity of papal chamberlain. Notre Dame university awarded him the Laetare medal.

Mr. Onahan was married in 1860 to Margaret G. Duffy, whose family settled in Chicago in 1842. Six children were born of the marriage, only one of whom survives—Mrs. Gallery, with whom he lived.

The funeral will take place tomorrow from St. Patrick's church.

OBITUARY.

The Rev. D. P. O'Leary Victim of Influenza

The Rev. David P. O'Leary, 68 years old, 1421 Oak street, Evanston, died yesterday in St. Francis' hospital, Evanston, a victim of influenza. He was chaplain of the Marywood school and St. Scholastica's academy. For forty years he was noted in Catholic church affairs and in public life. He was appointed postmaster at Evanston in 1893 by President Cleveland and served until 1897, when he was reappointed, but did not take the position because of his church work.

Funeral services will be held at St. Mary's Catholic church of Evanston tomorrow morning. The body will be sent to Notre Dame, Ind., for burial.

Duncan Hunter, Former 'Tribune' Man, Is Dead

Duncan M. Hunter, formerly in the advertising department of THE TRIBUNE, and son of the late Col. William E. Hunter, publisher, died yesterday of pneumonia at Emmett, Idaho. He is survived by his widow. The funeral will take place at Kansas City, Mo.

MRS. CAROLINE R. GIBSON, wife of W. H. D. Gibson of 836 Sheridan road, died yesterday at the family home. Funeral services will take place tomorrow from St. Mary of the Lake church, Sheridan road and Buena avenue, tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. Interment will be at Mount Olivet.

January Sales

Just Now at Their Height

This is the high-tide of opportunity in the January Sales. This is the time when many requirements for the home and many personal requirements should be supplied. It is the time when future needs of the spring should also be anticipated.

For the January Sales bring such merchandise as Table Linens, Towels, Bed Sheets and Pillow Cases, New Stamped Linens, Laces and Embroideries, Dress Fabrics of Cotton, Women's Muslin Underwear, Blouses, Infants' Wear and Boys' Washable Suits marked at prices which, we are sure, will not be duplicated later.

Millinery for Southern Wear

For Travel and for Town Wear

Here are new modes delightfully original—

of leghorn combined with taffeta, or with garden flowers and Georgette crepe. Others there are of hemp combined with silk and embroidery with wool yarns.

For traveling—close-fitting hats in the darker tones, of straw with tiny wings, or of hand-sewn Milan with burnt ostrich, or again, small rolling sailors with ostrich.

Reduced—

75 Hats from the French Room Radically Reduced for Quick Disposal to $10 Each.

Fifth Floor, South.

The New Stamped Linens

Many assortments are featured, among them:

Guest towels, stamped on fine linen huck, $1.25 each.

Second Floor, East

New Fabrics of Cotton

They Come Like Summer Sunbeams

Certainly an enticing spot is this section these days, for here, in a broad expanse, are the new fabrics in cottons for the spring of this new year.

New Swiss Organdies at $1.50 Yard

They are one of the favorites for spring and included in this assortment are at least thirty of the new colors in their varied tones. In the 48-inch width, $1.50 yard.

A new importation of famous Scotch ginghams has arrived—many exquisitely blended plaids and the more staple checks are shown in two qualities at $1.25 and $1.50 yard.

Specially Priced—

Second Floor, North.

Fine, Dependable Linens

January Sale Featuring of Special Moment

Fortunate, indeed, that we are so well supplied with linens of the character always identified with this store in extensive January Sale assortments.

All-Linen Satin Damask Table Cloths

In attractive, circular designs, a splendid assortment of these all-linen satin damask table cloths with napkins to match are offered at prices which will not occur again soon.

Size 2 x 2 yards, $9 each. Size 2 x 2½ yards, $10.75 each.

Imported all-linen hemmed huck towels of dependable qualities, size 18 x 35 inches, 65c, 75c and 90c each.

All-linen damask luncheon cloths, hemstitched, in size 45 x 45 inches, $3.75 each.

Thirteen-piece all-linen luncheon and breakfast sets in all-white, or with colored edges, $3 set.

"Imperial" pique bedspreads with fine triple scalloped edges and bolster covers to match, size 72 x 99 inches, $7.50 set, and size 90 x 99 inches, $8.50.

Second Floor, North.

Bed Sheets and Pillow Cases

New Modes in Women's Apparel

For Southern Wear and Present Wear in Town

The quick changes in world events have brought attendant changes no less decisive in the world of fashion. Brighter, happier modes, more vivid colors, "different" fashions—these are wanted and wanted immediately and these are offered here in such collections as should interest every woman and young woman to whom the matter of clothes gives any concern to-day whatever.

Women's Suits—Sport Modes and Those for Traveling

Suits of black-and-white checked suitings, of mixtures, of Golflex cloth, in the Overseas blue, in brown tones and in heather mixtures, in pastime modes that we are sure will win immediate approval. $45 to $85.

More plainly tailored suits of tricotine, Poiret twills and serges, with braid or embroidered, $40 to $125.

Sports Wear Suits at $62.50

In the mode sketched at the left center, of black-and-white velour checks, coat fashioned with new box coat lines, cut to outline the figure at the waist. Large pockets are trimmed with many rows of black braid.

Women's Day-Time Frocks, Especially Those for Southern Wear

From little informal afternoon frocks, from sports frocks and pastime frocks to those for formal occasions, the newer modes are introduced in various collections, skillfully gathered for a clientele which selects the mode for the occasion with discrimination. $55 to $125.

Frocks of Georgette Crepe at $67.50

Navy Blue Frocks of Georgette Crepe at $75

Women's Capes and Coats for Southern Wear and Early Spring

They are of Poulette silks, of taffetas and of satins, of evora cloths and of tricotines, all original, all charmingly new, even to such little details as stitching and button trimmings. They are variously priced from $65 to $165.

At $135—sketched at the left is this coat of tricotine cut on straight lines with tricolette at sides and sleeves, at the collar and coat facing. In navy blue with tan, in black with white and in tan with navy blue.

During this showing of the new modes for early spring and southern wear, the misses' sections also are featuring many delightful groups of apparel for misses, young women and girls.

Fourth Floor, North.

$4.75 $2.95 $3.95 $3.95 $6.95 $2.50

In the January Sale Especially Featured Is

New Lingerie from the Philippines

Never before has this store featured so many thousands of undergarments brought from the Philippines, where they were made according to this store's individual specifications.

And never before have our assortments caused so much enthusiastic comment regarding their finer-than-usual qualities, their exquisite handwork and the beautiful way every single garment is made.

2,000 Philippine Night Dresses Are Featured at $2.95

One of the styles is sketched, but there are several others, all at this pricing, all just as attractive in point of fineness and hand-embroidering.

6,000 Philippine Night-Dresses at $3.95 Each

There are at least fifteen styles from which to choose in this assortment. The one illustrated is a sleeveless Empire style with the entire front embroidered, by hand, in solid and openwork embroidery.

2,000 Philippine Night-Dresses at $4.75 Each

At least twelve different styles at this pricing, of which the one sketched is typical. It is a sleeveless night-dress with "V" neck front and back and the hand-embroidering is exquisitely done.

At $6.95 are Philippine night-dresses, one sketched, with square neck, trimmed with open-work and solid hand-embroidery and filet lace medallions.

5,000 Philippine Envelope Chemises at $2.50, $3.95, and $4.75

We feel confident that this great assortment will meet with enthusiastic favor, for while there are so many garments included, every single one seems to have been made as if it were to be the only garment to be shown to represent the beautiful handwork of the Philippines. Two styles at the above prices are sketched, but they represent many others just as attractive which are included in these assortments.

Children's Muslin Underwear in the January Sale

A specialized feature of the January selling. These undergarments are made according to drafts for children's sizes. Night-dresses, Princess slips, drawers and combinations all are at featured January pricings. In sizes from 2 to 14 years.

Rugs at Important Reductions

Hartford Saxony Rugs, 9x12 Ft. Size, Now $78.50

Wool Wilton Rugs, 9x12 Ft. Size, Now $69.25

Whittall Anglo Persian Rugs, 9x12 Ft. Size, Reduced to $93.75

Several patterns, among which are a number which met with unusual favor this season. Other sizes also reduced.

Seventh Floor, North.

Housedresses Prettily Fashioned

And Specially Priced in the January Sale

One could hardly believe that so much real skill and artistry would be displayed in the designing of home dresses.

But when one sees these assortments it is realized that housedresses are of considerable importance to us, and

Form a Distinct Feature of These January Sales

At $2.55 to $5.95

Here are housedresses in ever so many new and becoming styles, all of dependable fabrics, all with little details which make them different and attractive, all generously cut, well made, of a quality most certain to be appreciated by those who want quality in a dress for the home as well as in anything else.

Many Housedresses Are Featured at $5.95

In two styles, sketched, these housedresses, of dependable, washable materials show smart, youthful lines, becoming to all figures. They come in pink, light blue, Copenhagen blue and tan, and are a distinct value at $5.95 each.

Third Floor, North.

$8.75 $5.75 $5.75 $10.75 $12.75

In Delightful Modes Exquisitely Made Are These

New Blouses in the January Sale

They are hand-made and hand-stitched. They are of batistes and voiles. They were produced by needleworkers who seemed to have decided that each blouse should be individually made. And so these are unusual blouses to be priced

$5.75, $8.75, $10.75 and $12.75

Many of them have hand-scalloped edges, others reveal hand-embroidery in eyelet and solid patterns, while still others have exquisite hand-drawn work.

Even the tucks and seams have been done by hand and in no blouse has the slightest detail been overlooked.

Some of them have high collars, others are designed in low neck effects, some have deep frills, others insets of fine laces and still others are edged with lace.

In fact, so many blouses in so many different modes are included that mention of them all would be highly impractical.

So we urge you to attend this special selling of batiste and voile blouses in the January Sale featured at $5.75, $8.75, $10.75 and $12.75.

Fourth Floor, North.

Wool Blankets Reduced

TWO CLERKS OF CUTTER MAY BE ARRESTED ALSO

Riley Says Forger Needs Punishment and Will Get It.

Developments in the case of Millard Cutter, bond forger, last night included the unexpected announcement of Harrison B. Riley, president of the Chicago Title and Trust company, that two more men will be questioned today as having aided in forging of part of the $800,000 worth of bogus bonds. They are clerks for M. H. Cutter and company in the Rookery building, Mr. Riley explained, and Cutter, in his first confession in private, said they aided him in manufacturing the worthless securities. They may have done so without knowledge of their guilt, Riley declared. If they are guilty, warrants will be sworn out for their arrest at once, he stated.

Coincidentally today, a renewed investigation into Cutter's financial affairs will open to determine whether he actually spent or invested all of the money he obtained through borrowing on "home made" securities.

Darrow Enters Inquiry.

One angle of this inquiry will deal with the financial relations between Cutter and his attorney, Clarence Darrow. Riley announced last night that before giving himself up the bond dealer had turned over to Darrow a $5,000 mortgage on a piece of property he purchased in Wilmette. He is also said to have given Darrow some bonds, the value of which is unknown.

This Cutter told the officials of the Chicago Title and Trust company, was done to secure Darrow's fees in defending him and managing the affairs of the Butler Iron company and the other enterprises into which the bond dealer had sunk other people's money.

Riley indicated that the efforts of Darrow in connection with the management of Cutter's business affairs will not be arduous, because a meeting of directors, including the representatives of dozens of banks and bond houses, has been called for Wednesday or Thursday. Notification was mailed late Saturday night.

Will Try to Operate Plant.

The principal creditors will attempt to keep Cutter's financial entanglements out of the bankruptcy courts if possible, Mr. Riley said. A trustee or a creditors' committee will be elected at the creditors' meeting and operation of the Butler Iron company and the Standard Manganese plant will be attempted.

Mr. Riley declared Cutter was one of the most clever crooks ever operating in Chicago. He denounced the attitude of the forger and his friends as a play for sympathy and indicated that little of this would oe forthcoming from the people he had deceived.

"Cutter has built up a pretty picture of himself. This is to conjure up sympathy, to bring a light sentence and a quick parole," said Riley. "As a matter of fact, on Dec. 28 he was faced with the necessity of raising $50,000 to take up bogus bonds with the Chicago Title and Trust company, Mr. Kellogg of Louisville, Ky., and Grant & Co. of Chicago. He realized he could not get the money and he decided to give up the ghost.

"Play for Sympathy."

"This fellow is a very clever guy. All this play is for sympathy. He had to give up. If he had not, we notified him that we were going to cash in the coupons on the bogus bonds and sell them. This would have brought the truth to light."

Asked about a report that Cutter would seek a light sentence, he said:

"The Chicago Title and Trust has sent every forger who defrauded it to prison with one exception, and that man is still a fugitive from justice. Cutter will go to the penitentiary, and within two weeks. He will stay there until it is proper for him to come out.

"He is one of the coolest and cleverest criminals ever seen in Chicago. Peter Van Vlissingen stole more than he did. But Cutter was more crafty than Van Vlissingen. What he needs is punishment, and plenty of it.

"The one thing Cutter fears is the fact that we can prosecute him for forty years on these forgery charges. The statute of limitations does not apply to forgery, and he knows that if we want to we can put him back in the penitentiary if he does get out on parole. He couldn't settle this case with us if he gave back every cent."

Will Ask Immediate Trial.

His indictment will probably come today or Tuesday, Clarence Darrow declared last night, announcing that he would ask an immediate trial at which the erstwhile bond salesman will plead guilty of forging almost $600,000 worth of municipal and school bonds, placing them as security on loans.

Details of his first bond forging experience were described to a TRIBUNE reporter last night by Cutter in his cell, No. 501, in the county jail. He grew philosophic at times, advising young men to avoid the pitfalls into which he stepped.

For the first time since his arrest he lost his temper when the name of W. W. Mechling, a former president of the Butler Iron company, was mentioned. Mechling gave out an interview Saturday mentioning "wine, women, and song" parties by Cutter in St. Louis. Cutter denied any such parties.

"It was in the fall of 1914. I had sold some timber bonds—those of the Beach Manufacturing company of Georgia, now defunct. I had verbally agreed to buy them back if they were not good. The company failed and the buyers reminded me of my promise. I could have refused them.

Forged to Keep Credit.

"Instead, to protect my credit and to save them from losses, it occurred to me to raise some money by forgery. I had just purchased the entire issue of municipal bonds of Statesville, N. C. There were thirty bonds of $1,000 each. I just had them duplicated—had two sets numbered from 1 to 30 printed. I sold one set and put the bogus one up for security for a short term loan.

"The money I used to pay back the purchasers of the timber bonds. After this it was easy. I saw where I could work out a wonderful future and pay back the loans on the bogus bonds. But things continued to pile up and go from worse to worse. I have been living for two years in constant fear of discovery."

"What's the moral of all this?" was the question.

"Moral—Go Straight."

"The moral—and let all young business men take note of it—is to go it straight first, last, and always. Why? Because it is the best way. I am a living example of this truth. Today I am ruined. I have no reputation. I have nothing tangible left except the clothes I wear. I attribute my failure to overconfidence. I thought I could beat the law. I was too optimistic."

"Mr. Mechling says there were gay parties in St. Louis. Is that true?" the reporter asked.

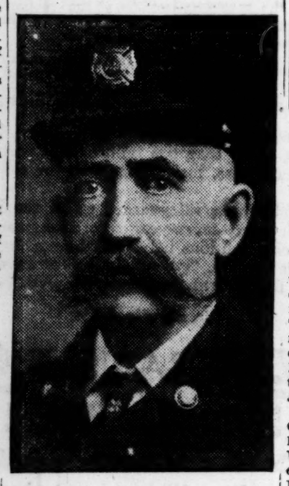

"It's a lie. It's spite work. He was introduced to me as a man of importance in the iron and steel business. I made him president of the Butler Iron company at a salary of $500 a month and agreed to give him a block of stock. I found that he was not as important as he seemed and I discharged him. I found he was not working in the interests of the company. There is nothing truthful in his story about parties in St. Louis."

AUTOANTICS

Being the Misadventures of Mr. Jernberg's New Car.

THE misadventures of the new automobile of C. J. Jernberg of 6550 Harvard avenue began the night of Dec. 21, when it vanished from the place where it was parked opposite the Hotel La Salle in La Salle street.

Detective Sergeants Gilso and Tuohy of Detective Sergeant Patrick Hamilton's automobile squad were assigned to find it. And they did—last Thursday night, parked in the same place from where it was stolen Dec. 21. They called Joseph Conkle, a chauffeur of the Hotel La Salle Taxicab company, and had him drive it to the La Salle garage, where they intended to leave it until the morrow for Mr. Jernberg.

But in the morning it had vanished. Gilso and Tuohy fared forth in a police flivver to find it. And did—at Wilcox street and Hamlin avenue. The occupants were Mr. Conkle and Frank McGee of North Harding avenue and Fulton street. They "stepped" on the accelerator and the fleeing car soon outdistanced the flivver. The two officers fired ten shots at it.

Well, yesterday they started out to find it again. And did—in a garage at Elston and North Harding avenue, with four bullet holes through the rear seat. This time they took it to the city garage, where it awaits Mr. Jernberg.

RAID BREAKS UP 'SURPRISE PARTY'; 17 ARRESTED

Male and female voices resounded through the transom, but a notice on the door proclaimed:

"Out. Will be back at 1:30. Miss Howard."

Morals Inspector Hugh McCarthy looked at his watch, saw it was some minutes after the hour, and decided to enter. The door succumbed to the pressure of his shoulder and he and his squad found themselves in an apartment containing nine men and eight women. All were arrested. Miss Minnie Howard was charged with being the keeper of a disorderly house. The flat is at 5 South Laflin street.

"I'll say it was," Mr. McCarthy said.

He and his squad staged another surprise at the flat of Louis Haines, above a saloon at 2352 West Madison street. Seven men and five women were taken. Mr. Haines was booked as keeper. Only one man and one woman were found at the Wayne hotel, 100 South Halsted street. Tillie Kourkus was booked as keeper.

Author of 'Wizard of Oz' Fights Off Heart Attack

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 12.—L. Frank Baum, author of "The Wizard of Oz" and other stories for children, is fighting for life tonight following an acute attack of heart trouble. Mrs. Baum said tonight out of her perfect faith in her husband that he would write many a story for the children before he passed on. Mr. Baum's physician confirmed Mrs. Baum's statement. Mr. Baum has made many friends on the Pacific coast.

GAS AND WATER KILL 1 FIREMAN; INJURE 4 MORE

Fighting a fire last night which caused damage of $15,000 in a three story building at 3207 Fullerton avenue, Lieut. Oscar W. Peterson of Engine company 114 met his death by drowning, and four members of the company were overcome by gas, and are now at St. Elizabeth's hospital in a serious condition. They are:

EMIL DITTERT, pipeman, 2435 North Kostner avenue.
WILLIAM HANLEY, pipeman, 2643 North Monticello avenue.
PAUL DRISCOLL, pipeman.

Lieut. Peterson had been a member of the fire department twenty-one years. He leaves a widow and two daughters, living at 2640 North Lawndale avenue.

Falls Into Water; Dies.

As acting captain of engine company 114 he was directing the work of fighting the fire. It had started from an overheated furnace pipe in the basement under the florist shop of A. S. Brouton. With his four firemen he entered the basement with a lead of hose. The flames had melted a water pipe and a gas main.

As the five men continued to fight the fire the water rose until it reached their shoulders and the gas fumes became ever stronger. The men were not wearing gas masks.

They did not notice the gas, because of the smoke, until they became drowsy. Peterson suddenly toppled over and disappeared beneath the water.

Four Others Rescued.

In the meantime squad No. 2, commanded by Capt. Jerry J. Sheehan, had arrived. They rushed into the basement and rescued the four men of Peterson's company just as they were on the point of succumbing to the fumes. Peterson's body was recovered. All of the four had been revived when the police ambulance arrived.

Widow is Prostrated.

His body was removed to the undertaking rooms of Thompson & Moeller, 3429 Fullerton avenue, and a fireman was sent to notify the widow of the death. She was prostrated. Her two daughters—Lillian and Ellen—had been out visiting a friend and arrived home while Mrs. Peterson was at the undertaking rooms. Neighbors cared for them until the mother returned and told them of their father's death.

The bulding in which the fire occurred is owned by Dr. C. J. Drueck, 438 East Forty-sixth street. Other tenants besides Brouton are Dr. L. F. Smith, who occupied apartments above the florist shop; A. Goldman, a tailor; Mrs. Mary Deering, and Dr. Herman J. Gold, a dentist.

AGED WOMAN DIES OF CAR INJURIES; DOCTOR EXPLAINS

Mrs. Gertrude Schmitz, 71 years old, who was struck by a street car at Clark street and Belden avenue Wednesday night, died yesterday at the Grant hospital. Dr. John Fisher of 441 Belden avenue, who was accused of refusing to attend the woman after the accident, will appear at the inquest today.

Stories that Dr. Fisher declined to lend first aid service led Coroner Hoffman to assert he would ask that the doctor's license be revoked if the woman should die. Dr. Fisher last night denied any responsibility in the case, saying he would appear at the inquest and clear himself.

"After the woman had been taken to a drug store, probably ten minutes after the accident, two little boys came into my office and said I was wanted," the doctor explained. "I told them I would not be needed, as the ambulance would be there before I could reach the scene. Later the boys came back, in about five minutes, I think, and said they wanted me. I told them I could be of no service. When they got back after that the ambulance had taken the woman to a hospital."

EVANSTON OPENS DRIVE FOR JOBS FOR EX-WARRIORS

Parents and next of kin to soldiers and sailors held a meeting yesterday afternoon with the Evanston war council at the chapel of the Evanston Methodist church. The purpose was to consider ways and means for providing positions for men returning from the two services.

Addresses were made by Joseph E. Paden, chairman of the reconstruction committee of the council, special representative in Evanston of the United States employment service and head of the Evanston bureau for returning soldiers and sailors; by W. S. Powers, chairman of the Evanston draft board, and by Dudley Walker, manager of the federal bureau for returning soldiers and sailors in Chicago.

It was the opinion of the meeting that not alone should jobs be procured for the men but that employers should be approached with the proposal to give them more personal attention and improve their condition.

WHEN A FELLER NEEDS A FRIEND

SEVEN INJURED AS CAR LEAVES TRACK IN CRASH

Seven persons were injured early last night when an Ashland avenue car crashed into an Adams-Harrison car at Paulina and Harrison streets. Six of the injured were in the Adams-Harrison car, which was knocked clear from its tracks. Thomas Mahon, 35 years old, 2028 South Hoyne avenue, motorman of the Ashland avenue car, who was severely bruised about the head, arms, and shoulders, told the police the brakes on his car did not work. He was the only one injured on the car, the whole front of which was buried in the other car. The injured, in addition to Mahon, are:

MISS MAY KEYES, 28 years old, 4437 West Congress street; cut on arms and face by flying glass; taken to West Side hospital.

MRS. EVELYN GRANDENT, 26 years old, 1432 West Harrison street; shaken and suffering from shock; taken to county hospital and then home.

MRS. MINNIE COOK, 39 years old, 849 North Western avenue; bruised right side and cut on arms; taken home.

MRS. CATHERINE GREY, 46 years old, 10632 Ewing avenue; left hip bruised; taken to the West Side hospital.

FOUR BANDITS IN AUTO HIT CAR; ONE IS CAUGHT

Speeding sixty miles an hour four automobile bandits in a stolen car struck a Western avenue street car at Western and Warren avenues last night. One passenger was hurt and one of the bandits was caught.

The man arrested gave the name of Samuel Branronte, 19, 2009 West Erie street. He was taken to the Warren avenue station. He refused to tell the names of the men with him.

Policeman Jacob Brown was on his way to report for work when he saw the bandits' car approach. He held up his hand to stop them, but they disregarded his signal and plunged into the front end of the street car.

The four men started to run east with Brown following them. He fired five shots and captured Branronte. The other three escaped by running through a vacant lot.

"Housemaiding" for Facts

EXPERIENCES OF ELIZABETH GREY

BY ELIZABETH GREY.
ARTICLE II.

[Copyright: 1919: By the Tribune Company.]

Bright and early in the morning I, Elizabeth Grey, with regret, pulled myself out of a comfortable bed and again sought the residence of Mrs. X., with whom I had secured my first position as housemaid, and with whom I was beginning my investigation into conditions of domestic service in Chicago.

It could not be a very scientific investigation, but I hoped to discover by it some of the reasons why so many girls prefer office work, and factory employment to housework.

I had packed some blue gingham aprons and a white one for waiting on the table into an old straw suitcase, which looked as if it might have emigrated with me from Ireland many years ago. It had a mean nature and the handle broke as soon as I had it out on the street, so that I was forced to carry it in both arms like I would a baby. I had curled my hair till it stuck out like a Circassian beauty's and my pink velvet hat was "foine, indade."

Employer Delighted.

Mrs. X. was delighted that her new domestic was ahead of time and put her to work immediately, not even asking to see the letter of reference which I had dictated the night before and which gave me a noble character.

"Now, Elizabeth," she said, "I want the flat swept out from top to bottom. I used the vacuum cleaner on it yesterday, so it won't be hard. You begin in the front and sweep towards the center hall. Take up the dust then and throw it in the bin on the back porch."

After these directions she seated herself at the telephone in the center hall where I was to sweep, and, horribly in the way, there she stayed for three-quarters of an hour, conversing with a neighbor, occasionally breaking off for an irritable "Stop that!" to one of the children. They seemed good children to me, but their mother was evidently tired of them.

Ironing, Too.

I swept the rooms, almost taking up the baby several times in the dust pan—he would crawl into it, having a childish liking for dirt. I swept the rugs on the back porch. I dusted the distorted settee with the poison-green plush and all the other furniture, the hand painted atrocities, and the cut glass. I worked as hard as I could for nearly two hours and then I was ready to see about getting lunch. I was washing my hands at the sink in the kitchen when Mrs. X. came in.

She did not look at me, but pointed to a great pile of clothes on the kitchen table and said something about my "getting to the ironing now."

"Ironing?" I stupidly inquired. I was then informed that I must do the ironing.

"There was nothing said about my having to do the ironing when I was engaged," I meekly said.

"Well, I can't help that," responded Mrs. X. "I can't pay a laundress $2 a day and a maid at the same time. If you don't want to work I don't want you."

"But why didn't you tell me yesterday that I had to do the ironing?" I asked, taking off my apron as I spoke.

No Pay—Not Even Carfare.

She lost her temper at that. "Well, you don't expect me to do it, do you?" she stormed.

I walked away towards my room, where I had left my things, and started packing them into the broken suitcase. She followed, still storming.

"What do you think I keep a maid for? Do you think I like to have you around to look at? All my maids have always done the ironing. It's nothing."

I looked her coldly in the eyes and said:

"Evidently we misunderstood each other, Mrs. X. Good-by."

She did not detain me, nor did she offer me any pay for my two hours' work. She did not give me car fare. I might have been obliged to walk home if I had depended upon her.

As I went down the steps I saw another maid arriving in answer to Mrs. X.'s advertisement. I wanted to stop her and tell her to collect in advance. Mrs. X. is of the type who says, "My dear, I don't know what we are coming to. These hired girls are becoming more independent every day."

And nothing will ever convince Mrs. X. that she has not been all that a mistress should be to a maid. Fortunately, I thought, not all the mistresses are like this one.

Victim of Great Lakes Truck Dies in Hospital

Frank Elwood, 6115 South Hermitage avenue, died in St. Luke's hospital yesterday of pneumonia and injuries suffered several days ago when he was struck by a Great Lakes Naval Training station automobile truck in front of the hospital.

4 CHICAGOANS INJURED AFTER REAREND CRASH

Only Three in Last Car Escape with Their Lives.

Batavia, N. Y., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Twenty-one sleeping passengers were crushed to death when the New York Central's southwestern limited crashed into the rear Pullman of the Wolverine limited at South Byron, six miles east of Batavia, at 3:35 o'clock this morning. Several persons were injured, three of them seriously.

The cause of the wreck is unexplained. Railroad officials declare that the signals were set against train No. 11, the southwestern, and that in addition a flagman had gone back with a lighted fusee to halt the onrushing train.

John Friedley of Buffalo, engineer of the southwestern, declares that the signals were clear and that the first he saw of the flagman's warning light was when he was but a few car lengths from the Wolverine. The railroad promises a searching investigation to fix the blame for the tragedy. In addition, Coroner Snow of Genesee county will hold an inquest which may place the responsibility.

The rear sleeping car of the Wolverine was the death coach. Only three passengers in this car escaped instant death, and these three are so seriously injured that they may not live.

Two From Chicago.

Of these three, two are Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Lickerman of Chicago. Lickerman recently was discharged as a sergeant from the coast artillery corps. Mr. and Mrs. Lickerman were married only a short time ago in New York and were on their way to Chicago.

Mrs. Lickerman is more seriously injured than her husband. Her face was fearfully torn. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gies of New York, are on the way here. The Lickermans are in the Batavia hospital.

The third passenger in the rear Pullman to escape, although she may not live through the night, is Miss Flora Doherty of Flint, Mich. Both her legs are broken.

Dead and Injured.

Following is the list of dead and injured so far as it has been compiled tonight:

THE DEAD.

FRANKLIN B. LEONARD, believed to live in Bear Lake, Mich.; identified by tag inscription, "A. E. F., 1917, F. & A. M. lodge No. 416."

S. D. HARVEY, residence unknown. Identified by service ring signifying service with United States army on Mexican border, inscribed on inside: "S. D. Harvey, sergeant, Company F, Thirty-second Michigan infantry."

THOMAS B. CUMMINGS, New York.

GEORGE RIGBY, New York.

PATRICK DOUGHERTY, New York.

MRS. JENNIE LEVENE, New York.

SEVERELY INJURED.

MR. AND MRS. NATHAN LICKERMAN of Chicago.

MISS FLORA DOHERTY of Flint, Mich.; will probably die.

SLIGHTLY INJURED.

F. C. RUTAN of Chicago, back injured.

H. O. RITZ of Syracuse, slightly injured in chest.

W. F. RIGDEN of Ashtabula, O., a mail clerk on Southwestern Limited, left hip injured.

S. L. SIMONS of Kansas City, Mo., injury to ankle.

MRS. O. TAYLOR of Chicago, slightly injured. She was accompanied by her husband, Maj. Taylor.

Engine Breaks Loose.

The engine of the Southwestern crashed into the rear Pullman at great speed. Engineer Friedley had applied the emergency brakes and their action, he declared, cut the engine and tender from the long string of coaches. Freed of this great load, the Southwestern's engine seemed almost to leap through the air and it smashed into the steel Pullman with a terrific impact.

The second coach from the end of the Wolverine was buckled up by the collision, so that it stood almost on end, its rear vestibule in the air. It hung thus for a moment and then crashed down and through the ill-fated last coach, shearing the steel roof as if it were pasteboard.

Squeezed between the on-rushing engine and the second coach the last Pullman was ground into a mass of débris and those in the berths had no chance of escape. The second car was little damaged and those in its escaped serious injury.

Nurse Rallies Workers.

Rallied by an army nurse who was a passenger the terrified passengers made their way through broken windows and down ladders to the ground several feet below. Neither the engineer nor Fireman Brill of the South western was injured in the collision, although their

Most of the bodies were mangled beyond recognition. The passengers all were in night clothing and their belongings had been lost in the mass of débris so as to be worthless as a means of identification.

Can't Explain It.

The conductor of the Wolverine was W. A. Starr of New York and the engineer was W. J. Gibbons of Buffalo. The flagman was Thomas Groves of New York. Supt. Dinan of the western division of the New York Central was at a loss to explain how the accident happened.

"The flagman says that he went about twenty-five car lengths to the rear of his train to signal the second train. Torpedoes were also put on the rails. The statement of Engineer Friedley differs very materially from that of the flagman. Friedley claims that the block was clear when he entered it, and in this he is backed up by Fireman Brill, and that he did not see the red lamp of the flagman until he was about eight lengths behind the Wolverine. At that point, Friedley says, he heard a torpedo explode. He admits that the signals were set at danger when he went to look at them after the accident."

Fifty Miles an Hour.

Supt. Dinan said that Friedley declared his train was going about fifty miles an hour when he saw the flagman's signal and that he slowed it down to about thirty-five miles.

Supt. Everitt of Syracuse could not account for the accident in view of the ability of Engineer Friedley and all the precautions that had been taken.

"There will be an investigation at my office," said he. "This engineer was one of our most reliable employés. He has been running passenger trains for twenty years. The night was clear and he should have been able to see a mile. I can't understand why he did not see the red 'marker lamps' carried on the rear of the first train."

Jammed in Car.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—One of the arriving survivors of the Wolverine limited wreck was H. D. Speer, a representative of Swift & Co. and resident of Chicago. He was in the next to last Pullman sleeper, which, he said, was hoisted upon the roof of the last car.

"We couldn't tell where we were," he said. "There was a terrific jar and the car seemed to shoot up into the air, but I thought it had gone off the track and struck on the ground. Everybody in the car was thrown out of their berths, but no one seemed to be seriously injured. We were shut in the car. Both ends were crushed in so that the doorways were blocked. We seemed to be about twenty feet from the ground. I think we had been in the car about half an hour when several ladders were placed against the car and we climbed through the windows and went down these ladders."

RETURNING WITH BRIDE.

Nathan Lickerman of 5954 Indiana avenue was a sergeant in the coast defense service on Long Island until his discharge recently. Last Wednesday he was married in New York to Miss Rose Geis of that city. The bridal couple apparently were on their way home.

Lickerman, before entering the army about six months ago, was in the coal business. He was connected with D. F. McMillan & Bros., whose offices are in the Old Colony building. Lickerman is 25 years old. His father, Max Lickerman, is a retired business man.

F. C. Rutan, who was slightly injured, is a financial man with offices in the McCormick building. Business interests frequently call him to New York. His wife received two telegrams from him after the wreck, both telling her he was not hurt and asking her not to worry.

Chicagoan Roasts Train Crew.

Ben B. Linton of 4241 North Ashland avenue, a broker, who was returning from a business trip to New York, was in the second car from the one in which the people were killed. He said there were twenty-nine in the fatal compartment, and that he believed all either were killed or had no chance to live.

Mr. Linton declares the train crew made little effort at helping the victims, and says most of the rescue work was done by soldiers and sailors on the train.

"The trainmen just stood around and didn't seem to realize what had happened," he said. "I never saw anything like it."

The vestibule of the car in which Mr. Linton was riding was jammed into the smoking car ahead and the porter imprisoned. He was not injured and was rescued after some difficulty.

BOY KILLED IN COLLISION.

Dixon, Ill., Jan. 12.—Paul Spangler, son of Franklin D. Spangler of Nachusa township, was instantly killed here today when a load of milk his father was delivering was struck by an Illinois Northern Utilities company street car.

LOWER PRICES FOR FOOD SEEN NEAR AT HAND

Grain Dealers Think After War Readjustment Is Beginning.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

The long deferred readjustment of prices as a result of the ending of the war is believed by grain traders to be at hand. It started last Thursday, when the food administration and war trade board removed restrictions on imports of Argentine corn. The selling that followed carried prices down 7@12c in two days, with February leading.

Sentiment of the grain trade, especially the speculative element, is extremely bearish. It is so much so that their desire to depress values is so great that the market becomes oversold on sharp breaks and quick upturns follow.

There is a feeling of unrest in the grain, as well as in other trades. There are many factors favoring lower prices, but it is not reasonable to expect that the extreme will be reached in the very near future, as terminal stocks of coarse grains, especially corn, are light.

Liquidation Is Heavy.

There has been immense liquidation by the holders of corn in all positions and greatly increased pressure from short sellers. The buying power is said to have been greatly reduced, owing to the changed conditions in Argentina. One thing to be feared is labor unrest, which is on in Argentina and abroad, and a reduced cost of living is desirable. With lower prices for corn, other values might be affected.

Corn prices in Argentina are 68c, against $1.35@1.40 in Chicago. The freight is 35@40c to the Atlantic seaboard. Freight from Chicago to New York 13.72c per bu, domestic. The Argentine crop of late years has ranged from 54,000,000 to 330,000,000 bu and exports 69,000,000 to 330,000,000 bu, the latter the largest known. With its surplus and the present crop, which will be available in May, it will have 200,000,000 bu for export this year. Most of the Argentine corn goes to Europe, and this year it is expected to fill their requirements, as the plans of the food administration do not include the exportation of our corn.

For the year ended June 30, 1914, there were 12,290,000 bu Argentine corn imported into the United States. At the same time we exported 10,725,000 bu.

The price in Argentina declined 7c last week, and it is offered at $1.25, delivered in New York, in bags. This is 25@30c under the price of American.

Hog Prices Help Corn.

The corn price is a big factor in influencing that of beef and hogs, as it enters largely into their manufacture. For months the price has been sustained by the high level of hogs, and the question now confronting the trade is: Will the price of hogs be maintained by the food administration and the packers? A lowering of the level at the meeting Jan. 23 would probably have a depressing effect upon corn, unless the price declines materially before that period. Despite the decline in corn here the last week, they are about the same to a little higher than a month ago.

A good deal of spreading at present is on in buying of corn in Argentina and sales of July in this market. It will be a long time, however, before any Argentine corn reaches the seaboard in volume.

January corn closed Saturday at $1.40½@1.40; February, $1.36⅝@1.36; March, $1.34½@1.34⅝; May, $1.32⅝@1.32¼; July, $1.31¼@1.31, showing losses for the week of 3¼@5⅝c the later on July. Prices for the week follow:

Better Feeling in Oats.

A bearish feeling exists in oats, which is reflected from weakness in corn. Exporters are filled up, but the eastern domestic trade improved, taking 300,000 bu on Friday.

Holders of January contract are getting the cash grain and many are selling it out, so that the oats are gradually passing into strong hands. The movement for the week showed a decided reduction, primary receipts of 3,638,000 bu being the smallest at this time in over five years. With corn declining, it will be difficult to sustain oat values.

Prices are 2@2⅞c lower for the week, with January leading. At the close January was ⅛8⅜c, February 69¼c, March 69½c, May 69⅝c@69⅝, and July 66½c. Prices follow:

Provision Traders Are Mixed.

There is uncertainty in the provision trade as to the purchases of the United Kingdom from now on. They have in hand and already purchased 168,000 tons of meats and 45,000 tons of lard. A movement is on for a return of the trade there through its regular channels through government guarantees to distributors.

England, Italy, and France bought nothing at the allotment meeting in Washington last week, but Italy and France are expected to take 300,000,000 lbs of meats and 45,000,000 lbs of lard next month. The neutrals made fair purchases.

Pork closed with losses of $1.50@1.97½, lard 7½@42½c, and short ribs $1.07½@1.25, the latter on May. Prices for the week follow:

Seek Data on Vacant Farm Land for Soldiers

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Agricultural agents of railroads have been instructed to gather all available information concerning farm lands along their lines open for lease or occupation by returning soldiers, it was disclosed today in the report of the railroad administration's division of traffic, headed by Edward Chambers, covering the year 1918.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Answers to inquiries are based upon information which THE TRIBUNE believes reliable, fair, and unprejudiced, but beyond the exercise of care in securing such information THE TRIBUNE assumes no responsibility.

Inquiries must bear the signature and address of writer in order to receive attention. Answers thought to be of public interest will be published. If an answer is not of general interest it will be mailed provided stamp is inclosed. Address letters to Investors' Guide.

Joint Stock Farm Loan Bonds.

C. H. L., Elgin, Ill.: The joint stock farm loan bonds are secured by the mortgages under them and further by double liability of stockholders. They are not guaranteed by the government. Neither are the federal farm loan bonds specifically guaranteed. The main security for both is the mortgages and the care used in making them. In the matter of additional security given by assets of the banks, the federal bonds are superior. Both are made tax exempt by law, but the law has not yet been passed on by the Supreme court.

Paige-Detroit.

G. S.: The Paige-Detroit Motor Car company has made public little information in the last two years. Its common stock of $10 par is quoted at about 23. There was $1,500,000 of common and $900,000 of preferred at last accounts. Presumably dividends are paid regularly, but the last one reported publicly was 2 per cent on Oct. 10. This was said to be a monthly distribution.

Brief Answers.

G. S.: The Advance-Rumely company earned $550,557 after interest in 1917. Last year it is said to have earned $1,300,000, which equals more than 10 per cent on the $12,500,000 of preferred stock. The company has ample working capital and the preferred dividend became cumulative on Jan. 1. No distribution has been made as yet.

M. C.: The Autopress company reorganized four years ago as the American Autopress. It is operating, but makes public no reports. Powdered Coal and Engineering is purely speculative as far as known. It has been reviewed.

C. C.: Willys Overland common is paying 4 per cent a year. Future earnings and dividends cannot be predicted. Present income yield is low.

Questionnaire for Investors

At a time when many securities are being offered at abnormally high interest rates, the prudent investor should apply to them the acid tests which always can be depended on to determine the real soundness of any investment. Among the tests in this investment questionnaire are the following:

1. How close are the bonds or notes to the property? Are they a first mortgage, a junior lien, or merely unsecured promises to pay?
2. What is the nature of the mortgaged property? Is its value ample for safety during all periods and conditions?
3. Is the issuing corporation dealing in a necessary commodity or service, indispensable to the public at all times?
4. Are its earnings increasing, so as to keep pace with the rising costs of material and labor?
5. Are the bonds or notes steadily paid off in cash, year by year, out of the earnings of the company, or must they be refunded when they mature by contracting new debts?
6. Is the investment of a kind which is protected against coming labor readjustments and possible adverse legislation or governmental action?

If the investor applies these tests to securities offered him, he realizes why it is exceedingly difficult to get more than 6% on his funds with real safety—the safety demanded by trustees, executors, institutions, and the most prudent class of individual purchasers.

The first mortgage serial bonds, safeguarded under the Straus Plan, meets these fundamental tests. Their thirty-seven-year record of prompt payment without a loss during war and peace conditions indicates their soundness. They yield full 6%. Write today for our booklet, "Questionnaire for Investors," and our current offerings of high grade first mortgage 6% bonds. Ask for

Thirty-seven Years Without Loss to Any Investor

Defining Files

Files are a place where papers should be instantly found when anybody is through with them and anybody else—wants them.

Whether your files fit that definition depends on how you regard them. If you think of them as dead storage space you'll have dead files. If you regard them properly you'll want files that vitalize your office routine by giving impulse to records through proper channels.

Amberg Indexes properly applied to your individual problems will make your files an active force in your business. Amberg Indexes are based on proved laws of proportion in the filing of business names.

An Amberg Analysis will advise you of the possibilities of making your filing plan a more energizing factor in your organization than you can conceive possible.

AS TO FORGERS and FORGERIES

MAY WE NOT AGAIN REMIND

the Mortgage Investing Public that our Mortgage Policies protect against forgeries?

In connection with the above reminder may we not also remind the Mortgage Investing Public that during its corporate existence CHICAGO TITLE AND TRUST COMPANY has sent to the penitentiary quite a number of men guilty of forging legal documents? In fact, CHICAGO TITLE AND TRUST COMPANY has a clean score in the matter of apprehending and convicting forgers who have seen fit to pit their skill against the CHICAGO TITLE AND TRUST COMPANY organization. The company has a clean score of convictions except in one instance. It is still searching for one GEORGE S. BAKER, who ten years ago forged some notes secured by mortgage and has since been a fugitive from justice. This company offered and still offers a reward for information leading to the arrest of the said GEORGE S. BAKER that conviction may follow, so this company may have a ONE HUNDRED PER CENT record as to forgers and forgeries.

FOREIGN TRADE SOUGHT TO KEEP U. S. PROSPEROUS

Business Men Making a Pilgrimage to Study Markets.

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Several business men, representing large producing and manufacturing interests, have gone to Europe in the last fortnight and more are planning to go in the near future to study the market for American goods. Agents of banking houses and exporting firms are abroad looking over the ground for the renewal of trade with the outside world as soon as conditions are ripe and arrangements for an expansion of commerce under peace conditions may be made.

While these visits are being carried out the steel, copper, textile, and other industries are waiting for buying to expand at home and they are watching for the earliest indications of a renewal of buying from abroad. It is needless to state that the early future of business activity in the United States is wrapped about by the possibilities of sales outside the country, and in this connection arises the question of the proper and adequate financing of exports.

Handicap of Importers.

The French importer of American goods at the present time is under the necessity of paying a premium of about 5 per cent on New York drafts; in other words, he must pay a premium on his remittance of the purchase price over and above the cost of his goods and transportation charges. The Italian importer has a considerably heavier burden because of existing exchange rates, and great inequalities of exchange in other countries surrounds the current conduct of foreign commerce with difficulties. In the main, the major burdens on former large customers of the United States is the result of vast changes in the movement of goods which result from the war and gave to this country a tremendous trade balance.

Must Extend Credits.

It is generally realized by bankers that if sales of our goods abroad are to be increased in places where exchange rates are against the potential buyers measures must be taken to relieve the situation, and this can best be done through the extension of credits here. In some quarters it is believed to be a question whether current prices are more of a deterrent to export sales than the high cost to which the foreign importer would be put in paying for his purchases.

Should the present period of light business in the export market be protracted it would be a natural thing to expect prices to move down, and it is for the purpose of forestalling such decline that business men are going abroad to see what may be done to stimulate buying across the seas.

Peace Outlook Uncertain.

The conventional belief in the security markets is that prices discount positive industrial and financial occurrences at least six months in advance. If this may be taken as unfailing, stocks and bonds may be said to be unready, as yet, to forecast important developments under peace conditions.

Last week the tendency of prices for stocks was slightly downward, while bonds did very little, if anything. The decline of Steel common was hardly rapid enough to display any pronounced apprehension over the outlook for business. The announced purpose of certain copper concerns to limit output until signs of an increased demand appear would at other times probably have caused sharp recessions in the copper stocks, but as a matter of fact the week's downward movement was moderate.

NEW YORK BANKS SHOW GAINS IN LOANS FOR YEAR

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The reports on condition made by the national banks of New York City as of Dec. 31 last in response to a call by the controller of the currency show many important changes as compared with the statement a year before. Loans, as a general thing, increased substantially, as did deposits. Exceptions in respect to the loan account were supplied by the First National bank and the Hanover National, to mention two of the larger institutions.

The First National's loans of $77,622,182 at the end of 1918 were approximately $29,000,000 lower than on Dec. 31, 1917. The Hanover National had $102,828,215 loans when the last call was made, compared with $110,177,600 a year before, the decline being of influence in making total resources when 1918 closed $8,805,000 less than at the end of 1917.

The Seaboard National's change in total resources for the year was accompanied by a decline of about $3,500,000 in loans.

In the case of the Importers and Traders' National there was a decrease of approximately $2,200,000 in cash in vault and in the net amount due from other national banks, which was reflected in the $3,305,000 less resources on Dec. 31, 1918, than on the same date of 1917.

The National City bank's total assets of $887,193,000 at the end of the year were close enough to the billion mark to emphasize the growth of this institution to a greater extent than in past years.

FIFTH LIBERTY LOAN DRIVE DUE EARLY IN APRIL

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Opening of the fifth Liberty loan campaign April 6, the second anniversary of the declaration of war against Germany, is under consideration by treasury officials, but no decision has been reached. The third Liberty loan drive started April 6, 1918, the first anniversary.

It is planned to have the campaign run for three weeks and to ask for between five and six billion dollars. Whether the interest rate will be higher than the 4¼ per cent borne by the last issues depends partly on the movement of the market price of Liberty bonds during the next two months. The bonds will be of short maturity—in the neighborhood of five years.

LENROOT WANTS U. S. A PARTNER IN RAILROADS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Control and operation of the railroads by one great corporation or by such number of corporations as might be deemed desirable in the interest of economy and efficiency, with representation of the government, the stockholders, and the employés in the board or boards of directors, is proposed by Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin.

His plan involves neither government ownership nor operation, and yet provides that there shall be such close connection between the government and the owners of railroads that a partnership would be established.

Senator Lenroot, who is preparing a bill, is against government ownership, but he would transfer the ownership from existing corporations to new corporations in the management of which the government and the employés of the roads would have authoritative voices.

BOOST VALLEY OF MISSISSIPPI, PLAN OF BODY

BY GLENN GRISWOLD.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 12.—What the Chicago plan commission is or aims to be to Chicago the Mississippi Valley association, to be organized here tomorrow by an affiliation of the chambers of commerce of the middle west, shall be to the business community lying between the great lakes and the gulf.

The Association of Commerce, the board of trade, and the cotton exchange of New Orleans are sponsoring the movement which, up to the present, is unlike former similar movements in that deep waterways and the shipping facilities of this port are not the dominant factors involved.

For United Effort.

A plan unofficially accepted by the majority of the delegations from valley cities proposes that the broad policy improving drainage, levee protection, river and ocean shipping, farm efficiency, business education, trade information, and foreign financing within the valley supersede a spasmodic and jealous scramble of small civic bodies for government patronage.

A score of active commercial associations are represented by 200 delegates tonight, and both figures are expected to be doubled when the association is formed tomorrow. The plan for forming an association of valley commercial bodies, similar to the organization of the cotton congress, was drafted by the Chicago Association of Commerce, and it will be assisted by the Illinois Manufacturers' association in backing it.

Plan for Committees.

It is proposed that a vice president be appointed for each of the principal cities of the valley, to be at the head of a community organization of committees representing banks, shippers, farmers, manufacturers, and educational institutions. The vice presidents would form a committee which, with the president, would constitute the active executive authority.

Such a committee, by the Chicago plan, would formulate a drainage plan that would take cognizance of the rights and benefits of every community in the valley. A shipping program would be arranged that would produce sufficient ships at New Orleans to avoid eastern routing of South American exports. It would gather credit information on which the financing of shipments might be based with intelligence and safety and guide American dollars in foreign investments that would stimulate both imports and exports.

The Chicago delegation at a meeting tonight agreed to waive every selfish interest such as has wrecked every previous effort to organize the business interests of the valley.

THREE BOY SKATERS DROWN.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 12.—Three Calumet boys were drowned today in the first skating accident of the season here. The dead are Rudolph Michaelson, 15 years old; Toivo Helandock, 15; and Hubert Sautio, 13 years old.

PRODUCTION OF PIGIRON DUE TO SHOW DECREASE

Pittsburgh, Pa., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Pig iron production in 1918 was about 38,900,000 gross tons, against 38,647,397 tons in 1917 and 39,434,797 tons in 1916, the record year. Present capacity is fully 45,000,000 tons, with new blast furnaces on the way that will add more than a million tons.

The relative low production in the last two years was due to poor operating conditions. Prior to the war the best production was a trifle under 31,000,000 tons. Obviously the after the war prosperity must be broad and substantial to afford full employment to the iron industry.

Pig iron production in December was at the rate of 40,800,000 tons a year, representing but little decrease from the best rates previously attained. The industry was somewhat slow—in other words, responding to the decrease in demand—and production will undoubtedly decline greatly in the next few weeks. Even during December there was a decrease from 360 to 350 in the number of blast furnaces in operation, disregarding the charcoal stacks.

In the last week no buying demand has developed, and shipments of steel have been against old orders, which are tending top lay out. No new demand of consequence is making itself seen. In the circumstances it will probably be relatively easy to maintain prices, as there is no incentive to cut.

BABY FATALLY SCALDED.

Peter Pialo, 4 years old, whose parents live at Thirty-second and White streets, in Melrose Park, died yesterday of scalds suffered Saturday when he fell into a pot of boiling water in the kitchen of his home.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

Creators of Merchandise

IN OUR practice of constructive merchandising the close contact of our Store with public taste and desire has proved of inestimable worth. Yet another source of knowledge has been open to us—our organization's vast experience as manufacturers—as Creators of Merchandise.

Direct contact with raw materials and the processes of production—through the factories on our own premises; our own factories in many other buildings within a stone's throw of this Store; throughout the country in locations close to raw materials; and, in normal times, in the great manufacturing centers of Europe—has given us insight into possibilities for betterment—has evolved refinements that build service in merchandise.

Other manufacturers benefit by our constructive criticism and are grateful for our skilled guidance. Indeed, many manufacturers count their commercial relationship with our Store as conferring on them distinguished prestige.

Higher Linen Prices Next Year

Are Indicated by Extraordinary Conditions

THE British Government, to stabilize the linen market, has established a fixed price on flax for many months to come. This fact alone precludes early possibility of obtaining Linens at anywhere near the present prices. It is not expected that the Belgian and French weavers will resume production within a year.

Clothes Are Frames to Set Off Their Wearers' Charms

SO it is that fresh enthusiasm greets every new display—it seems as though women with hearts in war-work so long are just beginning to realize how much they have given up in the way of interest in clothes, and that all over a new enthusiasm is being felt which promises for these latest arrivals a royal welcome.

Capes and Coats Are Bending Their Efforts to Win First Place

But there is scarcely a woman who will be able to choose between them for charm. It will be her own individual style that will have to decide the momentous question, when Capes of satin take clinging shoulder yokes of the new knit woolen and bright linings bordered in color. One is sketched. $125. Spring Topcoats cling at the wrists and hip lines and are richly embroidered. $125.

Women's Coats, Sixth Floor, North Room, State Street.

A Street Frock Uses Yards and Yards of Cross Tucking

Its skirt is entirely of cross-tucked tricotine, and panels at front and back of the bodice follow the skirt's example. Its panel back is in three tiers, and the girdle is an elaborate silk-corded affair. Just the sort of well-tailored Frock a woman likes for street wear. $60. Yet this is only one of the Frocks which await a friendly — or critical — inspection this morning.

Women's Costumes, Sixth Floor, South Room.

"Cotton to the South and Wool to the North" Say the New Skirts

And one which counts on chair-riding at Miami, perhaps, is of basket-weave "Ruffanuff" white cotton, with ample pockets. $11.25. A wool tricotine Skirt in navy or black believes in doing its bit to meet the new coats half way. It is cross-tucked and exceedingly novel. $27.50.

Women's Skirts, Sixth Floor, South Room.

Braid Trimmed Poiret Twill Appears in the New Suits

A January Selling of Fine Philippine Handwork

FOR INFANTS—

Long Dresses of fine lawn beautifully hand-sewn, with dainty lace trimmed necks and sleeves, at $1.50 and $2.95. Another at $3.50 has a Princess yoke with a miniature embroidery design. These are three specials. There are hand-made short Dresses with the charms of these described above. $1.35 to $3.95. 6 months to 2 years.

Long Skirts, plain, at $1.25. Others displaying more work at $1.95 and $3.95. Long Skirts on waists with hand-scalloped edges at $1.50, $2.25, $2.95.

FOR CHILDREN—

Nightgowns of sheer materials are beautifully embroidered. One slipover style hand-scalloped, at $1.95. A front opening style with an embroidered yoke, and a slipover style prettily embroidered, both at $2.95.

Princess Slips have hand scalloped edges and some are trimmed with embroidery designs. There are two special values at $1.95 and $3.50. Skirts on waists have hand-run hems and hand scalloped edges. A special at $1.50.

Knicker Drawers are offered as special values from $1.35 to $2.50. 2 to 14 years. Drawers with straight knee have eyelets for ribbons to draw them in, at $1.25 and $2.35, 6 months to 12 years.

Dealing With the Smaller Things of Dress

"IT was a green Ascot that arrested my fancy and tricked me into looking about" said a patron the other day as she finished tucking what she had termed a "welcome" Vestee into her open, box-coated frock. This was one of the white organdie Vestees with the popular side opening and was bordered with colored organdie turned back and embroidered down its scallops. But there are dozens of other interesting late ideas which the Neckwear Section will take pleasure in showing to you.

"Only Rodier Has Such Art in Combining Colors"

THIS was the first remark the buyer made when he showed the yellow voiles just come from France, which had for main contrast small medallions of black. And then there was an entrancing display of old blues such as they say only France can achieve, and dot embroidered, color barred weaves which immediately visualize gay dancing frocks for the South. Rodier Voiles are numerous and beautiful, from $3 to $8 a yard. America presents exquisite Voiles with dark backgrounds, some in foulard patterns, either printed or embroidered on navy blue; others all flower-sprinkled—adorable when made up with sashes of bright ribbon, or rich velvets. Domestic Voiles, a yard, 50c to $4.

Your Starting Point South

Should Be in the Sports Apparel Section.

IF you are migrating to warmth and sunshine, here among the new things you may feel the atmosphere of parasols, bathing suits, and outdoor sports as soon as you start. An aviator's coat of soft gray leather means motoring. Riding habits will lead you on to Riding Shirts with tucked and shirred bosoms, and to an ultra smart "Tybow"—meaning a stiff white stock with a black bow tie. You may halt before a show case and almost breathe salt breezes. For it holds all in green and white—a wool bathing Suit, high satin Shoes, a long Scarf with white sea gulls in flight, and a rubber Hat intriguingly modish with its narrow brim and high, flower-trimmed crown. Then all aboard with the assurance that when trunks are unpacked your Specialty Apparel will be irreproachably correct.

Imported All-Over Embroidery

At 95c and $1.25

UNDER usual circumstances these prices would scarcely buy the plain 45-inch voiles, crepes, and crepes de neige themselves upon which are worked beautiful Swiss embroidery designs. These values are most opportune for those planning blouses or mid-year graduation or Summer frocks.

Sample Pieces

of cambric, nainsook and Swiss Embroidery suitable for trimming undergarments or childen's clothing are from 1 to 10 inches wide, cut in 2 to 4½ yard lengths, and priced from 10c to 25c a yard.

First Floor, South Room.

Two Favored Fabrics for Frock or Suit

Poiret Twill and Tricotine, $5 and $6.50 Yard.

Second Floor, South, State.

Les Chapeaux du Salon Des Debutantes

FOR the younger woman—for all the gay round of her days—here are appropriate Hats in the bright "victoire" colorings. They are small Hats, for the most part hinting the return of the the-dansant and other pleasant diversions, and they are as vivid and clean-cut as youth itself.

For the most part they are of rich, shimmering satins—brilliant scarlets or bright blues or black—with flanges or bandings of polished sipper straw and chipper little ornaments like curling quills or made wings—small and dancing on slender stems.

Just now the assortment is especially encouraging to her who seeks a note of brightness to redeem the somber clothes of Winter. The Hats from $15 to $22.50 deserve especial mention.

Silks for Winter Tourists

Invite the Hand of Fashion to Produce Smart Frocks for Sunny Climes

SUCH an appropriate fabric with which to fashion sports apparel for the tourist. Broad, colorful striped and beautiful plain fabrics forecast the attractiveness of the coming season's sports suits and frocks.

In order to show this Silk to the best advantage this Section has had a number of parasols made of this material. Such a parasol can be made of 2¼ yards of Silk and would make an excellent combination with a suit or frock of the same or contrasting material. Some of the most attractive Silks here are Baronette Satins, Patriette, Dew Kist, Kumsi-Kumsa, Printed Foulards and Pussy Willow.

Of Special Note in the January Sale of White Silks Is:
White Habutai, 27 ins., yd., 55c to $1.45; 36 ins., yd., 85c to $2.50

Lowered Prices on

Bedspreads

Clearance of 72-Inch

Jacquard Robe Flannel, $1.65 yd.

ALL colors are represented in floral and Greek key patterns, plain and two color effects. This Flannel is of a high quality and is an exceptional value at the low price of $1.65 a yard.

Second Floor, Middle, State.

Is Your Home a Pleasant Setting for Your Life?

DOES it cheer you as you live in it, speak a hospitable welcome to your friends, receive your homecomings with a promise of rest and comfort? Homes can perform just such kindly offices—and more, they can be settings which accent their owner's individuality, adding richly to the "picture" friends and children alike recall in future years.

If Everybody Knew the Charm of Pleasantly-furnished Homes—

how many more home-staying evenings there would be! How many more good books and much good music might be enjoyed! Like many other things in life, the first step toward having a charming home is the resolve to have it. The second step might well be an inspection of the Furniture and Furnishings which this Store has taken pains to gather from all parts of the world, which form the nucleus for making homes noted for the best qualities a home can possess—harmony with its owner's tastes and requirements.

Odd Pieces—a "tuck-away" Table for the occasional drawing-room tea, a Magazine Rack to keep Dad's favorite papers within arm's reach, a walnut Bench to fill the oft-unutilized space before a window—just three of hundreds of pieces which await their opportunities to lend charm and comfort to homes!
